Stevensville Ballot Holds Three Offices

Four candidates will seek election to three trustee offices in the annual Stevensville village election on Monday. Residents will also vote on the proposed renewal of an operating franchise with Indiana & Michigan Electric company.

The two-year terms are being sought by Republican incumbents, B. W. Yasdick, Charlees (Bud) Kerlikowske and Lloyd Mallett, and challenger Roland Phillips, a Democrat.

Yasdick, 78, has served as trustee and mayor pro-tem for the past 27 years. He is the retired superintendent of the village public works department and presently serves as its advisor. He and his wife, Rose, have one daughter and reside at 5513 St. Joseph avenue, Stevensville.

Kerlikowske, 50, is seeking his third term in office and is owner of Bud Kerly Sales, Inc. He and his wife, Shirley, reside at 5787 Mill street, Stevensville. They have two sons.

Mallett, 66, filled the unexpired terms of George Ritter in November, 1972, and is seeking his second full term. He is the retired principal of Lakeshore's Hollywood elementary school. He and his wife, Dorothy, live at 5643 Fairview avenue, Stevensville. They have four children.

Phillips, 53, 3017 Johnson road, Stevensville, is employed by Village Electronics centre, Stevensville. He and his wife, Lois, have three children.

Renewal of the franchise proposal would allow the electric company exclusive rights to sell power in the village for the next 30 years.

Armed Pair Hit BH Store

Two armed men last night hit a Benton Harbor party stoc, fired one or two shots and fled empty handed while an employe sought to call for help.

One of the shots may have accidentally wounded one of the pair, but this hasn't been confirmed, according to Det. Roger Popp.

The incident was reported at 10:45 p.m. from Ron's party store, 990 Pipestone street. Present were the owner, Ron Newman, and an employe, a 32-year-old woman, according to Popp. The detective gave this account:

Two men entered the store and one walked to a counter and pulled out a handgun. The woman employe fled into a back office to summon help. The owner ducked behind a counter when shots reportedly were fired. There were no customers present, Popp said.

The pair then fled without taking money, Popp said. He said Newman went outside and saw a car driving away.

A Trio Of New Marinas Mulled For Twin Cities

Planning for the possible construction of three new marinas for small pleasure boats in the Twin Cities area is underway.

A news release from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers about harbor work it plans this year disclosed efforts in connections with two of the projected marina developments.

A feasibility study is in progress for a City of Benton Harbor marina along the east bank of the St. Joseph river from the city's boat launching ramp to the site of the recently-dismantled Penn Central railroad bridge.

The news release also reported that Ireland & Lester, Inc., St. Joseph, has applied for a permit for a marina on the Morrison channel just north of Wayne street. Ireland & Lester General Manager Richard Eastman said the project is in a tentative planning stage.

As reported previously, Mr. and Mrs. William Nielsen of Stevensville have been working for more than a year already to establish a 278-berth marina on the east bank of the St. Joseph river in St. Joseph township, just south of Empire avenue.

Nielsen said actual construction of his marina now is waiting only the completion of financing arrangements.

The Corps of Engineers release reported the corps has already completed surveying in preparation for rehabilitation of the revetment wall this year along the south side of the river, extending into the harbor, from the base of the south pier. No cost estimate is available yet for the work, according to a spokesman in the corps' Detroit office.

Edward Wiederhold, an engineer with Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph, said his firm was doing a preliminary study for the City of Benton Harbor relative to planning a marina along the city's Riverview drive waterfront. The study contemplates a possible clubhouse and up to 228 boat slips, berthing craft as long as 60 feet.

The Ireland and Lester marina plans, Eastman said, envisions in the vicinity of 50 berths in a "shoreward installation"; that is, outside of the channel proper. He added that shore storage facilities might also be considered.

The path of the new bridges being built between the twin cities wiped out all but some 8 or 9 berths of the Island marina, formerly Robinson marina, on Radio island, just south of the existing bridge over the St. Joseph river. Some 50 to 60 berths were lost when the property was condemned for new bridges.

Frank Ward, Jr., is a Twin Cities native, who has served the U.S. Naval Reserve for 38 of his 55 years. Except for World War II, the Benton Harbor Naval Reserve has been his home base.

FRANK WARD, JR.
With Lot Anchor

Ward, a chief warrant officer, could retire today with full pension benefits of 75 per cent of base pay.

But, He's accepting a transfer, instead.

Ward, about next June 15, will move to Syracuse, N.Y., to become director of manpower and recruiting for the Naval Reserve's Third District command. Ward said he will head up recruiting for most of New York state and portions of Pennsylvania, Vermont, and Maine.

"I like the life," responded Ward, when asked why he doesn't retire, rather than move. Ward said he could have retired with full benefits after 30 years, but is aiming for 40 years of service. He entered the service on inactive duty in 1937, one year before graduating from St. Joseph high school.

In April, 1941, Ward was called to active duty. During World War II, he served on 10 ships, mostly oilers and amphibious transports in both the Atlantic and Pacific.

After the war, Ward remained with the Reserve. He said his current duties are heading up recruiting for Michigan, Indiana, and portions of Illinois and Ohio.

Commenting on the move to Syracuse, Ward said the transfer was automatic. Moving with him will be his wife, Dorothy. After the 40-year mark is reached? Ward said he'll probably return to his native Twin Cities area.

INTERNATIONAL EVENT

Special Women's Day

Today, March 8, is International Women's Day and in observance of the special event, mayors of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor have issued proclamations commemorating International Women's Year 1975.

Both Mayor Charles F. Joseph of Benton Harbor and Mayor Franklin H. Smith of St. Joseph urge all citizens to recognize the accomplishments of women locally as well as in Michigan, specifically emphasizing the dedication of those who have worked diligently throughout history to acquire full citizen participation for women.

The United Nations General Assembly in December, 1972, proclaimed 1975 as International Women's Year and decided to devote the Year to intensified action, especially by emphasizing women's responsibility and important role in economic, social, and cultural development at the national, regional, and international levels.

—Recognize the importance of women's increasing contribution to the development of friendly relations and cooperation among States and to the strengthening of World Peace.

Michigan's governor, William G. Milliken, in issuing his executive declaration in January in observance of International Women's Year 1975 said:

"With the beginning of International Women's Year and President Gerald Ford's signing of an executive order creating a national commission for the nation's observance of women's rights, it is fitting that each state observe International Women's Year with its own special emphasis and celebrations."

IWY Coalition

All area women interested in forming a coalition of women's groups to create the groundwork for a celebration of International Women's Year are invited to attend an open forum Monday, March 10, at 7 p.m. at the YWCA in St. Joseph.

Spokesmen for the Southwestern Michigan Women's Coalition, the sponsoring group, say they would like to plan a women's festival for IWY.

including:

—Promote equality between men and women.

CROP Donations Up 25 Per Cent

The year 1974 will be remembered as the year of many things — Watergate, presidential resignation and succession, inflation, recession, seven per cent unemployment — and, 1974 will be remembered as the year that Americans became fully aware of the world hunger crisis, according to CROP officials.

This increased awareness, and a desire to do something to correct the problem, was reflected in their giving to CROP — The Community Hunger Appeal, of Church World Service.

In 1974, people all across America gave $4,029,558 to the CROP Hunger Appeal. This was an increase of 25 per cent over 1973. An additional $312,418 was given to purchase blankets for the Church World Service Clothing Appeal, administered by CROP.

1974 witnessed many changes in the world hunger situation. The Sahel of West Africa, drought-ridden for six years, finally received adequate rainfall. CROP/CWS programs in this area, which had been focusing on emergency aid, shifted to long-range development projects. CROP funds are now being used to build a new way of life for thousands of nomads, helping them become settled farmers.

Elsewhere, the situation continued to worsen. The Indian sub-continent, India and Bangladesh, faces it worst famine since the great famine of Bengal in 1943. There are still serious food shortages in some areas of the Sahel and in many nations across Africa, Asia and Latin America.

CROP has already begun to respond to this critical need. In January, 1975, 1,000 metric tons of wheat from CROP and CWS sailed for India. This was the first of planned multiple shipments to help alleviate the suffering in that nation.

CROP also responded to the many natural disasters that rocked the world in 1974 with clothing, blankets and food. CROP Regional Directors served as resource persons to help several United States communities recover after the spring tornadoes that hit the midwestern United States. When Hurricane Fifi cut its deadly swath across Honduras, CROP immediately sent in high-protein food and chocolate milk drink to aid the victims.

This aid was made possible by the thousands of volunteers who worked on their own, and in conjunction with the 17 CROP Regional Offices, to raise funds to help hungry people.

These volunteers canvassed their neighbors, recruited sponsors for the walking and fasting and worked in innumerable ways to make this a record year for CROP. In many rural areas, farmers donated grain or profits from "Friendship Acres." Various corporations in the United States contributed food products, seeds, tools and cash worth $204,418.

Again in 1974, the Mid-Atlantic Region led contributions with a total of $412,877. The highest single state was Kansas with $410,964. Other states that went over $300,000 in donations were Illinois, New Jersey and Ohio.

The year 1974 also saw many new ways adopted by CROP volunteers to raise funds. A New Jersey man twice braved a carnival "dunk tank" for CROP. A pastor in Kansas walked backwards the entire length of a CROP walk For the Hungry. Ralph Waite of "The Waltons" led 1,800 people across Pomona, Calif., including some crippled youth who literally wore the wheels off their wheelchairs. An 80-year-old California lady surpised everyone but herself by completing a 10-mile walk. And in Illinois, a group of elodic CROP workers unlimbered their vocal cords for the first CROP Hymn-a-Thon!

Throughout the year, CROP provided seeds, tools and other self-help materials and food for "food-for-work" projects to over 30 countries on five continents. In addition, blankets and clothing amounting to 2,528,490 pounds were given to CROP to be sent around the world to help disaster victims.

Give Gingham Lift To Bedroom

Does your bedroom need a new point of view? You can brighten it up easily and inexpensively with new fabric furnishings you can make yourself.

Checked gingham, one of the most charming and reasonably priced materials available, is ideal for a super-patchwork coverlet, with different-scale checks used together. Choose sophisticated black-and-white, sharp green, soft blue, bright red or lemon yellow. Pick four kinds of checks, plus a solid.

Gingham usually comes in 45-inch widths. Blocks may be cut 15-inches square, to give you 14-inch finished squares with one-half-inch seam allowances. You'll need about two and one-half yards of each of the five fabrics.

Join the blocks in strips and then join the strips together until your coverlet is big enough for your bed. Line with one of the checked fabrics.

If you want to make a warm, quilted coverlet interline it with dacron fiberfill and tack the layers together with hand-stitching at the corners of the blocks. Make curtains, canopy and headboard cover from additional gingham.

Stitchin' tips — Have you tried the new fusibles in your sewing-for-the-home? Instead of using pleater tape or crinoline to make a stiff curtain head use iron-on pellon or a fusible lightweight interfacing. It gives the curtain head just enough body — and it's easy to stitch in the pleats. Try it!

WELL-SUITED

Great Hour Of Sharing Beginning March 9

NEW YORK — With famine sweeping vast areas of Southeast Asia and West Africa, the annual One Great Hour of Sharing offering in thousands ofProtestant and Orthodox churches will be held nationwide Sunday, March 9.

The fund raising effort occurs on the fourth Sunday in Lent. It is designed to raise in the neighborhood of $20 million to help alleviate hunger, supply medical aid to the sick and often massive assistance to victims of earthquakes, hurricanes, floods or man-made civil strife.

Over the years such church offerings have been used to feed millions of hungry children, as during the Biafra rebellion against the Nigerian government. Tens of millions were fed during India's great famine of 1966-67 and during recent years other stricken populations were assisted in Peru, Nicaragua and Honduras following earthquakes or hurricanes.

One Great Hour of Sharing funds also reach many needy in the United States boundaries in Appalachia or other depressed areas or flood victims. The funds are distributed by the 31 participating denominations.

Since the inception of the appeal in 1949, churches in this country have raised and distributed approximately $325 million to needy throughout the world. In recent years, large sums have been put into projects for the self-development of people both here and abroad.

Concert Sunday At Trinity

The Concordia choir of Concordia Lutheran college, Ann Arbor, will present a concert at Trinity Lutheran church, St. Joseph, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, March 9.

The public is invited.

The choir and accompanying instrumentalists will be under the direction of Dr. Paul Foelber, head of Concordia's department of music.

Featured selection by the choir will be Motet No. 5, 'Come, Jesu, Come" by J.S. Bach. The choir will also sing motets by Gretchaninoff, Hassler, Berger, Billings, Pepping and Distler in addition to folk songs and spirituals from various countries.

INTERNATIONAL EVENT

Special Women's Day

Today, March 8, is International Women's Day and in observance of the special event, mayors of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor have issued proclamations commemorating International Women's Year 1975.

Both Mayor Charles F. Joseph of Benton Harbor and Mayor Franklin H. Smith of St. Joseph urge all citizens to recognize the accomplishments of women locally as well as in Michigan, specifically emphasizing the dedication of those who have worked diligently throughout history to acquire full citizen participation for women.

The United Nations General Assembly in December, 1972, proclaimed 1975 as International Women's Year and decided to devote the Year to intensified action, especially by emphasizing women's responsibility and important role in economic, social, and cultural development at the national, regional, and international levels.

—Recognize the importance of women's increasing contribution to the development of friendly relations and cooperation among States and to the strengthening of World Peace.

Michigan's governor, William G. Milliken, in issuing his executive declaration in January in observance of International Women's Year 1975 said:

"With the beginning of International Women's Year and President Gerald Ford's signing of an executive order creating a national commission for the nation's observance of women's rights, it is fitting that each state observe International Women's Year with its own special emphasis and celebrations."

including:

—Promote equality between men and women.

IWY Coalition

All area women interested in forming a coalition of women's groups to create the groundwork for a celebration of International Women's Year are invited to attend an open forum Monday, March 10, at 7 p.m. at the YWCA in St. Joseph.

Spokesmen for the Southwestern Michigan Women's Coalition, the sponsoring group, say they would like to plan a women's festival for IWY.

CROP Donations Up 25 Per Cent

The year 1974 will be remembered as the year of many things — Watergate, presidential resignation and succession, inflation, recession, seven per cent unemployment — and, 1974 will be remembered as the year that Americans became fully aware of the world hunger crisis, according to CROP officials.

This increased awareness, and a desire to do something to correct the problem, was reflected in their giving to CROP — The Community Hunger Appeal, of Church World Service.

In 1974, people all across America gave $4,029,558 to the CROP Hunger Appeal. This was an increase of 25 per cent over 1973. An additional $312,418 was given to purchase blankets for the Church World Service Clothing Appeal, administered by CROP.

1974 witnessed many changes in the world hunger situation. The Sahel of West Africa, drought-ridden for six years, finally received adequate rainfall. CROP/CWS programs in this area, which had been focusing on emergency aid, shifted to long-range development projects. CROP funds are now being used to build a new way of life for thousands of nomads, helping them become settled farmers.

Elsewhere, the situation continued to worsen. The Indian sub-continent, India and Bangladesh, faces it worst famine since the great famine of Bengal in 1943. There are still serious food shortages in some areas of the Sahel and in many nations across Africa, Asia and Latin America.

CROP has already begun to respond to this critical need. In January, 1975, 1,000 metric tons of wheat from CROP and CWS sailed for India. This was the first of planned multiple shipments to help alleviate the suffering in that nation.

CROP also responded to the many natural disasters that rocked the world in 1974 with clothing, blankets and food. CROP Regional Directors served as resource persons to help several United States communities recover after the spring tornadoes that hit the midwestern United States. When Hurricane Fifi cut its deadly swath across Honduras, CROP immediately sent in high-protein food and chocolate milk drink to aid the victims.

This aid was made possible by the thousands of volunteers who worked on their own, and in conjunction with the 17 CROP Regional Offices, to raise funds to help hungry people.

These volunteers canvassed their neighbors, recruited sponsors for the walking and fasting and worked in innumerable ways to make this a record year for CROP. In many rural areas, farmers donated grain or profits from "Friendship Acres." Various corporations in the United States contributed food products, seeds, tools and cash worth $204,419.

Again in 1974, the Mid-Atlantic Region led contributions with a total of $412,877. The highest single state was Kansas with $410,964. Other states that went over $300,000 in donations were Illinois, New Jersey and Ohio.

The year 1974 also saw many new ways adopted by CROP volunteers to raise funds. A New Jersey man twice braved a carnival "dunk tank" for CROP. A pastor in Kansas walked backwards the entire length of a CROP walk For the Hungry. Ralph Waite of "The Waltons" led 1,800 people across Pomona, Calif., including some crippled youth who literally wore the wheels off their wheelchairs. An 80-year-old California lady surpised everyone but herself by completing a 10-mile walk. And in Illinois, a group of elodic CROP workers unlimbered their vocal cords for the first CROP Hymn-a-Thon!

Throughout the year, CROP provided seeds, tools and other self-help materials and food for "food-for-work" projects to over 30 countries on five continents. In addition, blankets and clothing amounting to 2,528,480 pounds were given to CROP to be sent around the world to help disaster victims.

Give Gingham Lift To Bedroom

Does your bedroom need a new point of view? You can brighten it up easily and inexpensively with new fabric furnishings you can make yourself.

Checked gingham, one of the most charming and reasonably priced materials available, is ideal for a super-patchwork coverlet, with different-scale checks used together. Choose sophisticated black-and-white, sharp green, soft blue, bright red or lemon yellow. Pick four kinds of checks, plus a solid.

Gingham usually comes in 45-inch widths. Blocks may be cut 15-inches square, to give you 14-inch finished squares with one-half-inch seam allowances. You'll need about two and one-half yards of each of the five fabrics.

Join the blocks in strips and then join the strips together until your coverlet is big enough for your bed. Line with one of the checked fabrics.

If you want to make a warm, quilted coverlet interline it with dacron fiberfill and tack the layers together with hand-stitching at the corners of the blocks. Make curtains, canopy and headboard cover from additional gingham.

Stitchin' tips — Have you tried the new fusibles in your sewing-for-the-home? Instead of using pleater tape or crinoline to make a stiff curtain head use iron-on pellon or a fusible lightweight interfacing. It gives the curtain head just enough body — and it's easy to stitch in the pleats. Try it!

WELL-SUITED

Great Hour Of Sharing Beginning March 9

NEW YORK — With famine sweeping vast areas of Southeast Asia and West Africa, the annual One Great Hour of Sharing offering in thousands ofProtestant and Orthodox churches will be held nationwide Sunday, March 9.

The fund raising effort occurs on the fourth Sunday in Lent. It is designed to raise in the neighborhood of $20 million to help alleviate hunger, supply medical aid to the sick and often massive assistance to victims of earthquakes, hurricanes, floods or man-made civil strife.

Over the years such church offerings have been used to feed millions of hungry children, as during the Biafra rebellion against the Nigerian government. Tens of millions were fed during India's great famine of 1966-67 and during recent years other stricken populations were assisted in Peru, Nicaragua and Honduras following earthquakes or hurricanes.

One Great Hour of Sharing funds also reach many needy in the United States boundaries in Appalachia or other depressed areas or flood victims. The funds are distributed by the 31 participating denominations.

Since the inception of the appeal in 1949, churches in this country have raised and distributed approximately $325 million to needy throughout the world. In recent years, large sums have been put into projects for the self-development of people both here and abroad.

THE BIBLE

177. Naboth's Vineyard

Naboth, a man from Jezreel, owned a vineyard near King Ahab's palace which Ahab wanted for himself. Although King Ahab offered Naboth money or better land for the vineyard, Naboth refused to relinquish the land his family had tilled for many generations. When Ahab returned to the palace, he was angry and sullen. His wife, Jezebel, promised that she would acquire for him Naboth's vineyard.

So Jezebel sent letters to the elders of Jezreel in Ahab's name, and she commanded them to call for fasting and prayer. She also instructed them to "Set two men, sons of Belial, before him, to bear witness against him, saying, Thou didst blaspheme God and the king: and then carry him out, and stone him, that he may die." (I Kings 21:10)

Jezebel's instructions were promptly carried out, and the men responsible sent a message of Naboth's death to her.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Forbidden Fruit Turns Bitter

Dear Ann Landers: People often talk to other people through your column. I'm sure this is old news to you because you're a pretty sharp dame. Well, I want to say something to somebody, but it's the same message that a lot of women want to transmit — so please, may I borrow your space today?

Dear You Know Who You Are: Do you realize that you were the stepping - stone to my new life? Well, my new life isn't all that great, but I wouldn't trade it for the old one.

You knew I was terribly serious about that other man. You also knew how much he loved me.

But you wouldn't quit bothering me.

Sure, at first I tried to avoid you. I was afraid I'd be too weak to resist your charm which you had by the barrelful. I was afraid you might make me forget my commitment. You knew all this, sweetheart.

But you wouldn't quit bothering me.

So every day you dished out a little more flattery. You knew how your sweet talk turned me on. You looked right through me with those sexy eyes.

And you kept bothering me.

I'd come home after being with him and cry my eyes out because I was thinking about you. I knew before long I wouldn't be seeing you at work anymore because I was getting married and moving to another place. But how could I break it off, so late in the game?

I could and I did. And I can't say I regret it. Obviously, he wasn't right for me. I'm actually relieved except for one thing. When I told you the wedding was off you quit bothering me. — Unchained

Dear Unchained: Interesting how many people want what they think they can't have and when it becomes available, they don't want it after all. Ah, the sweetness of forbidden fruit and the bitterness of a woman scorned.

Thank you for writing.

Horror Of Pot

Dear Ann Landers: Please, please do not continue to say marijuana is harmless and would like to see it decriminalized. So many people read you daily, as I do, and we depend on you to tell us the truth.

Our family learned the hard way. Our teenage son was a heavy smoker of marijuana and he suffered a complete breakdown. His recovery is slow and it is a painful thing to watch.

There is so much yet to be learned about this mysterious weed and what it does to the nervous system. I beg of you, Ann, please urge everyone — young people, especially — to stay away from it. They will listen to you ahead of their parents. — Sunrise, Florida

Dear Florida: Letters like yours drive me up the wall. I have been one of the earliest and most outspoken critics of marijuana, having stated my views categorically in this column at least a dozen times.

Please look up the word "decriminalization." That's what I am for. I don't believe young people who are caught with pot should be labeled criminals, put in jail and deprived of many of their constitutional rights. You say your son had a complete breakdown. I hope he was treated as a sick person, and not as a criminal.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How To Tell the Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 50 cents in coin to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

The unlucky expert looked over the dummy quickly. With 27 high-card points, North's seven no trump call look as if every one in the field would be at the same spot.

It also appeared that everyone would have to locate the queen of clubs in order to bring home the contract."

He looked at his opponents. Two typical little old ladies. How could he go wrong against that opposition?

He played the hand quickly, while making sure of each play by each defender. He started with diamonds. West showed out on the second diamond and, much to our expert's delight, dropped the three of clubs. The four of clubs came next and then the deuce of hearts.

This was just like taking candy from children. He almost decided to spread his hand and announce a club finesse against East, but that would be showing off. He cashed the hearts and everyone followed. Then he played the last two high spades and the nice lady on his left dropped the five and then the eight. Clearly she was left with two clubs and nine of spades.

He cashed dummy's king of clubs, led the jack and let it ride. Out on the table came the queen of clubs and the nine of spades gave the defense two tricks to add insult to injury.

PISCES

FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 9, 1975

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Some lack of harmony, differences of opinion indicated. Proceed with prudence, forethought. Be alert: expect some obstacles. Widely divergent opinions to be evaluated.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) Explore further means to solve problems that arose in the past, still cloud the air. Fulfill a cherished desire by going after it. Don't just daydream.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) Mixed influences. You may face some odd situations while traveling, or through communications. Obstacles, taken philosophically, could prove interesting as challenges.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) Curb a tendency toward pessimism. No matter what disappointments you may encounter, keep on plugging. Try to pattern your day after previous successful ones.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) Solar influences now stimulate a spirit of adventure and heighten the imagination. You can make this a big day, if you will go all out in effort.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) A good day for making decisions, but weigh them well. Move forward only after careful and deliberate forethought.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Make allowances for the errors of others to insure easier cooperation from family, friends, associates. Don't let impatience get the better of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Mixed planetary influences. You may be uncertain as to how to proceed at times. But take time to think things out. Haste or impulsiveness could further complicate situations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) This could be a day of great personal achievement. Aim to attain goals you have set for yourself, but don't expect the unreasonable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) This day may be a challenge to your adaptability. Throw in your lot with those who oppose you, if there is no other way to achieve your ends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You may soon have to engage in a battle of wits. Investigate, to be sure you have all the facts. To face an opponent unprepared would be folly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You will face improving conditions in some areas, aggravating complexities elsewhere. Knowing what to do and say at the appropriate moment will be your key to handling all situations! Think!

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with a keen, analytical mind; are scholarly in your inclinations and not only gather knowledge ceaselessly, but impart it ably. You would make an excellent teacher. You have many talents but, as you career along life's byways, you will find that your only real happiness comes through service — which you can render in many ways but, especially, through art, literature and science; also as lecturer, minister, diplomat, reformer or sociologist. Your sympathy for your fellowman is outstanding, but you can be taken in by "sob stories." Care! Clean Skillets Effectively

Be sure and take the same precautions as you would if cleaning the oven. Two hours does the trick — and the accumulated black stains can be removed with vinegar and water, as the manufacturer recommends. Place a lot of newspapers under the skillet so the cleaner won't touch the counter top or sink. Your hands should be protected with rubber gloves.

Another way to clean a skillet or pan with grease that has burned on is to place a plastic bag with an ammonia-soaked paper towel. Close the bag tightly and leave the pan in overnight. The next day all that hard grease washes off with the greatest of ease. To be sure the entire greasy surface is soaked place the towel on the bottom of the bag and turn the pan upside down on it.

Dr. Abraham L. Kornzweig, at the Jewish Home and Hospital for Aged in New York City, injects a special dye into a vein in the elbow. The dye then circulates in the blood and clearly outlines the retina, the inner surface of the back of the eye.

With this method, some forms of degeneration responsible for blindness can be determined and successfully treated.

Long delays waiting for X-ray reports are now being eliminated by new techniques.

It is now possible to get X-ray reports within minutes after the film is made.

A high-speed X-ray reporting system is being used at the John F. Kennedy Medical Center in Edison, N.J. By this computerized technique, a doctor's report of the x-ray findings can be included in the patient's chart in less than a day.

The high-speed reporting system can reduce the length of time that a patient spends in the hospital. Along with it, of course, is the reduction in cost to the patient, and to the hospital.

Osteosarcoma is a very dangerous cancer of the bone. When seen in young teenagers it is particularly heartbreaking.

Now, at the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City, dramatic new advances are increasing the chances of recovery. Special new drugs seem to be more successful than those previously used.

In addition to the advantages of the newer chemotherapy, ingenious metal replacement of bone is being used.

It also appeared that everyone would have to locate the queen of clubs in order to bring home the contract."

He looked at his opponents. Two typical little old ladies. How could he go wrong against that opposition?

He played the hand quickly, while making sure of each play by each defender. He started with diamonds. West showed out on the second diamond and, much to our expert's delight, dropped the three of clubs. The four of clubs came next and then the deuce of hearts.

This was just like taking candy from children. He almost decided to spread his hand and announce a club finesse against East, but that would be showing off. He cashed the hearts and everyone followed. Then he played the last two high spades and the nice lady on his left dropped the five and then the eight. Clearly she was left with two clubs and nine of spades.

He cashed dummy's king of clubs; led the jack and let it ride. Out on the table came the queen of clubs and the nine of spades gave the defense two tricks to add insult to injury.

PISCES

FOR SUNDAY, MARCH 9, 1975

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Some lack of harmony, differences of opinion indicated. Proceed with prudence, forethought. Be alert: expect some obstacles. Widely divergent opinions to be evaluated.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) Explore further means to solve problems that arose in the past, still cloud the air. Fulfill a cherished desire by going after it. Don't just daydream.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) Mixed influences. You may face some odd situations while traveling, or through communications. Obstacles, taken philosophically, could prove interesting as challenges.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) Curb a tendency toward pessimism. No matter what disappointments you may encounter, keep on plugging. Try to pattern your day after previous successful ones.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) Solar influences now stimulate a spirit of adventure and heighten the imagination. You can make this a big day, if you will go all out in effort.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) A good day for making decisions, but weigh them well. Move forward only after careful and deliberate forethought.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Make allowances for the errors of others to insure easier cooperation from family, friends, associates. Don't let impatience get the better of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Mixed planetary influences. You may be uncertain as to how to proceed at times. But take time to think things out. Haste or impulsiveness could further complicate situations.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) This could be a day of great personal achievement. Aim to attain goals you have set for yourself, but don't expect the unreasonable.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) This day may be a challenge to your adaptability. Throw in your lot with those who oppose you, if there is no other way to achieve your ends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You may soon have to engage in a battle of wits. Investigate, to be sure you have all the facts. To face an opponent unprepared would be folly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You will face improving conditions in some areas, aggravating complexities elsewhere. Knowing what to do and say at the appropriate moment will be your key to handling all situations! Think!

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with a keen, analytical mind; are scholarly in your inclinations and not only gather knowledge ceaselessly, but impart it ably. You would make an excellent teacher. You have many talents but, as you career along life's byways, you will find that your only real happiness comes through service — which you can render in many ways but, especially, through art, literature and science; also as lecturer, minister, diplomat, reformer or sociologist. Your sympathy for your fellowman is outstanding, but you can be taken in by "sob stories." Care! Birthdate of: Amerigo Vespucci, Ital. navigator; Bobby Fischer, world-famed chess player; Mickey Spillane, mystery writer.

Clean Skillets Effectively

Be sure and take the same precautions as you would if cleaning the oven. Two hours does the trick — and the accumulated black stains can be removed with vinegar and water, as the manufacturer recommends. Place a lot of newspapers under the skillet so the cleaner won't touch the counter top or sink. Your hands should be protected with rubber gloves.

Another way to clean a skillet or pan with grease that has burned on is to place a plastic bag with an ammonia-soaked paper towel. Close the bag tightly and leave the pan in overnight. The next day all that hard grease washes off with the greatest of ease. To be sure the entire greasy surface is soaked place the towel on the bottom of the bag and turn the pan upside down on it.

Dr. Abraham L. Kornzweig, at the Jewish Home and Hospital for Aged in New York City, injects a special dye into a vein in the elbow. The dye then circulates in the blood and clearly outlines the retina, the inner surface of the back of the eye.

With this method, some forms of degeneration responsible for blindness can be determined and successfully treated.

Long delays waiting for X-ray reports are now being eliminated by new techniques.

It is now possible to get X-ray reports within minutes after the film is made.

A high-speed X-ray reporting system is being used at the John F. Kennedy Medical Center in Edison, N.J. By this computerized technique, a doctor's report of the x-ray findings can be included in the patient's chart in less than a day.

The high-speed reporting system can reduce the length of time that a patient spends in the hospital. Along with it, of course, is the reduction in cost to the patient, and to the hospital.

Osteosarcoma is a very dangerous cancer of the bone. When seen in young teenagers it is particularly heartbreaking.

Now, at the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City, dramatic new advances are increasing the chances of recovery. Special new drugs seem to be more successful than those previously used.

In addition to the advantages of the newer chemotherapy, ingenious metal replacement of bone is being used.

15-Year-Old Is His Own Best Consumer Advocate

By SUSAN R. POLLACK
The Daily Tribune, Royal Oak

WARREN, Mich. (AP) — Have you ever been served watered-down pop, stringy asparagus, melted ice cream, burnt bacon or cold eggs? Ever bit into a hard gumball, found not enough raisins in your raisin bran, or owned a leaky waterbed?

Have the sprinklers suddenly been turned on while you were playing miniature golf? Or have you ever purchased an all-day pass to an amusement park, only to find half the rides not working?

Has a glass ever cracked when you were drinking chocolate milk?

All this — and more — has happened to Joseph R. Maye of Warren.

But while most consumers would simply suffer in silence or chalk it up as a bad experience, he demands restitution.

A sophomore at Warren's Cousino High School, Maye is fast gaining a reputation as "The Complainer" — and for good reason. Since being reimbursed for a bag of burnt potato chips 3½ years ago, he has rattled off ccomplaint letters about a wide range of defective consumer goods to 150 companies throughout the United States and even Canada.

The response rate has been about 90 per cent, the 15-year-old estimates, adding that he has "raked in" about $350 worth of free merchandise during that time and is now considering writing a book about his hobby.

They're all legitimate gripes, according to Maye, though he acknowledges being somewhat picky.

"But most people, kids especially, feel powerless and take bad products for granted."

Maye says candy and gum companies are the worst offenders, precisely for that reason.

"They get away with hard gumballs because most kids aren't going to say anything. Kids may feel powerless, but they're not."

He is living testimony to that. Maye pursues his grievances because he believes consumers, whatever their age, deserve quality for their money.

"I won't take no for an answer," he declares.

But because of his youthfulness, Maye admits he has had to devise a variety of strategies designed to "outwit the companies" and make them take him seriously.

For example, he never tells companies outright that he's just a teenager, and he always signs his formal name, Joseph R. Maye.

This, he says usually elicits a "Mr." or "Sir" in response. And it's not his problem, Maye maintains, when regional representatives knock on his door with complimentary products and, after meeting him, say:

"If we'd known you were just a kid, we wouldn't have gone to all this trouble."

Of late, Maye has begun a new tactic for extreme cases which he says is proving quite effective; collect phone calls to companies throughout the United States.

"You can only write so many letters longhand," he explained, adding that the response is much faster by telephone.

In one instance when an out-of-state plumbing fixture company refused to accept the charges. Maye called back several minutes later pretending he was a lawyer. A third phone call in his own voice got him through to the president.

Even then, Maye says his complaint about a six-month-old rusting faucet was almost ignored until he threatened to bring a lawsuit in Detroit.

"Two weeks later, United Parcel Service was at the door — they know me quite well by now," he said, laughing.

Since beginning his hobby, Maye has received cartons of glasses and soda pop, boxes of candy, cookies and gum, and countless free coupons and complimentary passes to area eating establishments and amusement parks.

At one such restaurant, Maye and his 12-year-old brother, David, made the most of unlimited passes by ordering everything they felt like from the menu. The waitress was incredulous, he recalled, and challenged them to pay the two-page tab at the conclusion.

But when he pulled out the passes signed by the company president, Maye says both the waitress and the restaurant manager were impressed and respectful.

His parents, Robert and Sandra Maye, sat at another table throughout the gastronomic experience, not because they were embarrassed, he asserts, but because "they couldn't stand to see us eat so much."

Maye never hesitates to "make a scene" at a restaurant to get a point across, though he says the practice sometimes aggravates his parents.

"They follow through on their complaints, too, if they're valid, so it's generally all right," he explained.

Maye says a recent instance in which he bit into a piece of metal in his food netted him a free dessert, though he had hoped for an entire meal.

"You can't win 'em all, but it doesn't hurt to try," he says philosophically. "Besides, if I HAD SAID NOTHING, I wouldn't have gotten anything for my inconvenience."

Careful to stay within legal boundaries, Maye says all his complaint letters must "pass the homefront" first; he also keeps his parents up-to-date so they'll be prepared to accept the hobby-related phone calls or packages he is expecting.

In writing his "polished" letters, Maye always starts out on a positive note, praising the company. He expresses disappointment at obtaining a defective product in the second paragraph and, in the third, assures the official that he realizes it wasn't his fault but knows he'll act quickly to rectify the situation.

Then he sits back and awaits his compensation.

Michigan Jobless Record 616,400

DETROIT (AP) — Nearly 73,000 Michigan workers lost their jobs last month, pushing the number of unemployed to a record 616,400.

The new unemployment rate was a near record 15.8 per cent, up sharply from the 14.1 rate in January, and almost double the national jobless figure.

And state economic observers predicted a further increase in the jobless figure this month.

"I don't think anyone is predicting a bottoming out in the rate until at least October," one state official said.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission reported Friday unemployment was up 72,700 from the previous record of 543,700 in January. The increase from January, however, was not a record.

MESC Director S. Martin Taylor blamed the February jump on seasonal factors, such as perennial drops in the number of available construction, retail and certain manufacturing jobs.

Taylor said the 15.8 per cent figure was a record for a February since the agency began keeping records in 1956, although the number of unemployed was at an all-time high.

He said only the August 1958 jobless figure of 15.9 per cent was higher.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Labor Department said Friday another 540,000 workers lost their jobs in February, but the nation's unemployment rate remained the same as January's 8.2 per cent.

The government said that was because 580,000 persons stopped looking for jobs last month, meaning they were no longer counted in the labor force and were not included in the unemployment statistics.

MESC officials said there were 3,272,600 persons working in Michigan last month, down from 3,314,400 in January.

A year ago, the state's unemployment rate was 9.7 per cent, with 374,100 persons out of work and 3,465,300 on the job.

Taylor said the 15.8 per cent jobless rate last month was not an all-time record because of population increases in the workforce and subsequent increases in the labor force since the 1958 recession.

In the six-county Metropolitan Detroit area, 16.1 per cent of the workers — or 305,000 persons — were out of a job. That was an increase of one per cent from January, when 281,900 persons were unemployed, the MESC said.

A year ago, the Detroit-area jobless rate was 9.6 per cent with 180,800 unemployed persons.

The number of unemployed in the Detroit area was a record.

Experts Say 'Comeback' Could Be Short-Lived

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's ailing auto industry will have more plants open and more people on the job next week than at any time since it was caught in the throes of recession four months ago.

But industry analysts cautioned that the apparent comeback by an industry mired in its worst slump since World War II could be short-lived in the post-rebate period.

The four major car producers are recalling 44,400 hourly workers from layoff next week as they run all but two of 53 assembly plants, but many will continue to operate on reduced schedules.

Analysts say sales may fall off sharply again this month because there will be no cash rebates of up to $600 providing consumers with incentives to buy.

"Don't be surprised if you see a sales lull in the first 20 months of March now that the rebates are gone," said one analyst.

That could mean the decline in layoffs also could be shortlived. The companies quickly adjust for falling sales through last-minute production cutbacks.

In the meantime, General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors will operate all 36 of their assembly plants next week, while Ford Motor Co. will operate 15 of 17.

The firms will have 214,600 of 683,000 hourly workers on furlough, down from 259,000 this week. Only 5,450 workers — all at Ford — will be temporarily idled and 209,150 will be on open-ended furloughs.

The layoffs and plant closings are the lowest since the industry began massive cutbacks early last November. Sales had fallen sharply from the already depressed levels of early 1974, when fuel shortages discouraged consumers from buying large cars.

Layoffs peaked Jan. 6, when the industry returned from a two-week holiday shutdown with 280,000 production employes off the job.

Seventeen plants were shut this week with 213,000 workers on indefinite layoff and 46,000 on one-week furloughs.

The production increases follow sales gains the companies attribute to the six-week cash rebate programs, which ended industrywide Feb. 28. Only Chrysler is continuing rebates this month, but on a smaller scale.

Sales of the mostly small cars carrying rebates increased dramatically in the past two months, but deliveries of other models were down sharply from the weak levels of a year ago. As a result, deliveries last month still were at an eightyear low for a February.

But the rebates helped lower stockpiles of unsold models, thus the companies are boosting output this month an estimated 25 per cent above February. But production still would be the lowest for a March in 14 years, a sign that the industry has not broken out of its 18-month sales slump.

Ford will have 38,350 of its 177,000 workers on layoff Monday, down from 51,250 this week. GM is recalling 27,500 workers from temporary layoff but keeping 127,009 of 370,000 workers on open-ended furlough.

KISSINGER SEEKS SADAT PEACE PROPOSALS

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger opened a new Middle East peace mission today, seeking concrete proposals from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat for a broad settlement in Sinai with Israel.

"I came to Egypt because I believe progress toward peace is possible," Kissinger said after arriving at the Aswan military airport. "I will do all in my power to achieve this."

Asked how long it will take to achieve progress, Kissinger replied: "As quickly as possible, I hope."

Kissinger planned extensive talks with Sadat through Sunday morning when he flies to Damascus to assure Syrian President Hafez Assad that U.S. strategy is not directed at isolating Syria from the process of negotiating Israeli withdrawal.

Kissinger goes to Jerusalem on Sunday night. His aides said he plans to fly back to Brussels in about a week to meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on the Middle East and with Turkish Foreign Minister Melih Esenbell on Cypus problems.

Sadat was reported optimistic about a new disengagement agreement with Israel but Kissinger faces some tough bargaining.

Sadat was expected to insist that any agreement include an Israeli pullback from key mountain passes in Sinai and the Abu Rudeis oil fields.

He also was likely to press for some link between any new withdrawal on the Egyptian front and movement on Syria's Golan Heights so that his allies cannot accuse him of betraying the Arab cause.

Sadat also wants resumption of the Geneva peace talks, including participation by the Palestine Liberation Organization, tied in with any new accord and plans to bring up the Palestinian issue with Kissinger, Egyptian officials say.

Officials were divided about whether Israel was likely to retaliate for the terrorist attack Wednesday night on a Tel Aviv hotel in which at least 18 persons died including seven Arab raiders.

Kissinger, himself, was concerned that Palestine guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat may be trying to sabotage an interim settlement.

Top Kissinger aides said the attack tended to make it more difficult for Sadat to come to terms with Israel.

The Israeli government made a restrained official reaction to the raid. Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin pledged "to try our best to find ways to help move towards peace."

HOME AFTER TWO YEARS: Robert Guy Davis, one of three American released from Cuban jails this week, poses with his mother, Mrs. Patt Davis, at the family home in Palo Alto, Calif. Davis, 36, arrived home in Palo Alto on Thursday after spending nearly two years as a prisoner in Cuba, during which he lost 50 pounds. Davis said he and another man were delivering a boat from St. Thomas Island to Miami in July 1973 when they strayed too close to Cuba. (AP Wirephoto)

State Starts Inspection

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Department of Social Services said Friday it is beginning the first inspection of Michigan's 4,100 adult foster care facilities.

The homes will be reviewed under licensing requirements effective last month, and tested on meeting fire, safety and other regulations.

More than 18,000 aged, mentally ill and retarded persons are cared for in the homes, which traditionally have faced "relatively minimal" requirements under various designations.

The department emphasized it will work with the facilities to help them meet the requirements but said crucial rules pertaining to the health, safety and well-being "will be enforced immediately."

It said it hopes to license about 10 per cent of the homes a month.

Insurance Official Against Blues Hike

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Doctors and hospitals are using Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield as "conduits" for increased payments for their services, a State Insurance Bureau official said Friday.

Dr. Kenneth A. Tannenbaum, deputy director of the bureau, the Blues should not receive a rate increase until they have cut their own excessive costs. He made his comments before a public hearing into the Blues' rate hike request.

The insurance bureau says the request amounts to $306 million, or 33 per cent. The Blues, which defended the hike as necessary to meet inflation-swollen costs, say it will be $296 million, or 23.9 per cent.

Tennenbaum, in the second of two public hearings on the request, accused the Blues of not practicing the cost containment they preach in their advertisements.

"By their own admission, Blue Cross and Blue Shield are concerned about containing health care costs," Tannenbaum said. "It is our position that Blue Cross and Blue Shield must translate that concern into action — not just glib advertising slogans."

"We suggest that Blue Cross and Blue Shield have rate increases now and in the future related only to their ability to rid the health care system, which they control, of unnecesssary costs," he said.

"It makes absolutely no sense to me," Tannenbaum said, that in a time of economic hard hip the Blues feel they, hospitals and physicians should escape sharing the burden.

"We feel strongly that there remains a great deal of fat in the reimbursement system," Tannenbaum said, speaking for his staff. He outlined four cost-cutting provisions his staff has developed which the state insurance commissioner can include in his final decision.

These include controls on: conflict of interest on the board of directors; the provision of mental health benefits; screening for necessary surgical procedures and duplicated reimbursements. Such cost-cutting could save $200 million.

Clifford Gardner, treasurer of Blue Cross and Blue Shield, defended the request as forced by inflation, which has hit physicians and hospitals alike. Medicare outlays, he said, have risen 71 per cent in the past four fiscal years.

Gardner said the Blues' cost-containment programs are just taking effect. Unless the increase is granted, he said, the Blues will lose $116 million in 1975 and $182 million in 1976.

That, he said, "would threaten — if not destroy — the health care protection of our 5½ million members."

A formal rate increase hearing will be held March 31, and Insurance Commissioner Daniel Demlow is expected to make a final decision in April.

ASWAN, Egypt (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger opened a new Middle East peace mission today, seeking concrete proposals from Egyptian President Anwar Sadat for a broad settlement in Sinai with Israel.

"I came to Egypt because I believe progress toward peace is possible," Kissinger said after arriving at the Aswan military airport. "I will do all in my power to achieve this."

Asked how long it will take to achieve progress, Kissinger replied: "As quickly as possible, I hope."

Kissinger planned extensive talks with Sadat through Sunday morning when he flies to Damascus to assure Syrian President Hafez Assad that U.S. strategy is not directed at isolating Syria from the process of negotiating Israeli withdrawal.

Kissinger goes to Jerusalem on Sunday night. His aides said he plans to fly back to Brussels in about a week to meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on the Middle East and with Turkish Foreign Minister Melih Esenbell on Cypus problems.

Sadat was reported optmistic about a new disengagement agreement with Israel but Kissinger faces some tough bargaining.

Sadat was expected to insist that any agreement include an Israeli pullback from key mountain passes in Sinai and the Abu Rudeis oil fields.

He also was likely to press for some link between any new withdrawal on the Egyptian front and movement on Syria's Golan Heights so that his allies cannot accuse him of betraying the Arab cause.

Sadat also wants resumption of the Geneva peace talks, including participation by the Palestine Liberation Organization, tied in with any new accord and plans to bring up the Palestinian issue with Kissinger, Egyptian officials say.

Officials were divided about whether Israel was likely to retaliate for the terrorist attack Wednesday night on a Tel Aviv hotel in which at least 18 persons died including seven Arab raiders.

Kissinger, himself, was concerned that Palestine guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat may be trying to sabotage an interim settlement.

Top Kissinger aides said the attack tended to make it more difficult for Sadat to come to terms with Israel.

The Israeli government made a restrained official reaction to the raid. Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin pledged "to try our best to find ways to help move towards peace."

HOME AFTER TWO YEARS: Robert Guy Davis, one of three American released from Cuban jails this week, poses with his mother, Mrs. Patt Davis, at the family home in Palo Alto, Calif. Davis, 36, arrived home in Palo Alto on Thursday after spending nearly two years as a prisoner in Cuba, during which he lost 50 pounds. Davis said he and another man were delivering a boat from St. Thomas Island to Miami in July 1973 when they strayed too close to Cuba. (AP Wirephoto)

Insurance Official Against Blues Hike

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Doctors and hospitals are using Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield as "conduits" for increased payments for their services, a State Insurance Bureau official said Friday.

Dr. Kenneth A. Tannenbaum, deputy director of the bureau, the Blues should not receive a rate increase until they have cut their own excessive costs. He made his comments before a public hearing into the Blues' rate hike request.

The insurance bureau says the request amounts to $306 million, or 33 per cent. The Blues, which defended the hike as necessary to meet inflation-swollen costs, say it will be $296 million, or 23.9 per cent.

Tennenbaum, in the second of two public hearings on the request, accused the Blues of not practicing the cost containment they preach in their advertisements.

"By their own admission, Blue Cross and Blue Shield are concerned about containing health care costs," Tannenbaum said. "It is our position that Blue Cross and Blue Shield must translate that concern into action — not just glib advertising slogans."

"We suggest that Blue Cross and Blue Shield have rate increases now and in the future related only to their ability to rid the health care system, which they control, of unnecesssary costs," he said.

"It makes absolutely no sense to me," Tannenbaum said, that in a time of economic hard hip the Blues feel they, hospitals and physicians should escape sharing the burden.

"We feel strongly that there remains a great deal of fat in the reimbursement system," Tannenbaum said, speaking for his staff. He outlined four cost-cutting provisions his staff has developed which the state insurance commissioner can include in his final decision.

These include controls on: conflict of interest on the board of directors; the provision of mental health benefits; screening for necessary surgical procedures and duplicated reimbursements. Such cost-cutting could save $200 million.

Clifford Gardner, treasurer of Blue Cross and Blue Shield, defended the request as forced by inflation, which has hit physicians and hospitals alike. Medicare outlays, he said, have risen 71 per cent in the past four fiscal years.

Gardner said the Blues' cost-containment programs are just taking effect. Unless the increase is granted, he said, the Blues will lose $116 million in 1975 and $182 million in 1976.

That, he said, "would threaten — if not destroy — the health care protection of our 5½ million members."

A formal rate increase hearing will be held March 31, and Insurance Commissioner Daniel Demlow is expected to make a final decision in April.

State Starts Inspection

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Department of Social Services said Friday it is beginning the first inspection of Michigan's 4,100 adult foster care facilities.

The homes will be reviewed under licensing requirements effective last month, and tested on meeting fire, safety and other regulations.

More than 18,000 aged, mentally ill and retarded persons are cared for in the homes, which traditionally have faced "relatively minimal" requirements under various designations.

The department emphasized it will work with the facilities to help them meet the requirements but said crucial rules pertaining to the health, safety and well-being "will be enforced immediately."

It said it hopes to license about 10 per cent of the homes a month.

Federal Funds Will Pay The Freight

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — When all the smoke and cinders settle, it appears that federal money will keep trains rolling over 1,400 miles of track that public officials say they are trying to save from Washington bureaucrats.

Congress already approved $90 million a year for two years to subsidize track which the U.S. Railway Association (USRA) says is unprofitable. Ed Jordan, USRA president who issued a preliminary plan last month, refuses to include the 1,400 miles of track in Consolidated Rail Corp., which has been designated to reorganize bankrupt lines.

Gov. William Milliken said if the track is left out of Conrail it faces possible abandonment.

But the state is guaranteed $4.5 million a year in federal funds, and indications are it probably will receive more than that. So track of the bankrupt Penn Central and Ann Arbor railroads in the state will not have to be dropped, Jordan says.

The state, local units of government or shippers who need to use the track would have to add 3 per cent of the amount of the federal subsidy.

If Congress cuts off the subsidy after two years, the financial burden will be on the state, private shippers or both, to avoid abandonment. There is the possibility, too, that the subsidies will be extended.

Milliken's approach is to keep the problem as small as possible by trying to persuade the USRA to bring more lines under the protective wing of Conrail, including track between Kalamazoo and Buchanan.

Nationwide, USRA wants to keep 6,200 miles of track from bankrupt lines out of Conrail. Of that, 1,400 miles are in Michigan. Federal figures show the Michigan track simply is not turning a profit.

Conrail, a profit-making venture, does not want any of its track to be a financial drain on the company.

Proving a particular section of track is a financial loser is a difficult task, however. Proponents who want to include the track in Conrail say the lines in question may in fact be winners.

The USRA said a span of Penn Central track it wants to exclude from Conrail between Kalamazoo and Dowagiac lost $207,700 in 1973. Figures from a recent state-prepared report show the same span of track during the same period turned a profit of $1.1 million.

Penn Central track between Rives Junction and Grand Rapids lost $375,000 in 1973, USRA figures show. State figures show the same track earned $814,000 for the railroad over the same period.

In at least one case, there is a discrepancy between state and federal figures on how much traffic traveled over a particular section of track. Ann Arbor railroad track between Dundee and Owosso showed 239 carloads per mile in 1973, according to state data. USRA figures for the same period show 88 carloads per mile.

Job Loss Can Be Blow To Ego, Prof Says

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Michigan State University professor says being laid off from work can result in psychological shock and loss of pride.

"For many people, their job is an important element in their self-esteem," said Dr. Albert Rabin of MSU's psychology department.

"They tend to measure their worth by the amount of money they make and by the fact that they have a steady job and are a part of a productive enterprise.

"When they suddenly find themselves unemployed, they feel worthless, and they may become deeply depressed."

Rabin said the people who are most deeply affected psychologically are the ones who have put all their self-esteem eggs in the work basket.

"Their self-worth is measured entirely in terms of their ability to bring home a paycheck," he said. "People who have developed other sources of self-worth—pride in their family, accomplishments in some creative hobby, and the like—aren't left destitute of self-esteem when they lose their jobs."

Rabin said the joblessness of a parent can be hard on growing children, as well, because children normally normally want to imitate the parent of their sex.

When dad isn't doing anything, he said, a boy can be confused and has to look elsewhere for a model.

If no one such as a neighbor, teacher or minister is available, the child may turn to his own age group. This can mean real trouble for a boy if he joins a street gang, Rabin said.

For parents, the professor suggests that one way for the laid-off worker to rebuild his feelings of self-esteem and worth in his child's eyes is to get involved in a hobby.

Hobbies such as basement carpentry might even be converted from hobbies to home businesses, Rabin suggested.

"The important thing is not so much to keep busy for the sake of keeping busy, but to build confidence in yourself as a worthwhile person," he added.

WHAT A BUYERS MARKET THIS IS!

In all probability, we've now hit bottom on the prices of many of the things you want to buy. Consider some of the facts:

1. Right now, product inventories in most categories are extremely high. In many instances this is causing manufacturers and dealers to lower prices considerably. Automobile dealers today, for example, have record-high stocks of new cars and trucks. So they're ready to "deal" like never before.

2. Trade-in values are way up. In the automobile business, trade-in allowances on used vehicles are at record highs. So you can save even more on new cars and trucks.

3. Inflation is slowing down, but it will still add dollars to automobiles and any major items you decide to buy in the future rather than now.

Third Party Talk Worries GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller are stressing the virtues of the two-party system in the face of conservative talk of a third party in 1976.

Ford and Rockefeller sounded similar themes Friday to a Republican party conference considering how the GOP can recover from its current minority status. National Chairman Mary Louise Smith and Sen. Robert Dole warned that the party is in deep trouble and that things could get worse.

Leading spokesmen for GOP conservatives and moderates, Mississippi Chairman Clarke Reed and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, also decried third-party talk.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who has maintained a noncommittal attitude to those urging him to head a third party or mount a conservative challenge to Ford, speaks to today's closing session of the conference being attended by some 2,500 Republican leaders from around the country.

Ford was given a rousing reception at a banquet Friday night as he reaffirmed "without equivocation" that he plans to seek a full presidential term next year. He added, "I intend to win."

The President was given a three-minute standing ovation when he entered the ballroom and again when he was introduced. His half-hour speech was interrupted 25 times with applause.

He warned that the death of the GOP would kill a two-party system that provides choice, encourages accommodation and compromise and "excludes the fanatic factions" while leaving room for reasonable differences.

Ford said the GOP "must erect a tent that is big enough for all who care about this great country and believe in the Republican party" as well as for independents backing its candidates and programs.

In a similar vein, Rockefeller appealed to a luncheon gathering to maintain two parties "with broad spectrums in both parties," calling for a GOP "that represents all the people, all points of view" but goes united to the country after settling its internal battles.

Percy and Reed made their comments questioning the value of a third party during an afternoon panel discussion on how Republicans can broaden their ranks.

"How can we be effective if we are even a smaller party than we are now?" the Illinois Republican asked. Reed agreed with Percy about what he termed "ridiculous third party stuff."

Meanwhile, Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., appointed a subcommittee to study the election laws of all 50 states with a view toward putting a conservative third party on the ballot next year.

Helms, who was named to head a Committee on Conservative Alternatives at a recent conservative conference, named publisher William Rusher of National Review Magazine to head the subcommittee.

"We do not rule out the possibility of a coalition of disenchanted Americans organizing themselves within the party system as a major new party if the present political system fails to respond to the need for a philosophical realignment," Helms said.

Town Still Looking For 2 Medical Men

FARWELL, Mich. (AP) — Residents of this small Michigan village (population 777) have gone all out for six months in an effort to attract a doctor and dentist to the town. They are still looking.

"We interviewed two young men — both of them dentists," said Frank E. Warner, member of the village committee which is trying to attract the medical men.

"There has been no decision but things look promising," he said.

Warner said that in six months of looking his group has not been approached by a medical doctor of osteopathy. "Despite 20 lakes and 20 trout streams within 20 minutes' drive, we never had a dentist in Farwell," he said, "And we have not had a medical doctor in 25 years.

For medical treatments, Farwell residents now have to travel to Clare, Mt. Pleasant, Midland, Grand Rapids or Saginaw, the committee said.

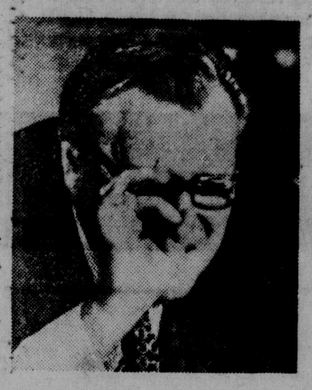
Third Party Talk Worries GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller are stressing the virtues of the twoparty system in the face of conservative talk of a third party in 1976.

Ford and Rockefeller sounded similar themes Friday to a Republican party conference considering how the GOP can recover from its current minority status. National Chairman Mary Louise Smith and Sen. Robert Dole warned that the party is in deep trouble and that things could get worse.



VEEP OK: Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller gives an "OK" sign as he chats with someone in the audience during a Republican Leadership Conference Friday in Washington. (AP Wirephoto)

Leading spokesmen for GOP conservatives and moderates, Mississippi Chairman Clarke Reed and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, also decried third-party talk.

Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who has maintained a noncommittal attitude to those urging him to head a third party or mount a conservative challenge to Ford, speaks to today's closing session of the conference being attended by some 2,500 Republican leaders from around the country.

Ford was given a rousing reception at a banquet Friday night as he reaffirmed "without equivocation" that he plans to seek a full presidential term next year. He added, "I intend to win."

The President was given a three-minute standing ovation when he entered the ballroom and again when he was introduced. His half-hour speech was interrupted 25 times with applause.

He warned that the death of the GOP would kill a two-party system that provides choice, encourages accommodation and compromise and "excludes the fanatic factions" while leaving room for reasonable differences.

Ford said the GOP "must erect a tent that is big enough for all who care about this great country and believe in the Republican party" as well as for independents backing its candidates and programs.

In a similar vein, Rockefeller appealed to a luncheon gathering to maintain two parties "with broad spectrums in both parties," calling for a GOP "that represents all the people, all points of view" but goes united to the country after settling its internal battles.

Percy and Reed made their comments questioning the value of a third party during an afternoon panel discussion on how Republicans can broaden their ranks.

"How can we be effective if we are even a smaller party than we are now?" the Illinois Republican asked. Reed agreed with Percy about what he termed "ridiculous third party stuff."

Meanwhile, Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., appointed a subcommittee to study the election laws of all 50 states with a view toward putting a conservative third party on the ballot next year.

Helms, who was named to head a Committee on Conservative Alternatives at a recent conservative conference, named publisher William Rusher of National Review Magazine to head the subcommittee.

"We do not rule out the possibility of a coalition of disenchanted Americans organizing themselves within the party system as a major new party if the present political system fails to respond to the need for a philosophical realignment," Helms said.

Good Antiques Still In Demand

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

In these times why are people buying expensive antiques for their homes?

In accounting for their ebullience at this year's East Side House Settlement winter antiques show, dealers from many states indicated they had feared the worst during this period of inflation, "but so far, so good."

Alastair Stair, who claims to have "the biggest stock in the world" of English furniture, said that "in the last two months business has increased incredibly."

And he had something to compare it with — as a young boy he had begun in the antiques business in the "aftermath of the Depression" in 1932, "when it was very difficult to sell a drum table at $300. Now we can get $5,000 for one."

"I think people are putting money into antiques instead of making other investments, which indicates that antiques can give capital appreciation."

"In fact, 1974 was the biggest year we ever had in pewter, which surprised me. I think more people are intellectually involved in pewter because it fits the necessary qualifications of an antique — artistically and historically important and rare — but it can be acquired even if you can't afford some other antiques."

A "significant piece of pewter" may be bought "for a few dollars," Williams says. At the show he had more than 500 pieces — beakers, flagons, plates, platters — ranging in price from $40 to thousands.

"We have had a very orderly market in pewter which helps, too. You don't have people bidding it way up and then knocking it down as you do in art."

In accounting for her own good business, popular longtime textile expert Elinor Merrell said the current good market seems to indicate that "people are buying things of value that can be enjoyed."

Miss Merrell fairly danced about her booth as she set in place a collection of mercury glass she had recently acquired and some of her rare textiles including handpainted East Indian tree of life panels.

Even though he is in the automobile area, "which is highly affected by the economy," Bernard Plomb of Richland, Mich., has been finding business very good. "Good things have been selling very well. I am really surprised," he said.

A chest, circa 1675, reflected his optimism. It wore a price tag of $22,000, and an enormous punchbowl "would hopefully go for $2,800," he said.

John Hart of Middletown Springs, Vt., has found that "shoppers are cautious, but if you have something good they will not quibble." One prize piece in his booth was an American Salem chest with its original beehive and lotus hardware.

Folk art was holding up "because there is such a demand with collectors, museums and even speculators," said James Abbe Jr. of Oyster Bay, N.Y.

At Alfred Bullard's of Philadelphia, William Bartolet remarked that "good things were definitely holding up." Choice pieces they would exhibit included a Hepplewhite sofa ($4,800) and two Hepplewhite chairs ($6,000).

At Houston, Philadelphia and the Lake Forest and Grosse Pointe shows it has been the same — good business.

Hagar Township Issues Permits Worth $22,500

Ten permits representing $22,500 in new construction and repair work were issued by Floyd Elson, Hagar township building inspector, during the past eight weeks.

Topping the list was a permit issued to Salvatore Monte, Box 34, Riverside, for construction of a 45 by 116-foot addition to a present structure at Monte Packing company, for storage purposes including a loading dock. Estimated cost, $20,000.

Vince Di Maggio, route 3, US-33, Coloma, to apply new ceiling in restaurant, $250.

John Walters, route 1, Coloma, to remove wall and enlarge living room at house owned by Elmer Rolland, Maple lane, $500.

C. W. Crans, P.O. Box 16, Riverside, repair living quarters, windows and light fixtures, $150.

Jack Bury, Thar road, Coloma, trailer permit renewal, no cost.

Garey Roofing company, 1119 Broad street, St. Joseph, for Salvatore Monte, make general repairs to flat roof on building, $250.

Hall Remodeling Due

A Bainbridge township building permit to remodel the interior meeting room of the township hall was among permits issued in February, according to Jesse Marrs, township building inspector.

The remodeling permit went to contractor John Krugman to remodel and panel the 26 by 35 foot room for $4,055.

A permit was also issued to Richard Hiler, route 2, box 312, Watervliet, to place two used 12 by 60 foot mobile homes, with an estimated value of $16,300, in a licensed transient farm labor camp.

One-Family Housing Popular

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Have you gotten the impression that detached one-family houses are going out of style and that it's only a question of time before all of us will be living in condominiums, cooperatives, attached houses, apartments, etc.?

Tain't so, says the Department of Economics and Research of the National Association of Realtors.

It gives Census Bureau statistics and survey information showing that, during 1974, single-family home building held relatively firm compared with a drop of more than 65 per cent in the construction of multifamily housing.

While inflationary and mortgage market pressures have forced millions of people to the sidelines in their search for single-family houses, the demand is said to be still there.

Q. — Every time I try to make picture frames from pieces of moulding, I have to get the corners to match. What is the trick to doing this?

A. There is no trick. You probably are trying to cut the corners free-handed. It can't be done consistently. Get a miter box and a back saw. The miter box will enable you to get the correct angles; the back saw will make smooth cuts.

Q. — I have an unfinished piece of furniture to which I intend to apply a penetrating resin finish. The wood is lighter than I want, so I'd like to put on a stain first. Can a stain be used under this type of finish?

A. Yes, but for best results use a penetrating stain rather than a pigmented one. However, you'd better do some testing first, since the penetrating resin finish will darken the wood somewhat and you may find it necessary to use any stain.

Q. — I intend to make a driveway from our newly-constructed garage to the street, which is about 80 feet away. Can I use asphalt blacktop?

A. — All building codes that I know of permit the use of blacktop asphalt. However, you should check your local code in any case, since there may be specifications regarding thickness, drainage, etc. Just out of curiosity, weren't all these things checked when the garage was built?

Good Antiques Still In Demand

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

In these times why are people buying expensive antiques for their homes?

In accounting for their ebullience at this year's East Side House Settlement winter antiques show, dealers from many states indicated they had feared the worst during this period of inflation, "but so far, so good."

Alastair Stair, who claims to have "the biggest stock in the world" of English furniture, said that "in the last two months business has increased incredibly."

And he had something to compare it with — as a young boy he had begun in the antiques business in the "aftermath of the Depression" in 1932, "when it was very difficult to sell a drum table at $300. Now we can get $5,000 for one."

"I think people are putting money into antiques instead of making other investments, which indicates that antiques can give capital appreciation."

"In fact, 1974 was the biggest year we ever had in pewter, which surprised me. I think more people are intellectually involved in pewter because it fits the necessary qualifications of an antique — artistically and historically important and rare — but it can be acquired even if you can't afford some other antiques."

A "significant piece of pewter" may be bought "for a few dollars," Williams says. At the show he had more than 500 pieces — beakers, flagons, plates, platters — ranging in price from $40 to thousands.

"We have had a very orderly market in pewter which helps, too. You don't have people bidding it way up and then knocking it down as you do in art."

In accounting for her own good business, popular longtime textile expert Elinor Merrell said the current good market seems to indicate that "people are buying things of value that can be enjoyed."

Miss Merrell fairly danced about her booth as she set in place a collection of mercury glass she had recently acquired and some of her rare textiles including handpainted East Indian tree of life panels.

Even though he is in the automobile area, "which is highly affected by the economy," Bernard Plomb of Richland, Mich., has been finding business very good. "Good things have been selling very well. I am really surprised," he said.

A chest, circa 1675, reflected his optimism. It wore a price tag of $22,000, and an enormous punchbowl "would hopefully go for $2,800," he said.

John Hart of Middletown Springs, Vt., has found that "shoppers are cautious, but if you have something good they will not quibble." One prize piece in his booth was an American Salem chest with its original beehive and lotus hardware.

Folk art was holding up "because there is such a demand with collectors, museums and even speculators," said James Abbe Jr. of Oyster Bay, N.Y.

At Alfred Bullard's of Philadelphia, William Bartolet remarked that "good things were definitely holding up." Choice pieces they would exhibit included a Hepplewhite sofa ($4,800) and two Hepplewhite chairs ($6,000).

At Houston, Philadelphia and the Lake Forest and Grosse Pointe shows it has been the same — good business.

Hagar Township Issues Permits Worth $22,500

Ten permits representing $22,500 in new construction and repair work were issued by Floyd Elson, Hagar township building inspector, during the past eight weeks.

Topping the list was a permit issued to Salvatore Monte, Box 34, Riverside, for construction of a 45 by 116-foot addition to a present structure at Monte Packing company, for storage purposes including a loading dock. Estimated cost, $20,000.

Vince Di Maggio, route 3, US-33, Coloma, to apply new ceiling in restaurant, $250.

John Walters, route 1, Coloma, to remove wall and enlarge living room at house owned by Elmer Rolland, Maple lane, $500.

C. W. Crans, P.O. Box 16, Riverside, repair living quarters, windows and light fixtures, $150.

Jack Bury, Thar road, Coloma, trailer permit renewal, no cost.

Garey Roofing company, 1119 Broad street, St. Joseph, for Salvatore Monte, make general repairs to flat roof on building, $250.

U.S. Airlift Continues As Rebels Shell Airport

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Heavy insurgent shelling of Phnom Penh's airfield resumed today but airport sources said American civilian pilots kept up the U.S. airlift of rice, ammunition and fuel.

Reports from the airfield said more than 40 rockets and artillery rounds struck both the military and civilian parts of the airport between dawn and midday. Some rounds landed near the area where U.S.-supplied rice, fuel and ammunition was being unloaded.

There were no reports of damage or casualties.

Only one international flight landed today and it took off again a few minutes for Bangkok. A flight to Saigon was cancelled.

The country's flag-carrier, Air Cambodge, resumed international flights on Friday after a two-day suspension following stepped up insurgent shelling of the airfield. Domestic flights were also cancelled.

On Wednesday a U.S. Air Force DC8 cargo jet bringing in rice from Vietnam was lightly damaged. The airlift was suspended for two hours Wednesday and resumed late the following morning.

On Friday, one person was killed and eight wounded when some 28 rocket and artillery rounds struck the airfield.

Under a new system instituted Friday, passengers check in for flights in Phnom Penh, clear customs and immigration there, and are then taken by bus to planeside where helmeted and flak-jacketed ground crews quickly load their baggage.

FAREWELL IN CAMBODIA: A Cambodian man bids farewell to his wife at Phnom Penh airport Friday as international commercial flights resumed in the islocated Cambodian capital Friday. (AP Wirephoto)

The airline's only commercial jet, an aging two-engined Caravelle, parks in a specially-built revetment tail first for quick take-off in case of incoming rocket and artillery fire.

Associated Press correspondent Richard Blystone arrived at the airfield at midday from Bangkok and said passengers were quickly loaded onto a bus at the nearly-deserted civilian terminal.

They were taken downtown for imigration and customs clearance.

The airfield has been under intense daily shelling attacks since Tuesday.

About 2,000 government troops and 50 armored personnel carriers met heavy insurgent fire and were bogged down northwest of Phnom Penh on the fourth day of a drive toward the "rocket belt," a semicircular eight-mile line of rebel rocket and artillery positions.

In South Vietnam, the Saigon command said Communist forces overran a district town in the central highlands in the fifth successive day of intensified fighting in the region. The two major east-west highways leading to the highlands remained cut.

The command said the several hundred militia defenders of Thuan Man district town fled under North Vietnamese and Viet Cong assault and an unknown number made it safely to government positions several miles away.

South Vietnamese observation pilots flying overhead said the district headquarters was in flames.

Pair Of Bills In Senate Affect Malpractice Suits

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A pair of state Senate bills would shorten the time during which a medical malpractice suit could be filed and limit such suits to "meritorious" matters.

One bill would limit the filing period for a malpractice action to two years from the last date on which the patient received treatment for the particular ailment. Current rulings have allowed actions to be filed two years after the date of discovery of possible negligence.

As a result of the prevalent method of dating from the "discovery" of alleged negligence, insurance companies cannot accurately estimate premiums for malpractice coverage, said Sen. Hal Ziegler, R-Jackson, sponsor of the bills. Therefore, some claims involving minor children may not be filed for 15 years, Ziegler said.

The bills he introduced this week are part of a broad attack on the problem of skyrocketing malpractice insurance costs in Michigan. Doctors' groups say many new physicians will have to leave the state because they cannot afford the cost of the insurance. Gov. William Milliken has promised a solution will be implemented by June.

"Part of the current problem results from the inability of insurers to take on new policies due to their being at their reserve capacities," Ziegler said.

"A shortened liability period could help to alleviate the availability problem and also affect rates appreciably since insurers could get a more accurate claims picture,".

His other bill would require lawyers who file malpractice suits to submit an accompanying "affidavit of merit" testifying that the claim is legitimate.

Ziegler says he hopes to screen out "nuisance" suits by requiring a signed affidavit from a medical expert indicating there is sufficient evidence to warrant further investigation and possible court action.

Court Reopens 6 X-Rated Theaters

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court on Friday ordered Wayne County Prosecutor William Cahalan to allow six movie theaters showing X-rated films to reopen.

The theaters were opened for business Friday night.

The high court said Cahalan could be held in contempt of court if he refused to remove the padlocks placed on the theaters Thursday.

Defense attorneys complained that Cahalan violated the court rules by padlocking the theaters before expiration of the 20 day period during which the case could be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

The court said it issued an order last year allowing the theaters to continue operating pending the outcome of appeals.

The state Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that films the six were showing were obscene and lewd.

The theaters are the Hiland and the Krim I and II in Highland Park and the Pussy Cat, the Penthouse and the Lido in Detroit. The films are "Deep Throat," "The Devil in Miss Jones," "It Happened in Hollywood," and "Little Sisters."

Some families who otherwise might own their own homes are stopped from taking that satisfying step because they do not understand what sources of financing are available to them.

A Realtor can take some of the mystery out of the process by explaining various forms of financing.

So can a banker or savings and loan officer.

Basically, there are three sources of loans on houses and other types of residential property: 1) financial institutions such as savings and loan associations and banks, 2) mortgage bankers and loan correspondents, and 3) the private lender.

By law, savings and loan associations must invest a high percentage of their depositors' savings in home mortgages. That was the reason for their creation. Banks also invest in home mortgages, though the percentage of their deposits used for this purpose is considerable smaller than the percentage applying to savings and loan associations. Together, these two are the principal sources for what is known as conventional financing.

Conventional financing is characterized by being the most readily available. Interest rates and length of time for repayment, as a result, reflect how large a money supply is available. In times of "tight money" when demand is greater that supply, interest rates rise and short term loans are favored. When money is plentiful, interest rates decline and loans are usual.

Federal Housing Administration (FHA) loans are made by conventional sources but with repayment guaranteed. Among rather strict conditions of the guarantee are certain standards of construction, space, inspection, and other requirements designed to be sure the property is not below a certain quality. The borrower pays an insurance fee, ½ of one percent of the amount of the loan, which goes into a general FHA fund. Any defaults are charged against the fund.

While this form of loan is usually referred to as "publicity assisted," in fact, the insurance fees of borrowers pay the entire cost of operating the program. No taxpayers' money is required. It is one of the few federal programs that has paid its own way, and has even made a profit.

Veterans Administration loans operate on the same principle as FHA, except that the borrower does not pay insurance.

Interest rates for both FHA and VA loans are set by the Congress. During times of "tight money" FHA loans are available only when sellers are willing to pay "points" as a bonus for agreeing to FHA financing. A "point" is 1% of the amount of the loan.

FHA and VA financing have several advantages to the borrower, among them, up to 30 years to repay, no money down on VA loans, and modest down payments - up to about 10% on FHA loans.

Money from mortgage bankers or loan correspondents (usually a Realtor or other real estate broker) is available directly from those sources. The money they channel into mortgages comes from insurance companies, pension funds, and individual investors. Down payment requirements are usually a little higher than for conventional financing, but interest rates are a fraction lower. Length of loans depend on the market and usually do not exceed 20 years.

The last source of financing, through private lenders, is Aunt Maude or some other individual who has a limited amount of money to loan. Often this is the source of funds for second mortgages. A second mortgage is an addition to the first mortgage and if there is a foreclosure, can only be satisfied after the first mortgage is paid off.

Second mortgages are usually for from three to five years and at a higher interest rate than first mortgages. Realtors often know of private lenders who will make second mortgage loans.

These are the sources of financing for home mortgages. Each has its advantages and disadvantages, partly depending on the condition of the real estate market and the availability of funds. All of them are designed to help families own their own homes, and the people who arrange them are anxious to see them used.

For information about financing available through Berrien Real Estate Service, call 983-1985. Investors who are interested in first and second mortgages and land contracts or limited partnerships should contact Florian L. Beles at Berrien Real Estate Service.

Firm Has Shortage Of Workers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - A Philadelphia company has run into a paradox in the midst of rising unemployment. It can't find enough workers to fill its jobs.

The Budd Co. recently received an $85 million contract to build 200 train coaches and began advertising for about 300 skilled workers.

But company officials say they are surprised that they have not yet been able to fill the jobs. Only about 100 persons have been hired.

The command said the several hundred militia defenders of Thuan Man district town fled under North Vietnamese and Viet Cong assault and an unknown number made it safely to government positions several miles away.

South Vietnamese observation pilots flying overhead said the district headquarters was in flames.

Pair Of Bills In Senate Affect Malpractice Suits

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A pair of state Senate bills would shorten the time during which a medical malpractice suit could be filed and limit such suits to "meritorious" matters.

One bill would limit the filing period for a malpractice action to two years from the last date on which the patient received treatment for the particular ailment. Current rulings have allowed actions to be filed two years after the date of discovery of possible negligence.

As a result of the prevalent method of dating from the "discovery" of alleged negligence, insurance companies cannot accurately estimate premiums for malpractice coverage, said Sen. Hal Ziegler, R-Jackson, sponsor of the bills. Therefore, some claims involving minor children may not be filed for 15 years, Ziegler said.

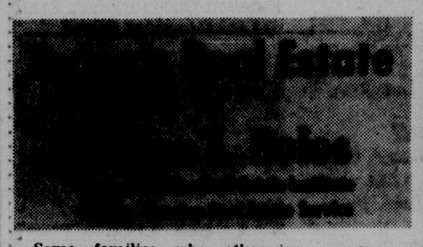
The bills he introduced this week are part of a broad attack on the problem of skyrocketing malpractice insurance costs in Michigan. Doctors' groups say many new physicians will have to leave the state because they cannot afford the cost of the insurance. Gov. William Milliken has promised a solution will be implemented by June.

"Part of the current problem results from the inability of insurers to take on new policies due to their being at their reserve capacities," Ziegler said.

"A shortened liability period could help to alleviate the availability problem and also affect rates appreciably since insurers could get a more accurate claims picture,".

His other bill would require lawyers who file malpractice suits to submit an accompanying "affidavit of merit" testifying that the claim is legitimate.

Ziegler says he hopes to screen out "nuisance" suits by requiring a signed affidavit from a medical expert indicating there is sufficient evidence to warrant further investigation and possible court action.



Some families who otherwise might own their own homes are stopped from taking that satisfying step because they do not understand what sources of financing are available to them.

A Realtor can take some of the mystery out of the process by explaining various forms of financing.

So can a banker or savings and loan officer.

Basically, there are three sources of loans on houses and other types of residential property: 1) financial institutions such as savings and loan associations and banks, 2) mortgage bankers and loan correspondents, and 3) the private lender.

By law, savings and loan associations must invest a high percentage of their depositors' savings in home mortgages. That was the reason for their creation. Banks also invest in home mortgages, though the percentage of their deposits used for this purpose is considerable smaller than the percentage applying to savings and loan associations. Together, these two are the principal sources for what is known as conventional financing.

Conventional financing is characterized by being the most readily available. Interest rates and length of time for repayment, as a result, reflect how large a money supply is available. In times of "tight money" when demand is greater that supply, interest rates rise and short term loans are favored. When money is plentiful, interest rates decline and loans are usual.

Federal Housing Administration (FHA) loans are made by conventional sources but with repayment guaranteed. Among rather strict conditions of the guarantee are certain standards of construction, space, inspection, and other requirements designed to be sure the property is not below a certain quality. The borrower pays an insurance fee, ½ of one percent of the amount of the loan, which goes into a general FHA fund. Any defaults are charged against the fund.

While this form of loan is usually referred to as "publicly assisted," in fact, the insurance fees of borrowers pay the entire cost of operating the program. No taxpayers' money is required. It is one of the few federal programs that has paid its own way, and has even made a profit.

Veterans Administration loans operate on the same principle as FHA, except that the borrower does not pay insurance.

Interest rates for both FHA and VA loans are set by the Congress. During times of "tight money" FHA loans are available only when sellers are willing to pay "points" as a bonus for agreeing to FHA financing. A "point" is 1% of the amount of the loan.

FHA and VA financing have several advantages to the borrower, among them, up to 30 years to repay, no money down on VA loans, and modest down payments - up to about 10% on FHA loans.

Money from mortgage bankers or loan correspondents (usually a Realtor or other real estate broker) is available directly from those sources. The money they channel into mortgages comes from insurance companies, pension funds, and individual investors. Down payment requirements are usually a little higher than for conventional financing, but interest rates are a fraction lower. Length of loans depend on the market and usually do not exceed 20 years.

The last source of financing, through private lenders, is Aunt Maude or some other individual who has a limited amount of money to loan. Often this is the source of funds for second mortgages. A second mortgage is an addition to the first mortgage and if there is a foreclosure, can only be satisfied after the first mortgage is paid off.

Second mortgages are usually for from three to five years and at a higher interest rate than first mortgages. Realtors often know of private lenders who will make second mortgage loans.

These are the sources of financing for home mortgages. Each has its advantages and disadvantages, partly depending on the condition of the real estate market and the availability of funds. All of them are designed to help families own their own homes, and the people who arrange them are anxious to see them used.

Court Reopens 6 X-Rated Theaters

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court on Friday ordered Wayne County Prosecutor William Cahalan to allow six movie theaters showing X-rated films to reopen.

The theaters were opened for business Friday night.

The high court said Cahalan could be held in contempt of court if he refused to remove the padlocks placed on the theaters Thursday.

Defense attorneys complained that Cahalan violated the court rules by padlocking the theaters before expiration of the 20 day period during which the case could be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

The court said it issued an order last year allowing the theaters to continue operating pending the outcome of appeals.

The state Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that films the six were showing were obscene and lewd.

The theaters are the Hiland and the Krim I and II in Highland Park and the Pussy Cat, the Penthouse and the Lido in Detroit. The films are "Deep Throat," "The Devil in Miss Jones," "It Happened in Hollywood," and "Little Sisters."

Firm Has Shortage Of Workers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - A Philadelphia company has run into a paradox in the midst of rising unemployment. It can't find enough workers to fill its jobs.

The Budd Co. recently received an $85 million contract to build 200 train coaches and began advertising for about 300 skilled workers.

But company officials say they are surprised that they have not yet been able to fill the jobs. Only about 100 persons have been hired.

CONSUMER CREDIT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers paid off more debts than they incurred in January, although they tapered off a bit from December, the Federal Reserve Board reports.

consider calling a doctor," Shirey said. "It's not that I think doctors are evil, it's just that what I trust in is higher than a doctor."

For three nights in a row, including the night before the infant's death, Shirey said he had a vision of burying his son. The next day he acted on it.

"The spirit led me to a spot where the ground was thawed. I took off his clothes and laid him in the ground. I didn't feel anything sacred about his body. I don't believe I'm guilty of a crime," he said.

Shirey and his wife say they grew up in the area but have had no permanent home or job since developing their religious beliefs four years ago with their older son, John David, 6. They acquired a bus and have since traveled around the country "spreading their gospel of love."

One police investigator lamented after the case appeared closed, "Why can't people be normal?"

But he added: "I like them, they're nice. I think they're absolutely genuine in the way they believe. Shirey didn't mind staying in jail. He apologized twice for putting us out."

Presbyterians Elect

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — The Rev. George P. Morgan was elected Friday as executive of the Synod of the Covenant of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. The Rev. Mr. Morgan was selected by delegates from the 14 presbyteries in the regional synod, which encompasses some 1,100 churches and includes nearly 400,000 members in Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky. The synod offices are in Columbus, Ohio. The Rev. Mr. Morgan has been executive of the Albany Presbytery in New York since 1965.

U-M Has 'Alternate Plan'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The University of Michigan says it has made "alternative plans" set to go into operation Monday if there is no settlement to the strike by graduate assistants and teaching fellows. U-M President Robben Fleming made the statement Friday, but did not spell out what the school would do to get undergraduate classes back to normal when the week-long spring vacation ends on Monday. Fleming also said the university is willing to go along with the suggestions of fact-finder Patrick J. McDonald on two key issues in the strike by the Graduate Education Organization. On an agency shop demand, McDonald recommended that new workers be required to pay GEO dues, but that current student-employes who do not join the GEO get a year's notice before they must contribute.

Consumers To Buy Gas

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. is seeking state approval to purchase more natural gas from Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. The Jackson-based utility has bought three large orders of gas from Michigan Consolidated since spring 1973, and the firm is now asking permission to buy up to 20 billion cubic feet of gas — enough to heat 100,000 homes for a year. Consumer's executive vice president, John B. Simpson, said the firm's latest problem is a 38 per cent cut in deliveries by its supplier, Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co.

Launch Highway Project

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Highway Commission announced Friday it is launching a $200 million highway construction and improvement program, the largest in state history. The commission said the project, which includes $89 million in previously impounded federal funds, will create more than 7,000 jobs in construction and related fields. The release of the impounded U.S. funds by President Ford has enabled the state to more than double the budget set for the project, according to Gerald F. McCarthy, deputy director for highways. He said several major projects will be started six months to a year earlier than had been planned in order to take advantage of the federal money.

Prison Workers Complain

IONIA, Mich. (AP) — Too many assaults and not enough staff at the Michigan Reformatory were cited as the reasons for a meeting Friday between a group of prison workers and two legislators. Sen. Robert VanderLaan, R-Grand Rapids, and Rep. Stanley Powell, R-Ionia, heard the prison workers' complaints. The lawmakers plan to get answers on the issues from the State Department of Correction, said a reformatory employe who asked not to be identified.

"Right now, it is not a felony for a resident to assault an employe ... it is a misdemeanor," the source said. "They are going to get something done about that."

It's News TODAY

Social Security Funding Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will consider a recommendation opposed by President Ford to dip into the general revenues to solve the financing problems of the Social Security system, a key subcommittee chairman says. The Social Security Advisory Council recommended Friday that Congress direct $6 billion to $7 billion of general treasury receipts into the system to protect it from income loss due to inflation and unemployment. Social Security from its beginnings has been financed by a payroll tax on employers and employes. "We will certainly look into the proposal," said Rep. James A. Burke, head of the Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security. "It looks to me like a step in the right direction."

Means Faces Murder Charge

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — Pennington County States Atty. Jack Klauck says he will file murder charges against American Indian Movement leader Russell Means on Monday. Klauck said Friday that murder charges will also be filed in Magistrate's Court against AIM member Richard Marshall in connection with the death of Martin Montileaux, 28, Kyle, S.D. Means was a key figure in the 1973 takeover of Wounded Knee, S.D. by AIM followers. Montileaux was shot in the neck with a small caliber weapon Saturday night in a bar at Scenic, S.D. He died Friday in a Rapid City hospital.

Terrorism Worries Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Terrorist bombs and the disappearance of a politician have rattled this East African tourist spot known for elephants, sunshine and stability. Residents say Nairobi has its worst case of jitters since 1969, when Tom Mboya, economic planning minister, was assassinated and former vice president Oginga Odinga was detained as a Communist-backed subversive. Both men were Luos, tribal rivals of the dominant Kikuyu clans. Police report scant progress in investigating a bomb that exploded in a bus a week ago killing 27 persons or in locating legislator J.M. Kariuki who disappeared last Sunday but was not officially reported missing until Friday. Bomb hoaxes in public buildings point detectives rushing around the city. Movie and restaurant crowds are smaller and secretaries are being searched upon entering their offices.

Drug Firm Recalls Sorbitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 500 gallons of sorbitol solution are being recalled by the manufacturers because two bottles in the same lot were found to contain formaldehyde, the Food and Drug Administration says.

Sorbitol is used medically to relieve excess pressure within the eye or spine, as a diuretic and to dilute other medicines. It also is used as a sweetener in diabetic diets, food processing and candymaking.

The sorbitol involved in the recall announced Friday is a 70 per cent solution distributed under the trade name "Sorbo" by the Amend Drug and Chemical Co. and the Ruger Chemical Co., which share facilities and equipment in Irvington, N.J., the FDA said.

The affected lot bears the number C712314 on all the labels. Portions of it were distributed in the states of Pennsylvania, Texas, New York, Wisconsin, Kansas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Connecticut, New Hampshire and New Jersey.

Americans Oppose Gas Rationing

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A Gallup poll indicates that Americans as a group are more willing to pay an additional 10 cents per gallon of gasoline than to be limited to 10 gallons a week.

The over-all results showed that of 1,544 adults in 300 localities polled from Jan. 28 to Feb. 3 48 per cent favored a price increase, 37 per cent favored a 10-gallon-a-week rationing plan, 10 per cent opposed both ideas and 5 per cent had no opinion.

AMERICANS FEAR CRIME

NEW YORK (AP) — More Americans than ever feel that crime in their area increased in the past year and more than half of all adults in the country are "uneasy" about walking the streets, a Harris poll indicates.

Shirey and his wife say they grew up in the area but have had no permanent home or job since developing their religious beliefs four years ago with their older son, John David, 6. They acquired a bus and have since traveled around the country "spreading their gospel of love."

One police investigator lamented after the case appeared closed, "Why can't people be normal?"

But he added: "I like them, they're nice. I think they're absolutely genuine in the way they believe. Shirey didn't mind staying in jail. He apologized twice for putting us out."

Presbyterians Elect

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — The Rev. George P. Morgan was elected Friday as executive of the Synod of the Covenant of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. The Rev. Mr. Morgan was selected by delegates from the 14 presbyteries in the regional synod, which encompasses some 1,100 churches and includes nearly 400,000 members in Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky. The synod offices are in Columbus, Ohio. The Rev. Mr. Morgan has been executive of the Albany Presbytery in New York since 1965.

U-M Has 'Alternate Plan'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The University of Michigan says it has made "alternative plans" set to go into operation Monday if there is no settlement to the strike by graduate assistants and teaching fellows. U-M President Robben Fleming made the statement Friday, but did not spell out what the school would do to get undergraduate classes back to normal when the week-long spring vacation ends on Monday. Fleming also said the university is willing to go along with the suggestions of fact-finder Patrick J. McDonald on two key issues in the strike by the Graduate Education Organization. On an agency shop demand, McDonald recommended that new workers be required to pay GEO dues, but that current student-employes who do not join the GEO get a year's notice before they must contribute.

Consumers To Buy Gas

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Consumers Power Co. is seeking state approval to purchase more natural gas from Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. The Jackson-based utility has bought three large orders of gas from Michigan Consolidated since spring 1973, and the firm is now asking permission to buy up to 20 billion cubic feet of gas — enough to heat 100,000 homes for a year. Consumer's executive vice president, John B. Simpson, said the firm's latest problem is a 38 per cent cut in deliveries by its supplier, Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co.

Launch Highway Project

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Highway Commission announced Friday it is launching a $200 million highway construction and improvement program, the largest in state history. The commission said the project, which includes $89 million in previously impounded federal funds, will create more than 7,000 jobs in construction and related fields. The release of the impounded U.S. funds by President Ford has enabled the state to more than double the budget set for the project, according to Gerald F. McCarthy, deputy director for highways. He said several major projects will be started six months to a year earlier than had been planned in order to take advantage of the federal money.

Prison Workers Complain

IONIA, Mich. (AP) — Too many assaults and not enough staff at the Michigan Reformatory were cited as the reasons for a meeting Friday between a group of prison workers and two legislators. Sen. Robert VanderLaan, R-Grand Rapids, and Rep. Stanley Powell, R-Ionia, heard the prison workers' complaints. The lawmakers plan to get answers on the issues from the State Department of Correction, said a reformatory employe who asked not to be identified.

"Right now, it is not a felony for a resident to assault an employe ... it is a misdemeanor " the source said. "They are going to get something done about that."

Social Security Funding Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress will consider a recommendation opposed by President Ford to dip into the general revenues to solve the financing problems of the Social Security system, a key subcommittee chairman says. The Social Security Advisory Council recommended Friday that Congress direct $6 billion to $7 billion of general treasury receipts into the system to protect it from income loss due to inflation and unemployment. Social Security from its beginnings has been financed by a payroll tax on employers and employes. "We will certainly look into the proposal," said Rep. James A. Burke, head of the Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security. "It looks to me like a step in the right direction."

Means Faces Murder Charge

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP) — Pennington County States Atty. Jack Klauck says he will file murder charges against American Indian Movement leader Russell Means on Monday. Klauck said Friday that murder charges will also be filed in Magistrate's Court against AIM member Richard Marshall in connection with the death of Martin Montileaux, 28, Kyle, S.D. Means was a key figure in the 1973 takeover of Wounded Knee, S.D. by AIM followers. Montileaux was shot in the neck with a small caliber weapon Saturday night in a bar at Scenic, S.D. He died Friday in a Rapid City hospital.

Terrorism Worries Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Terrorist bombs and the disappearance of a politician have rattled this East African tourist spot known for elephants, sunshine and stability. Residents say Nairobi has its worst case of jitters since 1969, when Tom Mboya, economic planning minister, was assassinated and former vice president Oginga Odinga was detained as a Communist-backed subversive. Both men were Luos, tribal rivals of the dominant Kikuyu clans. Police report scant progress in investigating a bomb that exploded in a bus a week ago killing 27 persons or in locating legislator J.M. Kariuki who disappeared last Sunday but was not officially reported missing until Friday. Bomb hoaxes in public buildings sent detectives rushing around the city. Movie and restaurant crowds are smaller and secretaries are being searched upon entering their offices.

Drug Firm Recalls Sorbitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 500 gallons of sorbitol solution are being recalled by the manufacturers because two bottles in the same lot were found to contain formaldehyde, the Food and Drug Administration says.

Sorbitol is used medically to relieve excess pressure within the eye or spine, as a diuretic and to dilute other medicines. It also is used as a sweetener in diabetic diets, food processing and candymaking.

The sorbitol involved in the recall announced Friday is a 70 per cent solution distributed under the trade name "Sorbo" by the Amend Drug and Chemical Co. and the Ruger Chemical Co., which share facilities and equipment in Irvington, N.J, the FDA said.

The affected lot bears the number C712314 on all the labels. Portions of it were distributed in the states of Pennsylvania, Texas, New York, Wisconsin, Kansas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Connecticut, New Hampshire and New Jersey.

Americans Oppose Gas Rationing

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A Gallup poll indicates that Americans as a group are more willing to pay an additional 10 cents per gallon of gasoline than to be limited to 10 gallons a week.

Only in the East did the poll find the choice a tossup.

The over-all results showed that of 1,544 adults in 300 localities polled from Jan. 28 to Feb. 3 48 per cent favored a price increase, 37 per cent favored a 10-gallon-a-week rationing plan, 10 per cent opposed both ideas and 5 per cent had no opinion.

AMERICANS FEAR CRIME

NEW YORK (AP) — More Americans than ever feel that crime in their area increased in the past year and more than half of all adults in the country are "uneasy" about walking the streets, a Harris poll indicates.

TO MARCH: John Lewis, executive director of the Atlanta, Ga.,-based Voter Education Project, tells a news conference in Montgomery, Ala., Friday of plans for an "orderly, nonviolent" march today retracing the steps of the first 1965 attempt to March from Selma to Montgomery. (AP Wirephoto)

Consumer Helpers Issue '74 Report

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The director of the Berrien County Consumer Protection Unit has rated the operations of the unit "very good" after the first year of operation.

Novikoff noted $46,372 in cash and merchandise was returned to Berrien residents and merchants last year due to efforts of the CPU. "We feel this is a fair return for each dollar spent and is in addition to the many other services provided by the CPU staff on which a dollar figure cannot be set," Novikoff stated.

The CPU operated on a budget last year of $29,437, supplied by federal and state grants.

"We felt what we wanted to do was pay for ourselves by bringing back at least as much as we cost taxpayers," said Randy Arnt, special investigator for the unit. "We hope consumers will see the value of the program," Novikoff added.

The CPU in 1974 received 841 complaints regarding goods or services which consumers felt did not come up to par, and of this number closed 742. Arnt explained the unit "closes" a case when a satisfactory settlement is made, a complaint is referred to small claims court or an attorney, restitution is made, of when a party decides to drop the complaint.

In addition, the unit made 15 arrests last year, and obtained nine convictions. Three more cases are currently awaiting trial, according to statistics compiled by the CPU.

In the first two months of this year, the unit has returned over $15,000 in cash and merchandise to area residents, Arnt stated, and noted six arrests have been made.

"There were few cases of out and out fraud," Novikoff said, and added that most complaints were the result of misunderstandings.

One area which the unit did not get into as much as it would have liked last year was consumer education, according to Novikoff. But, he said, plans have now been finalized for the CPU staff to hold all-day education sessions in at least three area school districts so that every pupil can be exposed to consumerism.

Last year, members of the staff participated in 29 speaking engagements for various schools, civic organizations, and private groups.

Both Novikoff and Arnt feel the biggest shortcoming of the CPU is that people either don't know it exists or are hesitant to call and request services.

But both men and Nancy Heth, administrative assistant and complaint examiner for the CPU, urge people with questions to call the unit at its special number: 983-4022.

"We welcome calls from people asking about services and goods before they buy," said Arnt. "It's a lot easier to get information before a person buys than to try and get money back afterwards.

"We want to try and stop scams before they get started," he continued, "and with things the way they are, people are trying all kinds of things to make money."

Berrien Council On Aging Is Searching For Funds

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

Berrien county's council on aging has launched a fund raising campaign to insure continued operation of four senior citizen centers in the county after July.

George Schuur, director of the council, said a decrease in federal funds used to support operation of the four centers has forced the council to turn to local government units for an estimated $120,000.

Unless local governments agree to increase their allocations to the council, continued operation of the four centers is in jeopardy, Schuur said. The council oversees the operation of the centers and provides other services to the county's senior citizens.

In existence since 1967, the council opened the first center in Benton Harbor in April, 1973, to serve the Twin Cities area, Schuur said. The other three centers followed with the fourth opening in Berrien Springs in July, 1974. other centers are in Harbert and Niles.

The first council budget to cover operations of the centers in 1973 was some $132,000, the director said. He said about 75 per cent, or nearly $95,000, was funded through the federal Aging Americans act.

The state Agency for Aging which administers the federal program, however introduced a new funding formula for 13 districts in the state for fiscal year budgets that will begin in July, Schuur said.

Under the new formula, based on whether an area is urban or rural, the number of minority senior citizens, and total senior citizen population, the federal share for Berrien county is about $30,000, Schuur said. He added the council has budgeted $150,000 for the centers and other services for the 1975-76 year.

Since early February, Schuur has appeared before township boards and village councils to ask for funds. The Weesaw township board has already allocated $800, and the Berrien township board $1,000, he said. Schuur said the county board of commissioners will be asked to possibly increase the present fiscal year allocation of $20,000.

Other funds for the council include a present $20,000 grant under the federal model cities act and private contributions.

The four centers provide basic information and referral services, Schuur said. He said outreach workers counsel senior citizens with information about various programs including social security, medicare, and food stamps. Transportation is also provided in some instances, and outreach workers follow up complaints about incomplete or poor service from various federal and state agencies, Schuur said.

Each center also provides a variety of informational and recreational programs, the council director said.

The council headquarters are in St. Joseph. Full and part-time workers at the central office and four centers total 20, he said.

Buchanan Youth, 16, Sent To Prison

A 16-year-old Buchanan youth who pleaded guilty to breaking and entering was sentenced yesterday in Berrien circuit court to 4 to 10 years in prison.

Sentenced by Judge Julian Hughes was Floyd Edward Ogden. Hughes recommended that Ogden be segregated from older prisoners, and that he receive educational and job training.

Ogden was accused of breaking into Bridgman Supply Co., on Lake street in Bridgman, on Nov. 30, with the intent to commit larceny. However, nothing was stolen in the burglary as police officers were waiting inside the building when Ogden entered the firm.

In other sentences by Hughes:

Billy W. Moore, 23, of Coloma, was sentenced to six mont s in the county jail, with credit for 85 days already served, for possession of LSD May 17, 1972, in Hagar township.

George Hobart, 17, of Watervliet, was placed on two years probation, and ordered to spend the last 60 days of probation in jail, for larceny in a building. However, Hughes said the jail term could be waived if Hobart abides by conditions of his probation.

He was accused of stealing $3 in change Dec. 13 from the residence of Jack L. Morton, at 3393 US-33 North, Hagar township.

Escaped Inmate Captured

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — One of three inmates who escaped from the Indiana State Prison here Christmas week has been recaptured in St. Louis, Indiana officials said Friday.

A state police spokesman at the prison said Charles Bailey, 26, St. Louis, was arrested in his hometown earlier this week under an assumed name. A fingerprint check by St. Louis authorities Friday revealed his identity, he said.

Bailey, sentenced in 1972 to life imprisonment for murder from Lake County, escaped with two other inmates Dec. 28.

The other men, Otha Hunt, 27, and Anthony Paolello, 22, both still at large, were being held for safekeeping pending trial in St. Joseph County.

Top State Trooper Due At LMC Class

Col. George Halverson, director of the Michigan State police, is one of two widely-recognized police authorities scheduled to address law enforcement classes at Lake Michigan college in the next two weeks.

Col. Halverson, a veteran of 23 years service with the state police, will appear before an 8 a.m. class on the LMC campus next Thursday.

Lawrence Morrissey, former head of the Chicago office of the Task Force Against Organized Crime of the U.S. Department of Justice, will speak to an evening class at 6:30 on Tuesday, March 18. Morrissey is credited with sending at least 50 Chicago crime figures to the penitentiary.

Lt. Michael Devine, LMC law enforcement education coordinator, said law enforcement and criminal justice personnel of the area are invited to attend both lectures.

Arrangements for the speakers were made by Randy Arnt and Merle Hamre, law enforcement instructors at the college.

Paw Paw Teacher Write-In Candidate

PAW PAW — James R. Cella, St. Mary's elementary school teacher, said yesterday he is a write-in candidate for a village trustee position in Monday's general election.

Cella, who also served as a part-time village policeman from 1969-74, said that now that he was off the force he could do more to serve the village.

He said he had decided to direct his campaign, at the urging of his supporters, at unseating incumbent Trustee Charles F. Smith.

Smith, incumbent Fritz Fooy, and newcomer David Richardson finished ahead of incumbent Dalton Ramsey in the race for three trustee positions in February's Republican primary. No Democrats filed for election.

In a letter mailed to some of the village's registered voters this week, Smith said, "It has been rumored that a write-in sticker campaign is being conducted against me and it is for this very purpose that I personally wish to advise how vital this upcoming election can be."

He did not refer to Cella by name in the letter. Smith told this newspaper yesterday that after the primary left only three candidates for three seats, he was afraid the turnout in the general election would be very low, thus increasing the chances of a write-in candidate.

Cella, 32, and his wife, Jeannine, live at 502 Marcelletti. They have two children.

Consumer Helpers Issue '74 Report

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The director of the Berrien County Consumer Protection Unit has rated the operations of the unit "very good" after the first year of operation.

Novikoff noted $46,372 in cash and merchandise was returned to Berrien residents and merchants last year due to efforts of the CPU. "We feel this is a fair return for each dollar spent and is in addition to the many other services provided by the CPU staff on which a dollar figure cannot be set," Novikoff stated.

The CPU operated on a budget last year of $29,437, supplied by federal and state grants.

"We felt what we wanted to do was pay for ourselves by bringing back at least as much as we cost taxpayers," said Randy Arnt, special investigator for the unit. "We hope consumers will see the value of the program," Novikoff added.

The CPU in 1974 received 841 complaints regarding goods or services which consumers felt did not come up to par, and of this number closed 742. Arnt explained the unit "closes" a case when a satisfactory settlement is made, a complaint is referred to small claims court or an attorney, restitution is made, of when a party decides to drop the complaint.

In addition, the unit made 15 arrests last year, and obtained nine convictions. Three more cases are currently awaiting trial, according to statistics compiled by the CPU.

In the first two months of this year, the unit has returned over $15,000 in cash and merchandise to area residents, Arnt stated, and noted six arrests have been made.

"There were few cases of out and out fraud," Novikoff said, and added that most complaints were the result of misunderstandings.

One area which the unit did not get into as much as it would have liked last year was consumer education, according to Novikoff. But, he said, plans have now been finalized for the CPU staff to hold all-day education sessions in at least three area school districts so that every pupil can be exposed to consumerism.

Last year, members of the staff participated in 29 speaking engagements for various schools, civic organizations, and private groups.

Both Novikoff and Arnt feel the biggest shortcoming of the CPU is that people either don't know it exists or are hesitant to call and request services.

But both men and Nancy Heth, administrative assistant and complaint examiner for the CPU, urge people with questions to call the unit at its special number: 983-4022.

"We welcome calls from people asking about services and goods before they buy," said Arnt. "It's a lot easier to get information before a person buys than to try and get money back afterwards.

"We want to try and stop scams before they get started," he continued, "and with things the way they are, people are trying all kinds of things to make money."

Berrien Council On Aging Is Searching For Funds

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

Berrien county's council on aging has launched a fund raising campaign to insure continued operation of four senior citizen centers in the county after July.

George Schuur, director of the council, said a decrease in federal funds used to support operation of the four centers has forced the council to turn to local government units for an estimated $120,000 .

Unless local governments agree to increase their allocations to the council, continued operation of the four centers is in jeopardy, Schuur said. The council oversees the operation of the centers and provides other services to the county's senior citizens.

In existence since 1967, the council opened the first center in Benton Harbor in April, 1973, to serve the Twin Cities area, Schuur said. The other three centers followed with the fourth opening in Berrien Springs in July, 1974. other centers are in Harbert and Niles.

The first council budget to cover operations of the centers in 1973 was some $132,000, the director said. He said about 75 per cent, or nearly $95,000, was funded through the federal Aging Americans act.

The state Agency for Aging which administers the federal program , however introduced a new funding formula for 13 districts in the state for fiscal year budgets that will begin in July, Schuur said.

Under the new formula, based on whether an area is urban or rural, the number of minority senior citizens, and total senior citizen population, the federal share for Berrien county is about $30,000, Schuur said. He added the council has budgeted $150,000 for the centers and other services for the 1975-76 year.

Since early February, Schuur has appeared before township boards and village councils to ask for funds. The Weesaw township board has already allocated $800, and the Berrien township board $1,000, he said. Schuur said the county board of commissioners will be asked to possibly increase the present fiscal year allocation of $20,000.

Other funds for the council include a present $20,000 grant under the federal model cities act and private contributions.

The four centers provide basic information and referral services, Schuur said. He said outreach workers counsel senior citizens with information about various programs including social security, medicare, and food stamps. Transportation is also provided in some instances, and outreach workers follow up complaints about incomplete or poor service from various federal and state agencies, Schuur said.

Each center also provides a variety of informational and recreational programs, the council director said.

The council headquarters are in St. Joseph . Full and part-time workers at the central office and four centers total 20, he said.

Rangers Capture First Regional Championship

Cass Survives Valley Rally

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

PORTAGE — Cassopolis survived a River Valley avalanche to reach the regional summit here Friday night.

The Rangers escaped from a rampageous, near-miraculous Mustang comeback to post a precarious 66-64 victory and capture the Portage Northern Class C regional championship.

River Valley, down by 15 points early in the third period and by seven with 1:11 remaining in the game, fought back doggedly but Mike White's 17-foot jumper for the tying basket with three seconds left bounced off the rim and ended the classic battle of Blossomland heavyweights.

"Whew!," exclaimed Cass coach Bob Follett following a tumultuous post-game celebration by happy Ranger fans. "That was a little shaky. I guess we just like to keep our fans excited and happy.

"This is our first regional title...I'm just as pleased as I can with the kids. We talked about winning the championship, now we have it."

—Took the school's first regional crown ever.

—Became the first Blossomland team (since the league was started in the 1962-63 season) to capture a regional title.

—Posted their eighth straight win in a 22-3 season.

THE WORLD OF Sports

An uncharacteristic 12 first-half turnovers and 23 per cent shooting in the final analysis doomed Valley to defeat in the rubber match. But three missed free throws in the final 1:41 also played a crucial part.

"What can I say...our kids worked hard but that first half was just a little too much I guess," voiced Mustang coach Jerry Schaffer in the somber Valley locker room. "We never quit...but I'm just disappointed the way we played in that first half. We made mistakes and they capitalized on them. They're a good team.

"Also late in the third quarter we let them get two easy buckets and let them get back up by 12 again. That made it just too big of an uphill climb.

"I wish Cassopolis luck. They'll be a fine representative for our conference."

The Mustangs fell behind 39-24 at 7:25 of the third period and continued their erratic shooting by missing their first eight shots of the quarter. But after the draught Valley dumped in 56 per cent of its shots the rest of the way, cut its turnovers down to four and forced the Rangers into careless passes with some backcourt pressure.

Cass peeled off the last three buckets of the third quarter to nullify a Mustang rally and go into the fourth period with a seemingly solid 53-41 advantage.

But then White, who with fellow guard Kevin O'Connell finally came alive, banged in three straight long jumpers to begin the finale and gave the Rangers notice not to size the Mustangs up for the glue factory.

Valley twice narrowed the margin to three points but Gary Young dropped in a layup at 1:11 to give the Rangers a cozy 66-59 lead. But the flustered Rangers threw the ball away three times against the Valley press in the next 50 seconds while the Mustangs were getting a free throw from White, a layup from O'Connell and a 10-footer from Greg Johnson with 17 seconds to go.

Young's layup with six seconds remaining appeared to ice the Cass win but he was called for a traveling violation, which nullified the bucket and gave the Mustangs new life.

Valley called time out to set up strategy. White dribbled over the time-line and let go with his shot but the ball hit off the rim and into the hands of Young.

"We just wanted to get White to shoot or pass off to the open man," explained Schaffer. "Six seconds isn't much time. But I've seen him hit that shot he took many times before...but it just hit the rim."

Roger Walters and Young combined for 43 points with Walters collecting 23 (11 of 22 afield) and Young 20 (nine of 14) along with a game-high 18 rebounds.

The Rangers' sparky guard Bill Dungey ended with only seven points but his defensive work and feeds to Walters for easy layups were instrumental, especially in the first half. Dungey finished with 15 assists and seven thefts.

Mitch Coffman was the lone Mustang to hit with any regularity all night as he bopped in 21 points on 10 of 19 field goal tries and one of two free throws. Johnson meshed 13, 10 in the last half. White and O'Connell both had 10 but they combined for 14 points in the last quarter when Valley outpointed the Rangers 23-13.

River Valley took 14 more shots than Cass but still came away less two field goals. The Mustangs flipped in 28 of 83 for 34 per cent and the winners 30 of 69 for 44 per cent. Both knocked in 50 per cent of their free throws with Valley at eight of 16, Cass six of 12.

Cass held a 48-41 rebounding edge with Mark Scott backing Young with 14 rebounds while Kevin Loder had nine. Johnson led Valley with 16 while Coffman delivered eight.

The Rangers were hassled into 15 second-half turnovers to finish with 25 for the night. Valley had 16.

Cass now can prepare for perennial tourney power Muskegon Christian (19-6) and their 7:30 p.m. Thursday clash at East Kentwood high school, just south of Grand Rapids.

Galien Takes 'D' Regional Title In Win Over Gobles

By DAVE DELANEY
Staff Sports Writer

STURGIS — The Galien Gaels won the Class D regional basketball championship here Friday night as expected.

But they had a much tougher time getting past Gobles than many expected. In the end the Red Arrow conference co-champs prevailed 61-48 in a game often closer than the final score indicates.

"They shot so well from the outside the first half that we were getting quite concerned," said elated winning coach Mike Heckathorn.

The Tigers shocked everyone by taking a 16-12 first quarter advantage. They were still out front with a couple minutes remaining before halftime Tigers especially during the first quarter. He popped in 10 points during the first eight minutes of the contest on 10 shots from the field.

"But Galien is a tremendous team," said Barrone, "and we weren't able to hold them back forever."

The Gobles offense began to falter with halftime just two minutes off and the Tigers in the lead. The Gaels pounced on this opportunity to take the lead and were never behind the rest of the evening.

"I told our kids during halftime to play relaxed and to take the shot whenever they had one," said Heckathorn.

"I'm real tickled with the win," said the Gael coach, "since it's the first time we've gotten out of the regionals since I've been here."

—Took the school's first regional crown ever.

—Became the first Blossomland team (since the league was started in the 1962-63 season) to capture a regional title.

—Posted their eighth straight win in a 22-3 season.

—And last, but by no means least, qualified for the quarterfinals next Thursday against Muskegon Christian.

coach Tim Barrone. "But then our bubble burst and we went back into a pumpkin."

The Tigers did what they had to do in the early stages of the game — put points on the board when the Gaels were having difficulty.

"Galien was cold shooting then," explained Barrone, "and I told our players now was the time to take command. And we did."

"I think our winning is a real tribute not only to our team but to our conference," added Heckathorn.

The contest began with Gobles playing hustling, inspired ball. The Tigers weren't following the expected script at all as they shot their way to a quick 6-2 lead while the Gobles backers roared their approval. Lynch connected on two of these field goals from long range.

The Gaels came back to tie it up at 8-8, before Gobles went on to outscore the Gaels 10-4 for their first quarter edge. Lynch netted six of those points.

The Tigers lost their lead in the second quarter as they sunk just one of 15 field goals and added two more points on Lynch free throws.

Meanwhile, the Gaels hustled up 14 points. Defense was nonetheless fierce at times on both teams's parts.

Galien demonstrated excellent ball control in this telling second stanza, turning the ball over just once. Gobles committed six floor errors during this eight minute span.

The Gaels got going quickly in the third quarter and were soon out front by 12, 34-22. Gobles took a time out, then came back to tally six unanswered points. However in short order, it was Galien's turn to sink six straight points.

The third quarter ended with the Gaels in complete control of the situation. They led by 11, 45-34.

"He sure gave us a lift," said Heckathorn of Snyder's late-game heroics. The senior came off the bench to score 11 points — all in the second half.

"He does a better job for us coming off the bench," said the coach of his sixth man.

Gobles sub Larry Gilbert turned in an excellent fourth quarter for the Tigers, bagging six points this frame before fouling out.

With Gilbert playing a big role, Gobles roared back to trail only by five late in the contest, 51-46.

However, the well then went dry for the Tigers as Galien outscored them 10-2 during the two minutes that remained.

Four Gaels landed in double figures with forward Don Kooy leading the charge with 15 points. "He got the rebounds when we needed them,too," said Heckathorn.

Game-high honors went to Gobles' Lynch who played a spirited game on his way to a 20-point effort. He was the lone Tiger in double digits.

The Gaels canned 26 of 60 field goals (43 per cent) and sank nine of 16 free throws for 56 per cent. Gobles made 22 of 69 field goals (32 per cent) and paired this with four of four free throws.

The Gaels committed 17 turnovers, Gobles 19.

The season ends for Gobles at 11-12.

"We'll be back," vowed Barrone. "I hope we can meet Galien in the regional finals next year."

Expansion Jazz Continue To Strike Winning Note

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We can't seem to do anything the easy way," said New Orleans Coach Bill van Breda Kolff, "but I have to give our guys credit for playing well at the right time."

The expansion Jazz, doormats for most of the National Basketball Association, have turned things around in the last month or so. Friday night they lapsed into their old ways briefly, falling behind Golden State by 17 points in the first quarter. Then they scored a team-record 40 points in the second period to go ahead for good and held on for a 110-107 victory.

"We gave up too many points in the second quarter," said Warriors' Coach Al Attles. "Those 40 points were a team record for the Jazz so that is too many to give them and still win."

Elsewhere in the NBA, Houston beat Cleveland 97-96, Chicago got by Los Angeles 89-87 and Portland topped Phoenix 120-98.

New Orleans won just five of its first 47 games while threatening league records for futility. But since then the Jazz has won 12 of 18 games, including nine of 10 at home, and is fast approaching respectability, if not a playoff position.

Pete Maravich was the big gun for New Orleans with 34 points and led rebounders with 11. Nate Williams came off the bench to add 20 points for the winners.

Keith Wilkes led Golden State with 22 points but Rick Barry was held to 15, half his season's average.

The Warriors lead the Pacific Division by 6½ games but have dropped six of its last 11 games.

Calvin Murphy's 23 points and Mike Newlin's clutch shooting down the stretch gave Houston its fifth straight win.

Norm Van Lier's free throw with 17 seconds left gave Chicago the victory.

Port Huron Ices Leading Dayton

South Division-leader Dayton fell to Port Huron, 4-1, on Friday as the Flags' Bill Watt slapped in two goals in the International Hockey League.

In Flint, Doug Manchak scored four goals for a total of 54 this season as he lead Flint to a 9-4 victory over Columbus.

At Des Moines, Kalamazoo jumped to a 4-0 lead and then held on for a 4-2 victory over the Capitols.

Action was halted for 25 minutes midway through the third period because of a bench-clearing brawl which resulted in 110 penalty minutes.

Class B Ecorse Cinderella Team

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Every year a so-called "Cinderella" team seems to emerge from the state high school basketball tournaments and 1975 is no exception.

The "Cinderella" club this year seems to be Class B Ecorse.

Last week unheralded Ecorse came out of nowhere to defeat top-ranked River Rouge. Then, this Thursday, Ecorse continued it's shocking ways by upsetting second-ranked Milan, 75-73, in overtime.

After defeating the No. 1 and No. 2 teams in the state, you probably can guess what's next.

That's right. Number three.

Tonight the luck of the draw has Ecorse meeting third-ranked Jackson Lumen Christi in a regional title game at Riverview.

Ah, March Madness! The drama builds.

Meanwhile, regional tournament action Friday night saw another host of top-ranked teams in all four classes go down the tube.

Class A

All-Stater Bruce Flowers literally had to get out of the sick bed to lead No. 2 Berkley to a 63-50 victory over Detroit Kettering before 3,800 fans at Ferndale. Flowers was striken with a case of the flu Thursday, but got his doctor's permission to play at the last minute.

He scored 27 points and hauled down 19 rebounds.

Fourth-ranked Lansing Everett kept pace, defeating Battle Creek Central, 66-54, and so did No. 6 Highland Park with a 96-84 trouncing of Detroit Mackenzie.

But you won't have eighth-ranked Sterling Heights or No. 10 Detroit Northwestern to kick around any more. Sterling Heights was gunned down in overtime by tournament-wise Pontiac Central, 72-67, while Detroit Northwestern was sidelined by Dearborn Fordson, 69-56.

Class B

About the only thing that is certain about Class B, now, is that there will be a new champion. Fourth-ranked Wyoming Godwin Heights saw to that Friday, defeating defending state champ Muskegon Heights, 88-87.

Class C

The big noise in Class C Friday was in the Thumb area where defending state champ and top-ranked Bay City All Saints and their band of loyal fanatics stuck it to No. 4 Unionville-Sebewaing, 89-57.

East Jackson is starting to look like the sleeper in this class. After dumping No. 8 Williamston in district play, East Jackson swept to regional victory with a 97-53 victory over Flat Rock.

Class D

Detroit East Catholic is for real. After squeezing through district play ahead of second-ranked Detroit DePorres, the No. 1 Chargers had little trouble gaining a quarterfinal berth with an 80-66 regional victory over Morenci.

But Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart also is hanging tough. The tenth-ranked Saints breezed past regional foe Webberville, 74-64.

Superior Wins, Western Loses

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Lake Superior State scored six goals in the final period to dump Bowling Green 6-4 in Central Collegiate Hockey Association championships Friday night.

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

River Valley, down by 15 points early in the third period and by seven with 1:11 remaining in the game, fought back doggedly but Mike White's 17-foot jumper for the tying basket with three seconds left bounced off the rim and ended the classic battle of Blossomland heavyweights.

"Whew!," exclaimed Cass coach Bob Follett following a tumultuous post-game celebration by happy Ranger fans. "That was a little shaky. I guess we just like to keep our fans excited and happy.

"This is our first regional title...I'm just as pleased as I can with the kids. We talked about winning the championship, now we have it."

—Took the school's first regional crown ever.

—Became the first Blossomland team (since the league was started in the 1962-63 season) to capture a regional title.

—Posted their eighth straight win in a 22-3 season.

THE WORLD OF Sports

An uncharacteristic 12 first-half turnovers and 23 per cent shooting in the final analysis doomed Valley to defeat in the rubber match. But three missed free throws in the final 1:41 also played a crucial part.

"What can I say...our kids worked hard but that first half was just a little too much I guess," voiced Mustang coach Jerry Schaffer in the somber Valley locker room. "We never quit...but I'm just disappointed the way we played in that first half. We made mistakes and they capitalized on them. They're a good team.

"Also late in the third quarter we let them get two easy buckets and let them get back up by 12 again. That made it just too big of an uphill climb.

"I wish Cassopolis luck. They'll be a fine representative for our conference."

The Mustangs fell behind 39-24 at 7:25 of the third period and continued their erratic shooting by missing their first eight shots of the quarter. But after the draught Valley dumped in 56 per cent of its shots the rest of the way, cut its turnovers down to four and forced the Rangers into careless passes with some backcourt pressure.

Cass peeled off the last three buckets of the third quarter to nullify a Mustang rally and go into the fourth period with a seemingly solid 53-41 advantage.

But then White, who with fellow guard Kevin O'Connell finally came alive, banged in three straight long jumpers to begin the finale and gave the Rangers notice not to size the Mustangs up for the glue factory.

Valley twice narrowed the margin to three points but Gary Young dropped in a layup at 1:11 to give the Rangers a cozy 66-59 lead. But the flustered Rangers threw the ball away three times against the Valley press in the next 50 seconds while the Mustangs were getting a free throw from White, a layup from O'Connell and a 10-footer from Greg Johnson with 17 seconds to go.

Young's layup with six seconds remaining appeared to ice the Cass win but he was called for a traveling violation, which nullified the bucket and gave the Mustangs new life.

Valley called time out to set up strategy. White dribbled over the time-line and let go with his shot but the ball hit off the rim and into the hands of Young.

"We just wanted to get White to shoot or pass off to the open man," explained Schaffer. "Six seconds isn't much time. But I've seen him hit that shot he took many times before...but it just hit the rim."

Roger Walters and Young combined for 43 points with Walters collecting 23 (11 of 22 afield) and Young 20 (nine of 14) along with a game-high 18 rebounds.

The Rangers' sparky guard Bill Dungey ended with only seven points but his defensive work and feeds to Walters for easy layups were instrumental, especially in the first half. Dungey finished with 15 assists and seven thefts.

Mitch Coffman was the lone Mustang to hit with any regularity all night as he bopped in 21 points on 10 of 19 field goal tries and one of two free throws. Johnson meshed 13, 10 in the last half. White and O'Connell both had 10 but they combined for 14 points in the last quarter when Valley outpointed the Rangers 23-13.

River Valley took 14 more shots than Cass but still came away less two field goals. The Mustangs flipped in 28 of 83 for 34 per cent and the winners 30 of 69 for 44 per cent. Both knocked in 50 per cent of their free throws with Valley at eight of 16, Cass six of 12.

Cass held a 48-41 rebounding edge with Mark Scott backing Young with 14 rebounds while Kevin Loder had nine. Johnson led Valley with 16 while Coffman delivered eight.

The Rangers were hassled into 15 second-half turnovers to finish with 25 for the night. Valley had 16.

Cass now can prepare for perennial tourney power Muskegon Christian (19-6) and their 7:30 p.m. Thursday clash at East Kentwood high school, just south of Grand Rapids.

By DAVE DELANEY
Staff Sports Writer

But they had a much tougher time getting past Gobles than many expected. In the end the Red Arrow conference co-champs prevailed 61-48 in a game often closer than the final score indicates.

"They shot so well from the outside the first half that we were getting quite concerned," said elated winning coach Mike Heckathorn.

The Tigers shocked everyone by taking a 16-12 first quarter advantage. They were still out front with a couple minutes remaining before halftime Tigers especially during the first quarter. He popped in 10 points during the first eight minutes of the contest on 10 shots from the field.

"But Galien is a tremendous team," said Barrone, "and we weren't able to hold them back forever."

The Gobles offense began to falter with halftime just two minutes off and the Tigers in the lead. The Gaels pounced on this opportunity to take the lead and were never behind the rest of the evening.

"I told our kids during halftime to play relaxed and to take the shot whenever they had one," said Heckathorn.

"I'm real tickled with the win," said the Gael coach, "since it's the first time we've gotten out of the regionals since I've been here."

Heckathorn has had the coaching reins four years. Galien won its last regional crown in 1964. The Gaels lost in the state semifinals that winter. 20-19. The Gaels then blitzed the Gobles' basket for seven unanswered points to take a 26-20 halftime bulge. They dominated play the final two quarters.

"It was like the Cinderella thing for a while," said Gobles coach Tim Barrone. "But then our bubble burst and we went back into a pumpkin."

The Tigers did what they had to do in the early stages of the game — put points on the board when the Gaels were having difficulty.

"Galien was cold shooting then," explained Barrone, "and I told our players now was the time to take command. And we did."

"I think our winning is a real tribute not only to our team but to our conference," added Heckathorn.

The contest began with Gobles playing hustling, inspired ball. The Tigers weren't following the expected script at all as they shot their way to a quick 6-2 lead while the Gobles backers roared their approval. Lynch connected on two of these field goals from long range.

The Gaels came back to tie it up at 8-8, before Gobles went on to outscore the Gaels 10-4 for their first quarter edge. Lynch netted six of those points.

The Tigers lost their lead in the second quarter as they sunk just one of 15 field goals and added two more points on Lynch free throws.

Meanwhile, the Gaels hustled up 14 points. Defense was nonetheless fierce at times on both teams's parts.

Galien demonstrated excellent ball control in this telling second stanza, turning the ball over just once. Gobles committed six floor errors during this eight minute span.

The Gaels got going quickly in the third quarter and were soon out front by 12, 34-22. Gobles took a time out, then came back to tally six unanswered points. However in short order, it was Galien's turn to sink six straight points.

The third quarter ended with the Gaels in complete control of the situation. They led by 11, 45-34.

Super sub Tim Snyder had much to do with Galien's second half success.

"He sure gave us a lift," said Heckathorn of Snyder's late-game heroics. The senior came off the bench to score 11 points — all in the second half.

"He does a better job for us coming off the bench," said the coach of his sixth man.

Gobles sub Larry Gilbert turned in an excellent fourth quarter for the Tigers, bagging six points this frame before fouling out.

With Gilbert playing a big role, Gobles roared back to trail only by five late in the contest, 51-46.

However, the well then went dry for the Tigers as Galien outscored them 10-2 during the two minutes that remained.

Four Gaels landed in double figures with forward Don Kooy leading the charge with 15 points. "He got the rebounds when we needed them,too," said Heckathorn.

Game-high honors went to Gobles' Lynch who played a spirited game on his way to a 20-point effort. He was the lone Tiger in double digits.

The Gaels canned 26 of 60 field goals (43 per cent) and sank nine of 16 free throws for 56 per cent. Gobles made 22 of 69 field goals (32 per cent) and paired this with four of four free throws.

The Gaels committed 17 turnovers, Gobles 19.

The season ends for Gobles at 11-12.

"We'll be back," vowed Barrone. "I hope we can meet Galien in the regional finals next year."

Class A

All-Stater Bruce Flowers literally had to get out of the sick bed to lead No. 2 Berkley to a 63-50 victory over Detroit Kettering before 3,800 fans at Ferndale. Flowers was striken with a case of the flu Thursday, but got his doctor's permission to play at the last minute.

He scored 27 points and hauled down 19 rebounds.

Fourth-ranked Lansing Everett kept pace, defeating Battle Creek Central, 66-54, and so did No. 6 Highland Park with a 96-84 trouncing of Detroit Mackenzie.

But you won't have eighth-ranked Sterling Heights or No. 10 Detroit Northwestern to kick around any more. Sterling Heights was gunned down in overtime by tournament-wise Pontiac Central, 72-67, while Detroit Northwestern was sidelined by Dearborn Fordson, 69-56.

Class B

About the only thing that is certain about Class B, now, is that there will be a new champion. Fourth-ranked Wyoming Godwin Heights saw to that Friday, defeating defending state champ Muskegon Heights, 88-87.

Class C

The big noise in Class C Friday was in the Thumb area where defending state champ and top-ranked Bay City All Saints and their band of loyal fanatics stuck it to No. 4 Unionville-Sebewaing, 89-57.

East Jackson is starting to look like the sleeper in this class. After dumping No. 8 Williamston in district play, East Jackson swept to regional victory with a 97-53 victory over Flat Rock.

Class D

Detroit East Catholic is for real. After squeezing through district play ahead of second-ranked Detroit DePorres, the No. 1 Chargers had little trouble gaining a quarterfinal berth with an 80-66 regional victory over Morenci.

But Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart also is hanging tough. The tenth-ranked Saints breezed past regional foe Webbervile, 74-64.

Superior Wins, Western Loses

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Lake Superior State scored six goals in the final period to dump Bowling Green 6-4 in Central Collegiate Hockey Association championships Friday night.

'Pack, Tar Heels Gain ACC Finals

No. 2 Maryland Upended

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Two old and bitter rivals, led by freshmen, have reached the finals of the pressure-packed Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament tonight.

North Carolina, with a 76-71 overtime victory over Clemson, will face defending conference and national champion North Carolina State, a last-second, 87-85 victor over second-ranked Maryland.

"I try not to think about it. I just concentrate on the hoop," said Tar Heel freshman Phil Ford, who canned 15 of 18 foul shots in the second half to lead the No. 14 Tar Heels, now 20-7.

"He's the best I've ever had at running the four corners," Coach Dean Smith said of Ford and his spread-stall offense. Others Smith has had in Ford's role were Larry Brown, Charlie Scott and George Karl.

Another freshman, Kenny Carr of No. 8 N.C. State, scored on a three-point play with one second left to put the Wolfpack in the finals.

Maryland, in the absence of N.C. State's David Thompson, had whittled away a 17-point Wolfpack lead and gone ahead by one on two Mo Howard free throws before Carr's big play.

After Howard's shots, N.C. State guard Mo Rivers explained, the ball bounced off the leg of N.C. State's Craig Davis and rolled across the foul line. Rivers scooped it up. "Kenny was wide open so I fed it to him and he did the right thing by going for the cup," Rivers said.

Thompson, after scoring 30 points, spent the final 10 minutes on the bench, shaking his head as N.C. State's lead evaporated. His magnificent legs had betrayed him with cramps.

"I didn't believe what was happening. I feel all right now.," Thompson said.

N.C. State Coach Norm Sloan said the team physician, not Thompson, would decide whether the Wolfpack superstar plays tonight.

"You can't play for just the last five minutes of the game and expect to win. We were outplayed inside and outside for 30 minutes," said John Lucas of Maryland.

"I got caught out of position on the final play. Carr was my man, so it was my fault," lamented Terrapin forward Owen Brown.

Tonight's final game will determine the ACC representative in the Eastern Regional of the NCAA tournament. The winner will meet New Mexico State next Saturday in Charlotte.

N.C. State, now 22-5, goes into tonight's game against North Carolina with victories in two of their three previous meetings this year.

A second ACC team will go to the Midwestern playoffs against Creighton in Lubbock, Tex. Maryland, with a 22-4 record and the regular season ACC title, appears to have the best shot at it.

"I think we deserve it," said Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell. "We've played great basketball this year."

Clemson's Tates Locke agreed. He said he hoped his team, now 17-10, would go to the National Invitational Tournament in New York.

Along with the ACC, two other leagues had semifinal playoff games Friday night.

Middle Tennessee defeated Morehead 85-68 and Austin Peay whipped Tennessee Tech 78-69 to advance to Saturday's finals of the Ohio Valey Conference. Lafayette beat Rider 79-68 and La Salle tripped American University to move into the East Coast Conference championship game.

Also, the Eastern College Athletic Conference held qualifying tournaments in Buffalo, N.Y., and Morgantown, W.Va., to decide NCAA playoff berths. In Buffalo, Syracuse beat Niagara 90-72 and St. Bonaventure beat Fairfield 78-73 to advance to Saturday's Upstate New York finals. In Morgantown, West Virginia nipped Pittsburgh 75-73 and Georgetown stopped George Washington 66-59 to move into the finals of the Southern Division playoffs.

Miami Leading

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) — Miami of Ohio took three first places in Friday's six events and takes a 33-point lead into today's last seven events of the Mid-American Conference swimming meet.

Bruins' Gilbert Is Willing To Delay Vacation Plans

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a long season, says Gilles Gilbert. But he won't mind if it lasts a little longer — at least until the Boston Bruins get through the National Hockey League playoffs.

After Friday night's 4-2 victory over the Atlanta Flames, during which he stopped 38 shots, Gilbert said he was ready for a vacation. But he wasn't leaving yet.

"After this season is over I think I'll go to Florida for a couple of weeks, then play golf the rest of the summer," said the Boston goalie.

The victory was the Bruins' fifth straight as they moved closer to the Buffalo Sabres in the Division 4 race.

"It was a good game," said Gilbert, "but we have to win every one to overtake Buffalo."

In the other NHL games, the Montreal Canadiens beat the Washington Capitals 8-4, the New York Rangers stopped the Kansas City Scouts 5-2, and the Vancouver Canucks nipped the Chicago Black Hawks 2-1.

Atlanta scored at 5:10 of the first period when Jacques Richard passed to Rey Comeau, who fired from the slot past Gilbert. At 15:38 Don Marcotte, after a scramble in front of the net, tipped in a shot to the side of Atlanta goalie Phil Myre to tie the game.

Forty-two seconds into the second period, Bruin center Andre Savard scored on a short wrist shot to give Boston a 2-1 lead. Six minutes later, Terry O'Reilly shot from the side as the Bruins took a two-goal lead.

Early in the third period, Tim Ecclestone scored for Atlanta to narrow Boston's lead. But with less than a minute remaining, Myre left the ice in favor of another attacker and Bobby Orr scored into the open net for the Bruins' final goal.

Guy Lafleur, returning to the Montreal lineup after missing 10 games with a broken finger, had two goals and two assists to lead the Canadiens past Washington.

Japanese Record Exhibition Wins

Tigers And White Sox Losers In Openers

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball's exhibition season is underway and the Tokyo Giants and Chunichi Dragons look like the teams to beat.

The Japanese clubs spoiled baseball's grapefruit league openers Friday, Tokyo dumping the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3 and Chunichi blanking the Chicago White Sox 1-0.

The Boston Red Sox downed the Detroit Tigers 8-4 and the Texas Rangers outslugged the New York Yankees 12-10 in other games.

A second Texas squad beat the Mexico City Reds 8-3 in a night game in Mexico City to round out the schedule.

Meanwhile, club officials continued to invoke the renewal clause to get reluctant players into camp. The clause allows teams to order unsigned players to report and to renew their contracts for one year. The players can be paid up to 20 per cent less than they got last year or they can be given a raise, at the discretion of management.

Pittsburgh outfielder Richie Zisk, Montreal left-hander Dave McNally and third baseman Darrell Evans and outfielder Dusty Baker, both of Atlanta, are among the players ordered into camp under the clause.

Negotiations can continue while the players work themselves into shape.

Baltimore had been considering invoking the clause to get second baseman Bobby Grich and catcher Earl Williams to report but both agreed to terms Friday.

In game action, Tokyo pitchers Tsuneo Horiuchi and Kunikazu Ogawa stopped Los Angeles on just three hits. The Giants, who collected 12 hits, struck for three runs off Dodger ace Don Sutton in the third with the help of Sutton's throwing error.

Three Chunichi pitchers teamed to shut out Chicago and Kinji Shimitani's seventh-inning single off Terry Forster accounted for the game's only run.

Each team managed eight hits.

Carl Yastrzemski, starting his 15th season for Boston, and Fred Lynn, hoping to start his first, knocked in three runs apiece for the Red Sox. Yastrzemski had a pair of singles and Lynn had two singles and a home run.

Nate Colbert belted a two-run homer for Detroit.

Leo Cardenas rapped a tie-breaking two-run double in the seventh to carry Texas past the Yankees. Tom Robson contributed a three-run homer for the Rangers while Chris Chambliss and Bob Oliver had three hits apiece for New York.

Curling Champ

DETROIT (AP) — Washington won the U.S. Men's Curling Championships Friday at Detroit's Cobo Arena by defeating New York 15-5, while defending champions Wisconsin fell to fourth place in the tournament.

Trevino To Jive If Weather's 75

ORLANDO, FLA. (AP) — It all depends on the weather, says Lee Trevino. He even waxed poetic about it.

"I will jive, if it's seventy-five," he said. On another occasion, he observed: "When it's cold, I feel old."

Trevino attributed his share of the lead in the $200,000 Citrus Open Golf Tournament to a lot of hard work and the hot, sunny weather that has favored the 6,929-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course.

"I've had a lot of work in the last couple of weeks," Trevino said Friday after his six-under-par 66 had tied him for the lead with U.S. Open title holder Hale Irwin. They had matching 36-hole totals of 135, nine-under-par.

"I hit maybe 2,000 balls last week," Trevino said, then peered at the palm of his hand. "Look the blisters have healed.

"That's what I've got to do to play good," the current PGA champion said. "I've got to work at it. I've got to practice a lot. And I need the hot weather. That's the only time I play any good at all, when it's hot. It was even hot in England when I won the British Open.

"When it's cold I don't want to get out of bed. I don't want to take off my pajamas. I don't want to go to the golf course. I don't want to play.

"But if it stays hot, I might be okay. I'm a lot more confident than I was when I shot that 66 in Los Angeles. I wasn't kidding when I told you I was the most surprised guy on the golf course. But now I'm playing pretty good. I'm hitting the wedge pretty good, hitting my sand shots good. And I'm rolling the putts pretty good."

Irwin, who hasn't finished lower than sixth in his last three starts, also had a hot putting hand in his round of 67. He had eight one-putts, once chipped in and needed only 26 strokes on the greens.

Larry Hinson slipped into third place halfway through this chase for $40,000 first prize, shooting a second consecutive 68 for 136, just one stroke back of the leaders.

Former Masters champion Charles Coody followed with a 66-137. At 138 were Australian Bruce Crampton, South African Bobby Cole and Mark Hayes. Cole had a second-round 68, Crampton 70, Hayes 71.

Arnold Palmer had a 69 but was well back at 141. "I had a chance to shoot a really good round but I let it slip away," Palmer said. "Now I've got to shoot 66 or 67 to get back in the tournament."

Playoff Slated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — UCLA and Oregon State will meet March 10 at UCLA if the two teams finish in a tie for the Pacific-8 Conference basketball title.

Wiles Hallock, league executive director, said Monday the site was determined in a coin toss and UCLA won. The game, if necessary, will begin at 8 p.m., PDT, at Pauley Pavilion. UCLA, with an 11-2 record, faces Southern California this weekend while Oregon State, 10-3, faces Oregon. A tie would result only if UCLA loses and OSU wins.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Two old and bitter rivals, led by freshmen, have reached the finals of the pressure-packed Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament tonight.

North Carolina, with a 76-71 overtime victory over Clemson, will face defending conference and national champion North Carolina State, a last-second, 87-85 victor over second-ranked Maryland.

Playoff Slated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — UCLA and Oregon State will meet March 10 at UCLA if the two teams finish in a tie for the Pacific-8 Conference basketball title.

Wiles Hallock, league executive director, said Monday the site was determined in a coin toss and UCLA won. The game, if necessary, will begin at 8 p.m., PDT, at Pauley Pavilion.

UCLA, with an 11-2 record, faces Southern California this weekend while Oregon State, 10-3, faces Oregon. A tie would result only if UCLA loses and OSU wins.

Bruins' Gilbert Is Willing To Delay Vacation Plans

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's a long season, says Gilles Gilbert. But he won't mind if it lasts a little longer — at least until the Boston Bruins get through the National Hockey League playoffs.

After Friday night's 4-2 victory over the Atlanta Flames, during which he stopped 38 shots, Gilbert said he was ready for a vacation. But he wasn't leaving yet.

"After this season is over I think I'll go to Florida for a couple of weeks, then play golf the rest of the summer," said the Boston goalie.

The victory was the Bruins' fifth straight as they moved closer to the Buffalo Sabres in the Division 4 race.

"It was a good game," said Gilbert, "but we have to win every one to overtake Buffalo."

In the other NHL games, the Montreal Canadiens beat the Washington Capitals 8-4, the New York Rangers stopped the Kansas City Scouts 5-2, and the Vancouver Canucks nipped the Chicago Black Hawks 2-1.

Atlanta scored at 5:10 of the first period when Jacques Richard passed to Rey Comeau, who fired from the slot past Gilbert. At 15:38 Don Marcotte, after a scramble in front of the net, tipped in a shot to the side of Atlanta goalie Phil Myre to tie the game.

Forty-two seconds into the second period, Bruin center Andre Savard scored on a short wrist shot to give Boston a 2-1 lead. Six minutes later, Terry O'Reilly shot from the side as the Bruins took a two-goal lead.

Early in the third period, Tim Ecclestone scored for Atlanta to narrow Boston's lead. But with less than a minute remaining, Myre left the ice in favor of another attacker and Bobby Orr scored into the open net for the Bruins' final goal.

Guy Lafleur, returning to the Montreal lineup after missing 10 games with a broken finger, had two goals and two assists to lead the Canadiens past Washington.

Japanese Record Exhibition Wins

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball's exhibition season is underway and the Tokyo Giants and Chunichi Dragons look like the teams to beat.

The Japanese clubs spoiled baseball's grapefruit league openers Friday, Tokyo dumping the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3 and Chunichi blanking the Chicago White Sox 1-0.

The Boston Red Sox downed the Detroit Tigers 8-4 and the Texas Rangers outslugged the New York Yankees 12-10 in other games.

A second Texas squad beat the Mexico City Reds 8-3 in a night game in Mexico City to round out the schedule.

Meanwhile, club officials continued to invoke the renewal clause to get reluctant players into camp. The clause allows teams to order unsigned players to report and to renew their contracts for one year. The players can be paid up to 20 per cent less than they got last year or they can be given a raise, at the discretion of management.

Pittsburgh outfielder Richie Zisk, Montreal left-hander Dave McNally and third baseman Darrell Evans and outfielder Dusty Baker, both of Atlanta, are among the players ordered into camp under the clause.

Negotiations can continue while the players work themselves into shape.

Baltimore had been considering invoking the clause to get second baseman Bobby Grich and catcher Earl Williams to report but both agreed to terms Friday.

In game action, Tokyo pitchers Tsuneo Horiuchi and Kunikazu Ogawa stopped Los Angeles on just three hits. The Giants, who collected 12 hits, struck for three runs off Dodger ace Don Sutton in the third with the help of Sutton's throwing error.

Three Chunichi pitchers teamed to shut out Chicago and Kinji Shimitani's seventh-inning single off Terry Forster accounted for the game's only run.

Each team managed eight hits.

Carl Yastrzemski, starting his 15th season for Boston, and Fred Lynn, hoping to start his first, knocked in three runs apiece for the Red Sox. Yastrzemski had a pair of singles and Lynn had two singles and a home run.

Nate Colbert belted a two-run homer for Detroit.

Leo Cardenas rapped a tie-breaking two-run double in the seventh to carry Texas past the Yankees. Tom Robson contributed a three-run homer for the Rangers while Chris Chambliss and Bob Oliver had three hits apiece for New York.

Curling Champ

DETROIT (AP) — Washington won the U.S. Men's Curling Championships Friday at Detroit's Cobo Arena by defeating New York 15-5, while defending champions Wisconsin fell to fourth place in the tournament.

San Antonio Turns Over ABA Game

Spurs Help Nuggets Win

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Denver Nuggets had to come from behind to catch San Antonio but they couldn't have done it without the Spurs' help.

"To get right down to it, turnovers cost us the game," said San Antonio Coach Bob Bass after Friday night's 100-95 American Basketball Association loss to Denver.

"We had at least four in the last three minutes. I know (Swen) Nater had two and (Rich) Jones had one. We can't win if we don't get a shot every time we get the ball and we did not do it."

Denver trailed by four points after three periods but took advantage of several Spur errors to run off 10 straight points late in the final quarter and take a 96-90 lead. George Gervin hit a three-point goal to cut the deficit in half, but Ralph Simpson followed with a pair of free throws to ice it for the Nuggets.

Elsewhere in the ABA, New York romped past St. Louis 120-101, Kentucky stopped Virginia 107-85 and San Diego shaded Indiana 118-116.

Simpson finished with 24 points and Mike Green added 16 as Denver racked up its 10th victory in the past 13 games. James Silas netted 26 points for the Spurs who saw a five-game win streak end.

Julius Erving pumped in 35 points, 22 in the first half, as New York beat St. Louis for the 10th time in as many meetings.

Artis Gilmore pumped in 32 points and Louie Dampier had 22 as Kentucky beat Virginia for the ninth straight time.

Nigerian Soars To New Big 10 Long Jump Mark

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — "I'm crazy. It's like I'm dreaming," says Illinois' Charlton Ehizuelen, who broke the Big Ten indoor long-jump record with a leap of 27 feet, 1¼ inches.

The Hoosiers, winners the past two years, took a one-point lead over the Illini, 9-8, going into the final 14 events today. Wisconsin trailed at seven points, Michigan State six and Purdue and Ohio State one each.

"I knew I was going 26 feet when I started running," said Ehizuelen, who outleaped Indiana's Steve Cobb by 14 inches. "But I can't believe 27-1!"

Ehizuelen, who will compete next weekend in the NCAA meet at Detroit, added, "All the long jumpers in the nation are going to be psyched out now."

His leap Friday night broke the Big Ten record of 25-11½ by Purdue's Jeff Bolin last year and the meet record of 25-7 by Indiana's Greg Bell in 1957.

It also was the second-best indoor jump ever in U.S. competition, with the record at 27-2¾ by Texas-El Paso's Bob Beamon in 1968.

"It was a super jump," admitted Indiana Coach Sam Bell, who in five years has guided the Hoosiers to four outdoor track titles, two indoor championships and two cross country crowns.

Michigan State's Herb Lindsay won the only other event Friday night, the two-mile run in a time of 8:44.8, edging Wisconsin's Jim Fleming by two seconds. Indiana's Dean Reinke was one-tenth of a second behind Fleming.

Defending champ Mike Durkin of Illinois finished a distant fifth, but was disqualified later for a lane violation. That moved Ohio State's Robin Smith up one spot to fifth, behind Illinois' Craig Virgin who led by as much as 40 yards before dropping back on the final lap.

"I knew that Virgin couldn't hold it," Bell said. "He just died. He didn't have anything left. What happened in the two-mile hurt Illinois a lot more than we were hurt by what happened in the long jump."

Ehizuelen also was favored to win the triple jump, in which he set a Big Ten record last year of 53-11¾.

Québec Nordiques Break Loss String

From Associated Press

The Quebec Nordiques are on a winning streak—one in a row.

That may not seem like much, but the Nordiques had lost three straight.

The Nordiques broke their losing streak just in time too, beating Toronto 4-1 in the World Hockey Association Friday night. The Toros, the Nordiques' hottest competitors in the Canadian Division, fell 10 points off the pace.

The game marked the return of Mark Tardif, who assisted on one of the Quebec goals.

Elsewhere in the WHA, the Baltimore Blades beat the Indianapolis Racers 5-4, the Pheonix Roadrunners defeated the Winnipeg Jets 7-4 and the Edmonton Oilers stopped the Vancouver Blazers 4-0.

Rejean Houle, J.C. Tremblay and Renald Leclere connected for goals in the second period for Quebec.

Toronto had a 1-0 lead before Quebec opened up in the middle period, outshooting the Toros 19-6. Tom Martin, with his 12th goal of the season, gave Toronto the lead at the 4:38 mark of the first period, but that was the last time the Toros had the upper hand.

State Swim Marks Fall

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Birmingham Groves relay team leads unofficially in the 400-yard freestyle going into today's finals of the state Class A prep swimming meet.

In Friday's preliminaries, Dan Stephenson of Ann Arbor Pioneer and Dave Kulchar of Grand Blanc broke two records each.

Stephenson shattered the 200- and 500-yard freestyle marks. His 1:41.35 in the 200 lopped more than three seconds off Dearborn swimmer Norman Senchyshen's 1973 mark. Stephenson's 4:40.78 in the 500 was almost seven seconds under Jim Stewart's 1974 mark. Stewart, from Ann Arbor Huron, was second to Stephenson in the trial.

Kulchar turned in a 21.51 in the 50-yard freestyle, two-tenths of a second under Henry Alf's 1974 mark of 21.7, and a 46.58 in the 100, two-tenths of a second under Bruce Wright's 17.17 in 1972.

Martin Szuba of Dearborn broke his brother's 100-yard butterfly record of 52.84 with a 52.15 time, and the Birmingham Groves relay team turned in a 3:15.37 in the 400-yard freestyle, two seconds under Dearborn Ford's 1974 mark.

Fans Can Clap, But No Clanking

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP) — They've told Mississippi State fans they can clap but not clank, and as a result a lot of folks in this college town would like to give Auburn Coach Shug Jordan a bell in the mouth.

It apparently was Jordan's strong complaint about the traditional use of cow bells by State fans when his team played the Bulldogs in Jackson last fall that triggered the decision. Southeastern Conference officials banned artificial noisemakers from SEC athletic contests.

The conference action aroused anger here but undoubtedly elicited relief elsewhere around the SEC. The noisy bells were an object of derision and sometimes hatred among opposing fans, coaches and players.

Mississippi State fans say they will feel naked without the metal clankers, which when waved in gleeful unison by thousands of arms emitted thunderous sounds and more than once disrupted the composure of an opposing team.

"There's been a lot of talk about digging a pit and burying all the bells and dedicating the mound to Shug Jordan," a Mississippi State spokesman joked Friday.

There is dispute over the origin of the cow bell as a symbol of Mississippi State, a school which has very strong programs in the agriculture sciences. There is general agreement, however, that they were used at athletic contests here in the early 1900s.

"Some people say the kids used to bring them to games after they finished milking their cows, but that's a pretty agronomistic explanaton," said the university spokesman.

To be able to wave a cow bell with vigor and effect has been a source of great pride for Bulldog fans.

Followers of Coach Babe McCarthy's SEC championship basketball teams in the late 1950s and early 1960s were particularly adept with the bells, sometimes seeming to shake the very foundations of the old gym where McCarthy's squads played.

There was real bitterness among State fans two years ago when Auburn banned the bells from its football stadium when the Bulldogs came to visit.

And it was the bell-waving against Auburn last fall that apparently sounded the final blow to the noisy tradition, Jordan having left Jackson in a rage over the ferocity of the ringing.

Mississippi State officials say they are casting about for some other device with which to support their teams. But this far, nothing has surfaced.

Lachman, Morris Pace LMC Men

ANN ARBOR — The Lake Michigan College men's bowling team took five out of a possible eight points here Wednesday in a junior college bowling meet against Highland Park and Mott.

Rick Lachman paced LMC with a 588 series (231 game) while Jim Morris added 568 (223). The men are now 26-22 for the season and third in the eight-team league.

The women were blanked Wednesday with Candy Bertuca firing a 407 series and Sally Mollhagen 403.

The next league match is Tuesday starting at 11 a.m. at Blossom Lanes.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — "I'm crazy. It's like I'm dreaming," says Illinois' Charlton Ehizuelen, who broke the Big Ten indoor long-jump record with a leap of 27 feet, 1¼ inches.

The Hoosiers, winners the past two years, took a one-point lead over the Illini, 9-8, going into the final 14 events today. Wisconsin trailed at seven points, Michigan State six and Purdue and Ohio State one each.

"I knew I was going 26 feet when I started running," said Ehizuelen, who outleaped Indiana's Steve Cobb by 14 inches. "But I can't believe 27-1!"

Ehizuelen, who will compete next weekend in the NCAA meet at Detroit, added, "All the long jumpers in the nation are going to be psyched out now."

His leap Friday night broke the Big Ten record of 25-11½ by Purdue's Jeff Bolin last year and the meet record of 25-7 by Indiana's Greg Bell in 1957.

It also was the second-best indoor jump ever in U.S. competition, with the record at 27-2¾ by Texas-El Paso's Bob Beamon in 1968.

"It was a super jump," admitted Indiana Coach Sam Bell, who in five years has guided the Hoosiers to four outdoor track titles, two indoor championships and two cross country crowns.

Michigan State's Herb Lindsay won the only other event Friday night, the two-mile run in a time of 8:44.8, edging Wisconsin's Jim Fleming by two seconds. Indiana's Dean Reinke was one-tenth of a second behind Fleming.

Defending champ Mike Durkin of Illinois finished a distant fifth, but was disqualified later for a lane violation. That moved Ohio State's Robin Smith up one spot to fifth, behind Illinois' Craig Virgin who led by as much as 40 yards before dropping back on the final lap.

"I knew that Virgin couldn't hold it," Bell said. "He just died. He didn't have anything left. What happened in the two-mile hurt Illinois a lot more than we were hurt by what happened in the long jump."

Ehizuelen also was favored to win the triple jump, in which he set a Big Ten record last year of 53-11¾.

Quebec Nordiques Break Loss String

From Associated Press

The Quebec Nordiques are on a winning streak—one in a row.

That may not seem like much, but the Nordiques had lost three straight.

The Nordiques broke their losing streak just in time too, beating Toronto 4-1 in the World Hockey Association Friday night. The Toros, the Nordiques' hottest competitors in the Canadian Division, fell 10 points off the pace.

The game marked the return of Mark Tardif, who assisted on one of the Quebec goals.

Elsewhere in the WHA, the Baltimore Blades beat the Indianapolis Racers 5-4, the Pheonix Roadrunners defeated the Winnipeg Jets 7-4 and the Edmonton Oilers stopped the Vancouver Blazers 4-0.

Rejean Houle, J.C. Tremblay and Renald Leclere connected for goals in the second period for Quebec.

Toronto had a 1-0 lead before Quebec opened up in the middle period, outshooting the Toros 19-6. Tom Martin, with his 12th goal of the season, gave Toronto the lead at the 4:38 mark of the first period, but that was the last time the Toros had the upper hand.

State Swim Marks Fall

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Birmingham Groves relay team leads unofficially in the 400-yard freestyle going into today's finals of the state Class A prep swimming meet.

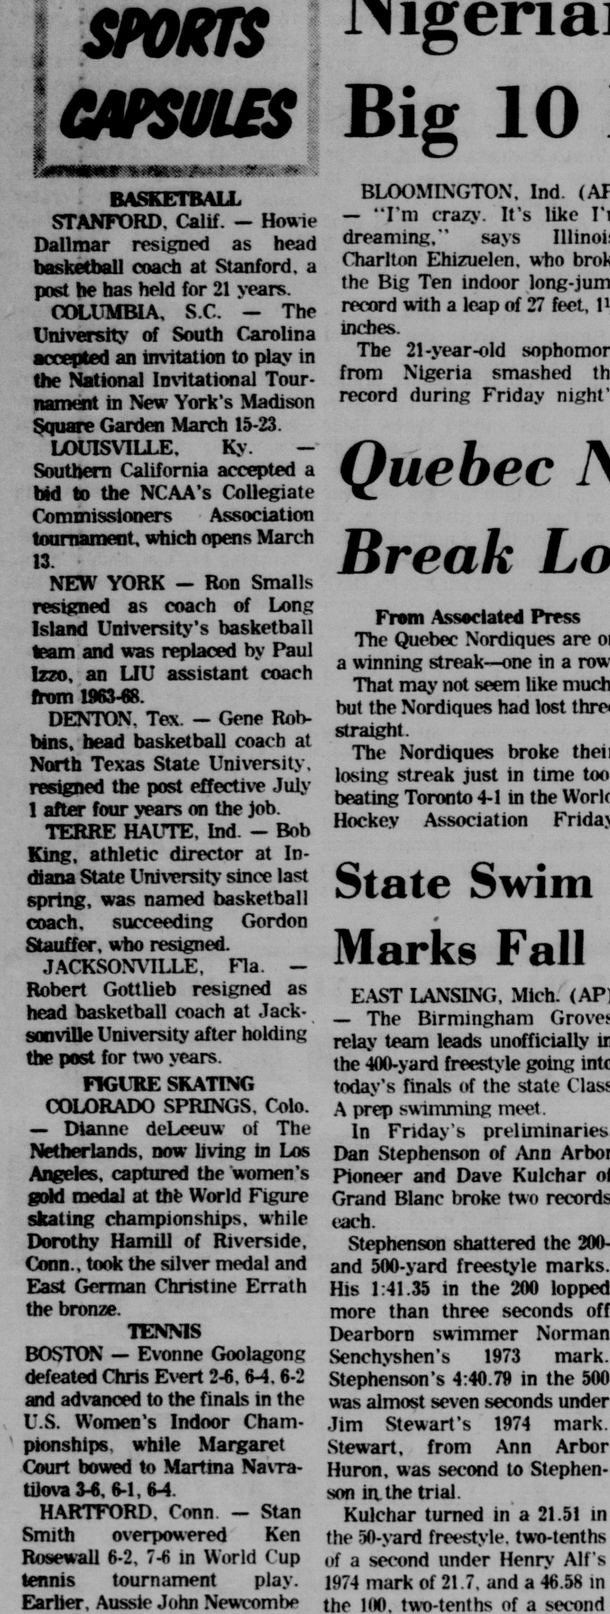
Stephenson shattered the 200- and 500-yard freestyle marks. His 1:41.35 in the 200 lopped more than three seconds off Dearborn swimmer Norman Senchyshen's 1973 mark. Stephenson's 4:40.79 in the 500 was almost seven seconds under Jim Stewart's 1974 mark. Stewart, from Ann Arbor Huron, was second to Stephenson in the trial.

Kulchar turned in a 21.51 in the 50-yard freestyle, two-tenths of a second under Henry Alf's 1974 mark of 21.7, and a 46.58 in the 100, two-tenths of a second under Bruce Wright's 17.17 in 1972.

Martin Szuba of Dearborn broke his brother's 100-yard butterfly record of 52.84 with a 52.15 time, and the Birmingham Groves relay team turned in a 3:15.37 in the 400-yard freestyle, two seconds under Dearborn Ford's 1974 mark.



MOMENT TO REMEMBER: Galien guard Dale Luther won't soon forget this moment as he and his teammates cut down the nets at either ends of the court after defeating Gobles for the regional championship Friday night at Sturgis. Fans Can Clap, But No Clanking

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP) — They've told Mississippi State fans they can clap but not clank, and as a result a lot of folks in this college town would like to give Auburn Coach Shug Jordan a bell in the mouth.

It apparently was Jordan's strong complaint about the traditional use of cow bells by State fans when his team played the Bulldogs in Jackson last fall that triggered the decision. Southeastern Conference officials banned artificial noisemakers from SEC athletic contests.

The conference action aroused anger here but undoubtedly elicited relief elsewhere around the SEC. The noisy bells were an object of derision and sometimes hatred among opposing fans, coaches and players.

Mississippi State fans say they will feel naked without the metal clankers, which when waved in gleeful unison by thousands of arms emitted thunderous sounds and more than once disrupted the composure of an opposing team.

"There's been a lot of talk about digging a pit and burying all the bells and dedicating the mound to Shug Jordan," a Mississippi State spokesman joked Friday.

There is dispute over the origin of the cow bell as a symbol of Mississippi State, a school which has very strong programs in the agriculture sciences. There is general agreement, however, that they were used at athletic contests here in the early 1900s.

"Some people say the kids used to bring them to games after they finished milking their cows, but that's a pretty agronomistic explanaton," said the university spokesman.

To be able to wave a cow bell with vigor and effect has been a source of great pride for Bulldog fans.

Followers of Coach Babe McCarthy's SEC championship basketball teams in the late 1950s and early 1960s were particularly adept with the bells, sometimes seeming to shake the very foundations of the old gym where McCarthy's squads played.

There was real bitterness among State fans two years ago when Auburn banned the bells from its football stadium when the Bulldogs came to visit.

And it was the bell-waving against Auburn last fall that apparently sounded the final blow to the noisy tradition, Jordan having left Jackson in a rage over the ferocity of the ringing.

Mississippi State officials say they are casting about for some other device with which to support their teams. But thus far, nothing has surfaced.

Lachman, Morris Pace LMC Men

ANN ARBOR — The Lake Michigan College men's bowling team took five out of a possible eight points here Wednesday in a junior college bowling meet against Highland Park and Mott.

Rick Lachman paced LMC with a 588 series (231 game) while Jim Morris added 568 (223). The men are now 26-22 for the season and third in the eight-team league.

The women were blanked Wednesday with Candy Bertuca firing a 407 series and Sally Mollhagen 403.

The next league match is Tuesday starting at 11 a.m. at Blossom Lanes.

EXTENSION SERVICE

They've Got The Answer

By ANN M. FERGUSON

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Is it okay to sift worms out of flour and use it?

How many songbirds does it take to control 800 grasshoppers and how many hawks to control 800 rodents?

Why is my clothes dryer eating my family's clothes?

How do I start a catfish farm?

Are perch frozen in a snowbank safe to eat?

These questions are a few of the many asked on the telephone at the Genesee County Cooperative Extension Service. Even more unusual than the questions is the fact that most of these calls are answered with the latest information available from government and university research.

"We'll do our best to help anyone with a problem," said Leo Dorr, director of the county extension service. "But we'd like people to know we're not just a telephone information service. Sure, we'll answer questions on anything from the sex life of a chicken to basic material needed for beekeeping—but we have a lot more to offer."

The Cooperative Extension Service program is one of three branch agencies of the Land Grant System inaugurated in the U.S. Congress in the late 1800s.

The land grant triumvirate in Michigan consists of Michigan State University, the state's land-grant college, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the cooperative extension service, which has offices in 80 Michigan counties.

Termed the largest and most successful educational organization in the United States, the extension service serves all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam.

Founded in 1914, the extension service is funded by federal, state and county governments. Because of its connection with the Land Grant System, the service is attached to MSU. Its program is educational and has no political affiliations.

Traditionally thought of as a "farm agency," the extension service actually was founded for "for all the people." The extension service has a wealth of up-to-the-minute data on subjects from lawn and garden care to techniques for parents.

The staff views the extension service as a practical, problem-centered and situation-based organization.

Employes want to help people identify and understand their needs and problems—whether they live in an inner city apartment building or on a dairy farm.

The extension service is designed to take the knowledge of the university to persons who do not or cannot participate in formal instruction.

Activities within the service change as problem situations change.

In 1865, a canal was begun in The Netherlands to connect Amsterdam with the North Sea.

In 1894, New York became the first state to pass a law requiring that dogs be licensed.

In 1966, France said it would withdraw troops from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and that NATO installations would have to be removed from French soil.

In 1969, the Soviet Union put its army in the Far East on alert as a warning to China after a frontier clash on the Ussuri River.

Ten years ago: U.N. Secretary-General U Thant recommended a seven-power conference as a step toward ending the Vietnam war.

UP Bridges Note Hike In Traffic

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. — (AP) Upper Michigan's largest bridges are both reporting marked increases in traffic for February and the first two months of the year.

The Mackinac Bridge Authority said traffic and revenue for February were the best since the bridge opened in 1957. The authority said crossings of over 75,000 last month represent an 18.5 per cent increase over the depressed levels of a year ago when the gasoline shortage hit.

However, that was two per cent better than the previous February mark for the span linking Michigan's two peninsulas. Authority chairman Charles Fisher said traffic during first two months of the year was up 17.2 per cent to nearly 143,000 crossings.

Meanwhile, at Sault Ste. Marie, the International Bridge Authority said traffic and revenue statistics show a 26 per cent increase in traffic and a 35 per cent increase in revenue compared with last year. The bridge connects Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., with Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Sen. Mondale Hails More Liberal Filibuster Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of the successful fight to liberalize the Senate filibuster rule says the result will be quicker action on tax reform, consumer protection measures and plans to simplify voter registration in presidential elections.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., termed Friday night's 56 to 27 vote to make it easier to cut off debate "one of the most important reforms in the history of the U.S. Senate.

"It couldn't come at a better time. The nation faces profound problems of inflation, unemployment, energy and many other issues.

"Many of these issues are brutal and are going to be very difficult to resolve. But we must decide and we must act and we must move to meet them," Mondale said after a 12½-hour session resolved the bitter struggle.

The new rule allows filibusters to be cut off by a three-fifths vote of the membership. It replaces a rule requiring a two-thirds majority of senators voting to limit debate.

The sole exception is that the two-thirds requirement is retained for curbing debate on future proposals to change the rules.

It marked the first modification of the cloture rule since 1959 when the Senate reduced from two-thirds of the membership to two-thirds of those voting the majority required to end a filibuster.

At the start of every Congress since 1959, with the exception of two years ago, a fight has been waged to reduce the two-thirds margin for breaking a filibuster.

While the new rule will make it somewhat easier to choke off filibusters, only one move to limit debate has failed when it was supported by as many as 60 senators.

That came last year when a fourth attempt to end a filibuster against a consumer protection bill failed on a 64 to 34 vote.

Also last year an instance occurred in which cloture succeeded under the two-thirds rule but would have failed under the new rule. The vote then, on cutting off debate on an appropriation measure, was 56-27.

This illustrates how absentees amount to a vote against cloture. If fewer than 89 senators vote, it will be harder to cut off debate than under the old rule.

Opponents of filibuster have contended that it enables a small minority to block, delay or force the weakening of controversial legislation. They first succeeded in adopting a cloture rule in 1917.

But defenders of filibusters argued that free debate is what has made the Senate unique among parliamentary bodies and that the two-thirds rule was necessary to protect minority rights.

The way was opened for final action on the new filibuster rule with a 72 to 21 vote early in Friday's session, 10 more than the necessary two-thirds majority, to limit further debate on the proposed rules change.

But Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., and other supporters of the two-thirds rule refused to give up. During Friday night's session there were nine roll call votes and six quorum calls, each consuming 20 minutes.

GUILTY: Bobby Joe Keesee pleaded guilty Friday to conspiracy to kidnap with intent to ransom a U.S. diplomat in Mexico. Keesee, 40, is also charged with murder and kidnap in connection with the death of John Patterson, U.S. vice consul at Hermosillo, Mexico. His body was found in July 1974. A prosecutor said the murder and kidnap charges will be dropped. (AP Wirephoto)

Not All Phone Calls Going Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of about two-thirds of interstate long-distance telephone calls will go up after midnight tonight, but a new one-minute charge will cut costs for brief talkers.

The average residential phone bill will increase about 38 cents a month and the average business customer's bill will go up about $3.29 a month, AT&T said Friday.

However, since more than one-third of direct dialed interstate calls are two minutes or less, the one-minute rate could produce significant customer savings, the company said.

For example, a daytime customer-dialed call from New York to Los Angeles would cost 56 cents for the first minute and $1.36 for three minutes. The present minimum cost is $1.45 for the first three minutes.

AT&T announced another bargain, discounts of 35 per cent to 60 per cent, for calls dialed during the evening and night and weekend periods. This means that a call can be dialed coast-to-coast for as little as 22 cents.

The giant AT&T Bell System says it needs a $717 million increase before taxes to keep phone service from deteriorating and to attract investment capital. The Federal Communications Commission rejected the request but said the $365 million boost could be put into effect while the commission holds hearings on the request for higher rates.

The new rates go into effect at 12:01 a.m. Sunday under an order by the FCC last month, which required one day's advance notice on the details of the increase.

Richard H. Hough, president of AT&T's long lines department, said Friday that in general there will be increases for daytime three-minutecalls, dialed directly by the customer, which cover distances up to 925miles.

For the same type of calls over 925 miles there will be a decrease, as there will for most calls requiring the help of an operator, AT&T said.

Higher rates also will go into effect for most interstate private line services — including audio and Telpak — and interstate Wide Area Telecommunications Service used mainly by business.

The rates filed include calls to Canada and Mexico, effective March 29.

Bumper Rule Stays

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Transportation says it is scrapping its proposal to weaken automobile bumper standards in view of evidence that carmakers can provide adequate protection with improved bumpers that aren't unduly heavy.

It marked the first modification of the cloture rule since 1959 when the Senate reduced from two-thirds of the membership to two-thirds of those voting the majority required to end a filibuster.

At the start of every Congress since 1959, with the exception of two years ago, a fight has been waged to reduce the two-thirds margin for breaking a filibuster.

While the new rule will make it somewhat easier to choke off filibusters, only one move to limit debate has failed when it was supported by as many as 60 senators.

That came last year when a fourth attempt to end a filibuster against a consumer protection bill failed on a 64 to 34 vote.

Also last year an instance occurred in which cloture succeeded under the two-thirds rule but would have failed under the new rule. The vote then, on cutting off debate on an appropriation measure, was 56-27.

This illustrates how absentees amount to a vote against cloture. If fewer than 89 senators vote, it will be harder to cut off debate than under the old rule.

Opponents of filibuster have contended that it enables a small minority to block, delay or force the weakening of controversial legislation. They first succeeded in adopting a cloture rule in 1917.

But defenders of filibusters argued that free debate is what has made the Senate unique among parliamentary bodies and that the two-thirds rule was necessary to protect minority rights.

The way was opened for final action on the new filibuster rule with a 72 to 21 vote early in Friday's session, 10 more than the necessary two-thirds majority, to limit further debate on the proposed rules change.

But Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., and other supporters of the two-thirds rule refused to give up. During Friday night's session there were nine roll call votes and six quorum calls, each consuming 20 minutes.

GUILTY: Bobby Joe Keesee pleaded guilty Friday to conspiracy to kidnap with intent to ransom a U.S. diplomat in Mexico. Keesee, 40, is also charged with murder and kidnap in connection with the death of John Patterson, U.S. vice consul at Hermosillo, Mexico. His body was found in July 1974. A prosecutor said the murder and kidnap charges will be dropped. (AP Wirephoto)

Not All Phone Calls Going Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of about two-thirds of interstate long-distance telephone calls will go up after midnight tonight, but a new one-minute charge will cut costs for brief talkers.

The average residential phone bill will increase about 38 cents a month and the average business customer's bill will go up about $3.29 a month, AT&T said Friday.

However, since more than one-third of direct dialed interstate calls are two minutes or less, the one-minute rate could produce significant customer savings, the company said.

For example, a daytime customer-dialed call from New York to Los Angeles would cost 56 cents for the first minute and $1.36 for three minutes. The present minimum cost is $1.45 for the first three minutes.

AT&T announced another bargain, discounts of 35 per cent to 60 per cent, for calls dialed during the evening and night and weekend periods. This means that a call can be dialed coast-to-coast for as little as 22 cents.

The giant AT&T Bell System says it needs a $717 million increase before taxes to keep phone service from deteriorating and to attract investment capital. The Federal Communications Commission rejected the request but said the $365 million boost could be put into effect while the commission holds hearings on the request for higher rates.

The new rates go into effect at 12:01 a.m. Sunday under an order by the FCC last month, which required one day's advance notice on the details of the increase.

Richard H. Hough, president of AT&T's long lines department, said Friday that in general there will be increases for daytime three-minutecalls, dialed directly by the customer, which cover distances up to 925miles.

For the same type of calls over 925 miles there will be a decrease, as there will for most calls requiring the help of an operator, AT&T said.

Higher rates also will go into effect for most interstate private line services — including audio and Telpak — and interstate Wide Area Telecommunications Service used mainly by business.

The rates filed include calls to Canada and Mexico, effective March 29.

Bumper Rule Stays

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Transportation says it is scrapping its proposal to weaken automobile bumper standards in view of evidence that carmakers can provide adequate proteetion with improved bumpers that aren't unduly heavy.

Ultrasound: It's A Painless New Tool For Diagnosis

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A new diagnostic instrument called ultrasound is being used by doctors at the University of Michigan Hospital to probe the depths of body tissue masses with a device that is manipulated like a sonar crayon.

Dr. Alan Wolson, head of the new University Hospital Ultrasound Unit, said that during examinations, the patient simply lies quietly in a darkened room while a technician rubs a microphone-like transducer over the skin near the area under examination.

Wolson explained that ultrasound works well as a diagnostic tool because, unlike conventional x-rays, the organs do not have to be injected with a dye which shows up dark on the film.

One of ultrasound's chief advantages, Wolson said, is that it is entirely noninvasive.

"Nothing is injected into the body," he explained. "The only 'medication' we use is a little mineral oil to lubricate the skin."

A spokesman for the hospital described the system as a first cousin of the underwater ranging system developed during World War II.

High frequency sound beams are used to probe the depths of body receiving echoes from tissue masses which usually are invisible to conventional x-rays, he said.

Under the system, which was described as far safer than x-rays, doctors can tell the position, age and number of fetuses with an ultrasound examination of pregnant women.

It also can differentiate between a probably benign cyst and possibly malignant solid tumor, betwen a cancerous and clear lymph node and, after surgery, can detect abdominal abscesses.

Wolson said ultrasound penetrates the body painlessly and silently but unlike x-rays, it gives off no radiation and causes no tissue damage or radiation exposure buildup.

During an ultrasound examination, which lasts about half an hour, the patient simply lies in a darkened room while a technician rubs a microphone-like transducer over the skin near the area being examined.

According to the spokesman, the transducer both sends and receives sound pulses in the 2.5 million cycle frequency at the rate of 1,000 per second. This produces an image of white blips on the surface of a cathode ray tube.

Judge Says Police Must Return 'Hit Man's' Money

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Police Department must return $280,000 taken from alleged hit-man Chester Wheeler Campbell during a search, a Recorder's Court Judge ruled Friday.

Judge Donald S. Leonard said the police took the money during an illegal search of Campbell's Detroit home on Feb. 26.

The police no longer have the money, however, so they won't be able to comply with the order.

Within four days of the raid, the Internal Revenue Service claimed more than half the money on a tax lien, and the state Treasury Department took the rest on a tax warrant.

Wilfred C. Rice, Campbell's attorney, says his client claims there was actually $525,000 in the house at the time of the raid and that the remaining $245,000 is unaccounted for.

"We plan to sue the city to recover the entire amount," Rice said. "Today's decision was the big hurdle — it's all easy going from here."

The search warrant used in the Feb. 26 incident entitled police to seize "all books, records or documents including photographs relating to homicides and illegal drug transactions and all guns and bullets." There was no mention of cash, although the law allows seizure of contraband or stolen goods.

Campbell was arrested last month, and weapons and documents found in his apartment led police to label him a hired killer for Detroit's drug underworld.

It's printed in a special ink that appears only during a one minute time spot on a particular day. You'd reach only a small fraction of the newspaper's total audience—those who happened to be reading the newspaper when your ad appeared, and who in fact happened to be turned to a particular page at precisely the right moment.

Now let us examine another point. No one listens to two stations at the same time. Actually, there are many, many radio and television stations.

Newspaper messages are available at the convenience of the customer. He doesn't have to tune in at a specific minute slot during any particular time of the day or night for a newspaper message. And if he wants, he can read it, reread it or clip the advertisement for future reference.

Perhaps equally important...he looks at a newspaper ad in the first place, because it interests him. He chooses to. It is never an unwanted intrusion. An overwhelming advantage newspapers offer advertisers is their complete adaptability. You can run a full page ad or a several line ad. You can run the ad once a month, once a week, every day or several times in the same issue.

Newspapers deliver more "ready-to-buy" prospects because readers are attracted to ads that interest them. Readership ratings represent live prospects for the advertiser; radio and television ratings indicate persons who may or may not be listening.

The fact that retailers traditionally invest the vast bulk of their ad dollars in newspapers, offers proof of sales efficiency of newspaper advertising. In fact, advertisers invest more dollars in newspaper advertising than in radio, television and billboards combined.

Next time you have some money to invest in advertising, stop to consider these facts and then spend your money where you know it will get results.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Oil News Fuels Market

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, refueled by hopes for an easing in world oil prices, climbed sharply and steadily this past week to its highest level since the day of President Ford's inauguration.

New York Stock Exchange volume for the week, at 130.07 million shares, was second in exchange history only to the last week of January, when 145.68 million shares were traded.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had slipped back 10.72 points in profit taking the previous week, gained 31.05 to 770.10. It last closed higher on Aug. 9, when it finished at 777.30 on Ford's first day in office.

The latest week's surge, which brought the gain in the Dow over the past three months to 193 points, began Monday as members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries prepared for a summit meeting in Algiers.

As the week wore on, the market continued to ignore adverse economic developments and seize on favorable news — Ford's 60-day postponement of further oil tariff increases, new evidence of abating inflation, and further declines in the bank prime lending rate.

And by week's end two of the nation's largest banks — New York's Morgan Guaranty Trust and California's Bank of America — had lowered their prime rates to 7¾ per cent.

And a good many other banks had reduced the basic rate on corporate loans, which stood as high as 12 per cent late last summer, to 8 per cent.

After Friday's close, the Federal Reserve lowered its discount rate — the rate it charges on loans to member commercial banks — from 6¾ to 6¼ per cent.

That cut, which many Wall Streeters had been looking for in the past two weeks, was the third half-point reduction in the influential rate this year.

In all 1,405 issues gained and 416 declined among the 1,993 traded on the Big Board.

There were 121 new 1974-75 highs, against only five new lows.

UAL rose 2 to 22½; Howard Johnson 2¼ to 11; Ramada Inns 1⅛ to 5⅛, and General Motors 2¼ to 41¼.

Sony was the week's most-active issue, gaining 1½ to 10.

On the American Stock Exchange, Imperial Oil led the list of volume leaders, down 2 at 25.

MARKET UP: The stock market continued to rise this week with the Dow Jones average closing at 770.10 Friday, up 31.05 from the week prior. The Associated Press average rose by 7.3 over the same period to close at 255.8. Analysts attributed the rally to falling interest rates and optimism that world oil prices may drop as a result of the current surplus. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Frederick Schultz, St. Joseph, new president of Cast-Matic in Stevensville, is one of 12 company stockholders and not the company owner as incorrectly reported in this newspaper yesterday.

Schultz said that among Cast-Matic corporate officers are Donald Shembarger, Berrien Springs, vice president and general manager, and Stephen Barbus, Stevensville, controller and treasurer.

He added that most of the Cast-Matic owners are former management members of the Benton Harbor Malleable industries, now closed.

Schultz, former vice president of the Benton Harbor firm, said Cast-Matic has acquired some 60 per cent of Malleable's former customers.

He told village councilmen that the company hopes to boost its number of employes.

Schulz said the firm now employes 40 workers, about twice the number employed when the new management took over Cast-Matic in late February.

BAD TRACK?: Kenneth Unruh, Coloma city police chief, has blamed bad track conditions for yesterday's early morning derailment of 13 cars of a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train in Coloma. Unruh said derailment scene just west of West street crossing was one of several areas he previously noted to C&O officials as being in need of track repair. He said area businesses were also concerned over track conditions in the area and had urged C&O officials to repair them. Chief Unruh said he feels derailment could have been avoided if tracks had been repaired. Workmen cleaned up the area yesterday and repaired torn-up track. (Cliff Stevens photo)

Area Firms Can Get SBA Loans

Businesses in four southwestern Michigan counties are now eligible for U.S. Small Business Administration loans if the firms can show economic injury from extreme weather conditions that caused crop losses in 1974. Examples listed by SBA are implement dealers, hardwares, feed and grain merchants. The SBA emergency disaster loan eligibility designation applies to Allegan, Berrien, Cass and Van Buren in southwestern Michigan and 19 other counties in the state. Emergency loans for farmers and in these counties were announced previously by the Farmers Home Administration. Weather conditions and dates listed for the four counties are excessive rainfall and cool temperatures, May 3 - June 21; drought, July 5 - Aug. 10. Cass is eligible for loans because of frost Sept. 22, 23 and Oct. 2. The other three counties are eligible for loans because of frost Oct. 2. Cass also is eligible for hail loss June 14. Affected businesses may apply to the SBA District Office, Book Building, 1249 Washington Boulevard, Detroit, Mich. 48226.

Police said Troopers Ken Olney and Rick Pherson were in the patrol car and escaped injury.

Troopers said Stephens was headed west on the US-12 bypass in Cass county's Howard township when he attempted to turn on to Yankee street. Police said the car slid on the snow covered pavement and crashed into the driver's side of the police car about 3:30 a.m.

Police said Stephens was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law, going too fast.

Good News And Bad On Farms

WASHINGTON (AP) — As with the rest of the economy, things don't look too bright for farmers but there are a few hopeful signs, says the Agriculture Department.

"A generally gloomy economic outlook for the months ahead contains a few trends favoring farmers — slowing inflation and easing interest rates," the department's Outlook and Situation Board said Friday. "And, hopefully, economic recovery may begin during the second half of 1975."

But the board said that farmers will continue to feel the crunch of high costs and declining market prices as they move into the 1975 spring planting season.

For farmers, 1975 will mean another plunge in net income, the report said. After 1973's record level of $32.2 billion, farm income last year dropped nearly 16 per cent to $27.2 billion. The report said that this year farm income "may fall short" of a range of $24 billion to $27 billion predicted last December.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Oil News Fuels Market

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, refueled by hopes for an easing in world oil prices, climbed sharply and steadily this past week to its highest level since the day of President Ford's inauguration.

New York Stock Exchange volume for the week, at 130.07 million shares, was second in exchange history only to the last week of January, when 145.68 million shares were traded.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, which had slipped back 10.72 points in profit taking the previous week, gained 31.05 to 770.10. It last closed higher on Aug. 9, when it finished at 777.30 on Ford's first day in office.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose 2.71 to 84.30, and the NYSE's own composite index kept in step with a 1.48 advance to 44.55.

The latest week's surge, which brought the gain in the Dow over the past three months to 193 points, began Monday as members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries prepared for a summit meeting in Algiers.

As the week wore on, the market continued to ignore adverse economic developments and seize on favorable news — Ford's 60-day postponement of further oil tariff increases, new evidence of abating inflation, and further declines in the bank prime lending rate.

On Thursday, the government reported that wholesale prices registered their third monthly drop in a row last month.

And by week's end two of the nation's largest banks — New York's Morgan Guaranty Trust and California's Bank of America — had lowered their prime rates to 7¾ per cent.

And a good many other banks had reduced the basic rate on corporate loans, which stood as high as 12 per cent late last summer, to 8 per cent.

After Friday's close, the Federal Reserve lowered its discount rate — the rate it charges on loans to member commercial banks — from 6¾ to 6¼ per cent.

That cut, which many Wall Streeters had been looking for in the past two weeks, was the third half-point reduction in the influential rate this year.

In all 1,405 issues gained and 416 declined among the 1,993 traded on the Big Board.

There were 121 new 1974-75 highs, against only five new lows.

A wide range of issues with direct links to the oil-price question — from airline and motel stocks to autos and chemicals — turned in strong gains.

Union Carbide, for example, reached its highest price since 1967 at 55 and closed at 54⅛, up 4⅛.

UAL rose 2 to 22½; Howard Johnson 2¼ to 11; Ramada Inns 1⅛ to 5⅛, and General Motors 2¼ to 41¼.

Sony was the week's most-active issue, gaining 1½ to 10.

On the American Stock Exchange, Imperial Oil led the list of volume leaders, down 2 at 25.

MARKET UP: The stock market continued to rise this week with the Dow Jones average closing at 770.10 Friday, up 31.05 from the week prior. The Associated Press average rose by 7.3 over the same period to close at 255.8. Analysts attributed the rally to falling interest rates and optimism that world oil prices may drop as a result of the current surplus. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

President Of Cast-Matic One Of Company's 12 Stockholders

Frederick Schultz, St. Joseph, new president of Cast-Matic in Stevensville, is one of 12 company stockholders and not the company owner as incorrectly reported in this newspaper yesterday.

Schultz said that among Cast-Matic corporate officers are Donald Shembarger, Berrien Springs, vice president and general manager, and Stephen Barbus, Stevensville, controller and treasurer.

Appearing before the Stevensville village council Thursday night, Schultz outlined company plans to erect a 100 by 160 foot addition to present buildings.

He added that most of the Cast-Matic owners are former management members of the Benton Harbor Malleable industries, now closed.

Schultz, former vice president of the Benton Harbor firm, said Cast-Matic has acquired some 60 per cent of Malleable's former customers.

He told village councilmen that the company hopes to boost its number of employes.

Schulz said the firm now employes 40 workers, about twice the number employed when the new management took over Cast-Matic in late February.

BAD TRACK?: Kenneth Unruh, Coloma city police chief, has blamed bad track conditions for yesterday's early morning derailment of 13 cars of a Chesapeake & Ohio freight train in Coloma. Unruh said derailment scene just west of West street crossing was one of several areas he previously noted to C&O officials as being in need of track repair. He said area businesses were also concerned over track conditions in the area and had urged C&O officials to repair them. Chief Unruh said he feels derailment could have been avoided if tracks had been repaired. Workmen cleaned up the area yesterday and repaired torn-up track. (Cliff Stevens photo)

Icebreaker Tripped In Antarctic

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — In snow and subfreezing weather, five helicopters today tried to evacuate 13 civilian scientists and 78 crew members from the crippled American icebreaker Glacier in the Weddell Sea, naval authorities said.

The rough weather was causing problems in the transfer, official said. The temperature was 14 degrees near the northern tip of the Antarctic peninsula as the four U.S. helicopters and one from an Argentine icebreaker, the Gen. San Martin, began the airlift, codenamed Operation Deep Freeze.

Visibility was reported less than a mile with fog. Two inches of snow fell in the last two days and the barometer was falling, naval authorities said.

The U.S. Coast Guard ship Glacier with 224 men aboard and the Argentine vessel were caught about 4,000 miles southeast of here by blocks of ice and glaciers that froze together as winter approached. The ice was up to 25 feet thick.

Icebreaker Tripped In Antarctic

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — In snow and subfreezing weather, five helicopters today tried to evacuate 13 civilian scientists and 78 crew members from the crippled American icebreaker Glacier in the Weddell Sea, naval authorities said.

The rough weather was causing problems in the transfer, official said. The temperature was 14 degrees near the northern tip of the Antarctic peninsula as the four U.S. helicopters and one from an Argentine icebreaker, the Gen. San Martin, began the airlift, codenamed Operation Deep Freeze.

Visibility was reported less than a mile with fog. Two inches of snow fell in the last two days and the barometer was falling, naval authorities said.

The U.S. Coast Guard ship Glacier with 224 men aboard and the Argentine vessel were caught about 4,000 miles southeast of here by blocks of ice and glaciers that froze together as winter approached. The ice was up to 25 feet thick.

Greenhorns Get A Good Ribbing

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Freshman Sen. Kerry Kammer got his baptism of fire from a bunch of Upper Chamber practical jokers recently.

The Pontiac Democrat shepherded two bills which extend Vietnam bonus eligibility to certain veterans through committee, explained them on the floor—and there wasn't a hint of opposition.

Then came the roll call: Allen—"No!" Bishop — "No!" Bowman — "No!" And all down the line. Kammer, his face reddening, stared intently at his desk, voicing the lone "yea." Then, as snickers became guffaws, the senators, one by one, changed their votes. Both bills passed 33-0. And so another greenhorn became the victim of an old game and an old statehouse maxim: Don't count your votes before they're cemented into the record.

The game is practiced in the House, too, where the giant electronic vote board makes it mercifully quicker—but a lot more striking. The luckless freshman, backing an innocuous bill, looks up casually and sees solid red lights glaring back at him. His head reels in wonder.

And just before the speaker intones: "The clerk will tally the roll," everyone pushes the green button and the bill passes easily, amid laughter.

"There were some dark moments when they voted 'No! No! No!' commented Kammer, who admitted some chuckles tipped him off halfway through the roll call. "I thought maybe I was on the wrong item. Then I thought maybe it was one of those partisan things...But then we got to all the Democrats — 'No!' 'No!' 'No!' — and I figured, 'That ain't it either.'"

Starting It Sooner

House Taxation Committee Chairman George Montgomery is getting tired of committee members wandering in 10 minutes or so late to meetings while voters face an income tax increase. Last week the Detroit Democrat tried a new tack—instead of calling the meeting for 9 a.m. as usual, he scheduled it for 8:49 a.m. "That way I know you'll all be here by 9," he said.

Record For Brevity

The Senate's Feb. 26 session had to come near setting a record for brevity. It lasted exactly 15 minutes. There were only two bills on the calendar, and the sponsors were not present to explain them. After dealing with a minimum of introduced bills, resolutions and various messages, leaders shrugged and called it a day.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR ARLENE DAHL

What was your most embarrassing experience?—A. S., Great Falls, Mont.

● In 1949, I had a date with the late JFK (we met at a Warner Bros. party when we were both single). I invited him home for dinner, and put my all into Norwegian meatballs, a vegetable, potatoes baked and stuffed with cheese, salad, fruit, dessert and wine. At eight everything was ready —except JFK. As the food got harder and colder, I got more and more nervous and took a glass of wine to steady my nerves—and another, and another. By the time Jack arrived (the plane was delayed three hours), I was feeling no pain. He took one look at the dried-up and soggy dinner, tactfully said he wasn't in the mood for meat, and we went to a fish restaurant.

FOR ALAN SHEPARD

What gave you the idea of hitting a golf ball on the moon?—D. J. Sullivan, Brighton, Mass.

● We had a special room at NASA in Houston in which we trained to walk on the moon. One day we were showing Bob Hope around and we put him in the apparatus. No matter how much we pulled him around, he refused to release the old golf club he was carrying with him. That intrigued me and I found myself saying, "There's got to be a way." I then found one.

FOR JOAN BLONDELL

Do you think it is easier or harder to become a star today than when you started out in films? — S. P. L., Erie, Pa.

● I think we had a better chance. We were under contract to a big studio that looked after us, kept us in front of the public, even wrote special stuff for us. The kids today do great parts on television and then you never hear of them again.

FOR SUSAN BLAKELY of "The Towering Inferno"

Weren't you in commercials before you got into movies?—S. K., Kingsport, Tenn.

● Yes. I originally wanted to be a model, not an actress, and somehow found myself doing commercials. Then I started studying acting at New York's Actors Studio. Modeling is glamorous to begin with but it soon wears off, and you're left with just hard work, doing the same thing over and over. After the umpteenth take, you're supposed to be as fresh as ever. But I still love the pay.

FOR RICHARD BLACKWELL, fashion designer

● From the Ten Best-Dressed List. I felt it was my duty to advise the woman in the street that certain public figures weren't fashion plates and shouldn't be emulated. Jackie Onassis is a "life member" of my list. Queen Elizabeth doesn't know the first thing about clothes, either. Some women are anxious to get on my list. They also know I'm good-natured and make my remarks tongue in cheek.

FOR EDDY ARNOLD

Will you settle an argument, please, and tell me how long you've been singing?—G. Purce, Savannah, Ga.

● Since 1947. I had been praying for a break for such a long time. My prayers were finally answered right before New Year's Eve. I had submitted a tape to RCA-Victor Records, and they called to say they were interested. [Eddy is the fourth leading recording star in the world, behind the Beatles, Elvis Presley and Bing Crosby. He has sold 70 million discs.]

FOR KAY ISELIN GILMAN, sportswriter

Where did you get the qualifications to be a sportswriter? Did male sportswriters give you a hard time?—Pat Robinson, Utica, N.Y.

● I'm a graduate of Sarah Lawrence College and grew up around sports. My father is president of Monmouth Park Racetrack and the New York Jets, and my brother managed prizefighters. For a while I got some beady-eyed stares from male writers, but when they saw I was serious about my work they accepted me.

FOR FRANK ROBINSON, Cleveland Indians manager

Of the guys who managed you, which was "the most complete manager"?—T. F., Colorado Springs, Colo.

● Earl Weaver. He kept 25 guys happy because he involved his bench. Even if you weren't in the lineup that day, you knew there was a good chance Earl would use you to try to win the game. He wouldn't let his bench sit. He made it seem like everybody was in action.

FOR JOHN McKAY, University of Southern California football coach

Some people say we should de-emphasize winning in college football. What is your reaction?—Wilbur E. Mangas, Harrington Park, N.J.

● I believe we should emphasize winning. From the time we pull a baby out of the womb and spank it, that youngster is in some kind of competition for the rest of its life.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

I worship Rudolf Nureyev, the dancer. Is he as exciting as I think he is?—Louise W., Lowell, Mass.

● Well, he's certainly the darling of celebrities when he's not dancing. It's a social coup to be seen with him or have him at your party. According to actress Monique Van Vooren (with whom he has a firm, platonic friendship) he's "the most sexy, sensual, vital-looking man who ever lived." Art is the only thing that matters to Nureyev; he hates flying, has a photographic memory and drives himself with an iron will. He calls himself a man without a country. When he first came to the U.S., he headed straight for New York's famed Russian Tea Room restaurant, where he was immediately "adopted" by the Russian-speaking staff. Now he's a familiar sight there in his 19th-century student's cap, sitting with celebrities like Lee Radziwill. He always has four glasses of tea, the last one with cream.

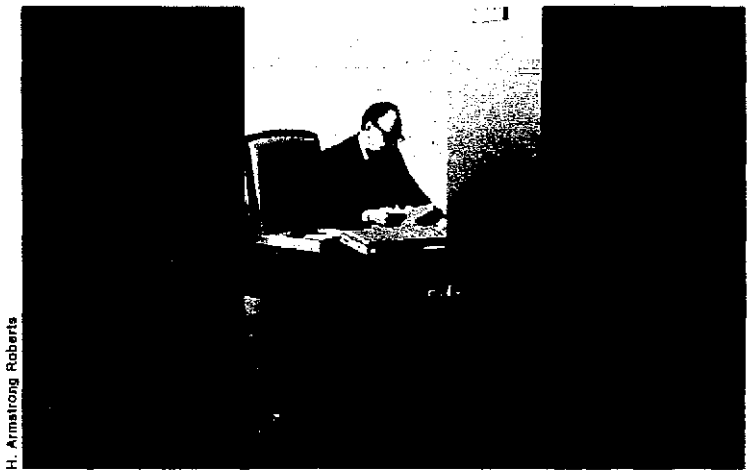
The Ten Biggest Gripes People Have Against "The Boss"

By S. R. Redford

"There are two secretaries in our office. When introductions are made, my boss always says about the other girl, 'Meet my beautiful secretary.' Then he turns to me and says, 'And this is my other secretary.'"



H. Armstrong Roberts

"Send Us Your Complaints About Your Boss!" we said in a "Jobmanship" column last year—and that's about all the prodding it took. You name it, we got a complaint about it. Many of the complaints sounded wistful. The feeling they projected was, "My boss is really nice. If he/she knew this problem bothered me, I think my boss might try to do something about it." Other gripes were from people who felt their superiors were unreasonable. "Just print this problem and a group of us will tack it on the bulletin board."

Here, based on what you've told us, are the ten commonest gripes people have about their bosses. When you read them, keep in mind what a member of the American Management Association says: "Real or imaginary, a serious complaint has to be dealt with. As long as the person thinks a problem exists, his behavior will reflect that problem, and it therefore does exist."

First, and far in the lead as the Number One boss gripe:

This is a puzzling situation. For years, we Americans have been deluged with newspaper, magazine, book and TV advice about everyone's basic need to be appreciated as an individual. In addition, business publications have endlessly discussed the fact that people work not only for money but also for "recognition," appreciation and a sense of achievement.

Traced to their beginnings, some cases of wounded feelings probably have unintentional origins. A boss may sometimes forget to say, "Good morning," only because he's preoccupied, not because he intends to slight the person. "It works both ways," warns the AMA expert. "Subordinates can lacerate the boss's feelings by expecting superhuman qualities from those above them and are angered when their superiors turn out to be human beings with human reactions and needs."

Yet, after allowing for the human factor, our mail makes it plain that many people wish supervisors would check their good image of themselves against their real, everyday actions. Over and over in our letters: "The boss considers subordinates to be objects—much the same as a typewriter or copying machine. He uses us, his 'objects,' to further his own ends." Or from a restaurant worker, "Sometimes he really makes me feel about an inch high." Or, "I am a nurse, but my supervisor makes me feel like a robot." Or, "Each of my three bosses treats his subordinates like dogs, with a sadistic contempt for their capabilities. You just don't treat human nature that way."

The top prize for how to humiliate someone through human-relations carelessness: "I really like my boss, but there are two secretaries in our office. When introductions are made, my boss always says about the other girl, 'Meet my beautiful secretary.' Then he turns to me and says, 'And this is my other secretary.' I realize I haven't been endowed with great beauty, but...."

2 "If he only knew it, we'd do anything for a compliment, for a pat on the head (or the back) occasionally.... The payoff is not just in the paycheck."

It's impossible to discuss the yearning for kind words in phrases better than those our correspondents used. "Not one word of credit does he give the help that put him where he is." "He will not comment on the 99 percent of the project that was accomplished well; only comment on the one percent of the job that wasn't up to his standards." "My boss will agree with someone else who mentions that I'm efficient, but he won't ever tell me!" "I realize workers should always strive to do a good job; after all, that's what they're being paid for. But a boss could just throw out a few encouraging words once in a while." "I've done extra work, such as fixing new tax lists when taxes changed, doing this at home at night. I never even get thanked for it."

3 "My boss isn't fair! The boss has his favorites who get the promotions, pay increases, special privileges."

While some bosses are certainly guilty of uneven behavior toward people, especially where family is involved ("We need a good hot article on nepotism," declared one outraged correspondent), some "favoritism" may be in the eye of the beholder. Before winding yourself into a fury over the boss's pets, ask yourself if the "favorite" really is more reliable and efficient than you. What is your attitude toward your work, your boss, your company? If you were the boss, which of you would you prefer as a subordinate?

Still, stark cases of favoritism, such as "The boss let him have an extra week's vacation when he turned us all down.... There's revolution brewing here," prove how essential it is for a supervisor to monitor himself carefully.

Many letters said something like, "My boss is nice, but we never know what to do. He says one thing one day, contradicts himself the next." "My boss puts things off. Then on Fridays it's rush, rush. Sorta hard to swallow when work's been slow till Friday."

No single explanation can cover every disorganized boss. Sometimes the top person's strength is in creative ability, technical knowledge or sales, not in organizational management. Other times bosses may be avoiding aspects of their jobs that they dislike, that they find tedious or that they find difficult. And very frequently what appears to be disorganization or contradiction are the daily changes of the work world that pressure a manager to alter priorities, methods and deadlines if objectives are to be reached.

Constantly, this same deep disappointment was voiced. "I've worked at the medical center for two years, making all the salads for 168 patients, and have had to beg for every raise I got. I now earn $2 an hour. I figure if I'm doing two people's jobs, I should get paid more.... I was going to quit, but my boss said I'd get a raise and a new position as assistant supervisor. Well, I didn't, and now they put a new girl over me. I have been there in snow and other hard times when they couldn't depend on anyone else. I am never late and I can do any job there, including cook. It seems like I have worked hard for nothing and they sure don't appreciate it." "I had no idea places like this mill still existed. I make $2.13 an hour. People who have been here about 30 years make about $2.50 and get no sick or retirement pay."

In a recent article in the influential

3 "My boss isn't fair! The boss has his favorites who get the promotions, pay increases, special privileges."

While some bosses are certainly guilty of uneven behavior toward people, especially where family is involved ("We need a good hot article on nepotism," declared one outraged correspondent), some "favoritism" may be in the eye of the beholder. Before winding yourself into a fury over the boss's pets, ask yourself if the "favorite" really is more reliable and efficient than you. What is your attitude toward your work, your boss, your company? If you were the boss, which of you would you prefer as a subordinate?

Still, stark cases of favoritism, such as "The boss let him have an extra week's vacation when he turned us all down.... There's revolution brewing here," prove how essential it is for a supervisor to monitor himself carefully.

4 "He's very disorganized."

Many letters said something like, "My boss is nice, but we never know what to do. He says one thing one day, contradicts himself the next." "My boss puts things off. Then on Fridays it's rush, rush. Sorta hard to swallow when work's been slow till Friday."

No single explanation can cover every disorganized boss. Sometimes the top person's strength is in creative ability, technical knowledge or sales, not in organizational management. Other times bosses may be avoiding aspects of their jobs that they dislike, that they find tedious or that they find difficult. And very frequently what appears to be disorganization or contradiction are the daily changes of the work world that pressure a manager to alter priorities, methods and deadlines if objectives are to be reached.

Constantly, this same deep disappointment was voiced. "I've worked at the medical center for two years, making all the salads for 168 patients, and have had to beg for every raise I got. I now earn $2 an hour. I figure if I'm doing two people's jobs, I should get paid more.... I was going to quit, but my boss said I'd get a raise and a new position as assistant supervisor. Well, I didn't, and now they put a new girl over me. I have been there in snow and other hard times when they couldn't depend on anyone else. I am never late and I can do any job there, including cook. It seems like I have worked hard for nothing and they sure don't appreciate it." "I had no idea places like this mill still existed. I make $2.13 an hour. People who have been here about 30 years make about $2.50 and get no sick or retirement pay."

Grass Seed Is For The Birds! Zoysia Saves Time, Work, Money

By Mike Senkiw Agronomist

Every year I see people pour more and more money into their lawns. They dig, fertilize and lime. They rake it all in. They scatter their seed and roll and water it.

Amazoy is the Trade Mark Registered U.S. Patent Office for our Meyer Z-52 Zoysia Grass.

Birds love it! Seeds which aren't washed away by rain give them a feast. But some seed grows, and soon it's time to weed, water and mow, mow . . . until summer comes to burn the lawn into hay, or crabgrass and diseases infest it.

That's what happens to ordinary grass, but not to Zoysia.

"MOWED IT 2 TIMES," WRITES WOMAN

For example, Mrs. M. R. Mitter writes me how her lawn ". . . is the envy of all who see it. When everybody's lawns around here are brown from drought ours just stays as green as ever. I've never watered it, only when I put the plugs in . . . Last summer we had it mowed (2) times. Another thing we never have to pull any weeds—it's just wonderful!"

And from Iowa came word that the state's largest Men's Garden Club picked a Zoysia lawn as the "top lawn—nearly perfect" in its area. Yet this lawn had been watered only once all summer up to August!

These represent but 2 of thousands of happy Zoysia owners. Their experiences show that you, too, can have a lawn that stays green and beautiful thru blistering heat, water bans—even drought!

Cuts Your Work, Saves You Money

Your deep-rooted, established Amazoy lawn saves you time and money in many ways. It never needs replacement . . . ends re-seeding forever. Fertilizing and watering (water costs money, too) are rarely if ever needed. It ends the need for crabgrass killers permanently. It cuts pushing a noisy mower in the blistering sun by 2/3.

CHOKES OUT CRABGRASS

Thick rich, luxurious Amazoy grows into a carpet of grass that chokes out crabgrass and weeds all summer long. It will NOT winter kill. Goes off its green color after killing frost, regains fresh new beauty every Spring—a true perennial!

For Slopes, Play Areas, Bare Spots

If slopes are a problem, just plug in Amazoy. When established, it will end erosion—also plug it into hard-to-cover spots, play-worn areas, etc.

YOUR OWN SUPPLY OF PLUG TRANSPLANTS

Your established turf provides you with Zoysia plugs for other areas as you may desire.

WEAR RESISTANT

Your Amazoy lawn takes such wear as cook-outs, lawn parties, lawn furniture, etc. Grows so thick you could play football on it and not get your feet muddy. Even if children play on it, they won't hurt it—or themselves.

NO SEED, NO SOD!

Do not mistake Amazoy pre-cut plugs for sod or seed of any type of grass. There's no seed that produces winter-hardy Meyer Zoysia. Sod of ordinary grass carries with it the same problems as seed—such as weed, diseases, frequent mowing, burning out, etc.

Order now for Bonus Plugs and earliest delivery at planting time in your area. Orders are shipped the same day taken from soil, shipping charge collect via most economical means.

Meyer Z-52 Zoysia Grass was perfected by U.S. Government; released in co-operation with U.S. Golf Assoc. as a superior grass.

NO NEED TO RIP OUT PRESENT GRASS

Now's the time to order your Zoysia plugs—to get started on a lawn that will choke out crabgrass and weeds all summer long and year after year.

Plug it into an entire lawn or limited "problem areas". Plug it into poor soil, "builder's soil", clay or sandy soils—even salty, beach areas, and I guarantee it to grow!

PLUG AMAZOY INTO OLD LAWN, NEW GROUND OR NURSERY AREA

Just set Amazoy plugs into holes in ground like a cork in a bottle. Plant 1 foot apart, checkerboard style. Every plug 3 sq. inches.

When planted in existing lawn areas plugs will spread to drive out old, unwanted growth, including weeds. Easy planting instructions with order.

FREE PATENTED STEP ON PLUGGER. SENT FREE WITH LARGER ORDERS — 600 PLUGS OR MORE.

A growth-producing 2-way plugger that saves bending, time, work. Cuts away competing growth at same time it digs holes for plugs. Invaluable for transplanting. Rugged yet so light a woman can use it.

Every Plug Guaranteed to Grow In your Soil In your Area

- WON'T WINTER KILL—has survived temperatures 30° below zero!
- WON'T HEAT KILL—When other grasses burn out, Amazoy stays green and lovely!

Every plug must grow within 45 days or we replace it free. Since we're hardly in business for the fun of it—you know we have to be sure of our product.

Boss Gripes

business publication "Wharton Quarterly," Dr. David Sirota points out that supervisors often deal with people in too simplistic a fashion, ascribing all worker behavior to a single goal. While some managers overlook human-relations needs, others mistakenly decide that good human relations is all they need offer. Our letters prove that the manager who relies too strongly on job enrichment and human relations while stinting on wages is laying up the deepest kind of anti-boss hostility.

"My boss is sneaky . . . stands at the foot of stairs and eavesdrops . . . listens to our phone conversations." "Tells deliberate lies." "Smells as if his deodorant isn't working." "He is always snooping into my personal life and it is none of his business."

7 "I'm so tired of being blamed unfairly for things others do."

As people hunger for praise, so they are willing to accept blame only if it is merited and the discussion done tactfully. "And when he reprimands, it's never done behind closed doors, but at business hours in front of a houseful of customers or wherever he finds you. . . . Sometimes it's done over the loudspeaker, which is all the lovelier."

8 "Boss does not allow for employee having ideas or a brain."

This seems to indicate that the boss has an insufficient knowledge of how to motivate people. "Tells me each and every duty to perform, even after five years. . . . I usually answer, 'It's already been done.'" And from a woman whose male boss is younger than she is, "Any sign of initiative seems to terrify him."

From exasperated workers everywhere, "Always acts as if you're not doing anything no matter how much you produce."

And from the entire United States a chorus of, "Will never admit he is wrong about anything." (This gripe raises the question: If the boss did admit an error, how would his people treat him? Would they gossip, joke and remind him of it ever after?)

9 Discriminates against older workers or against women.

"A girl in our office who returned after a meager three-week maternity leave with no pay lost her seniority. But a man in the office who was off work for four weeks with back trouble didn't lose a bit of seniority and he drew full pay those four weeks." "It's been made clear to me. No chance for promotion around here just because I'm a woman." And from older Americans, "Most employers won't hire you if you're in your 50's or 60's unless they need a low-paid sweeper or janitor."

The many people voicing this gripe may be in both the best and worst positions of all boss gripers. The best position because laws and recent court decisions awarding more than $100 million in equal-pay and equal-opportunity damages to women have created a business climate in which companies are at last beginning to adopt fairer hiring, pay and promotion policies toward women. Yet they may also be in the worst of positions because discrimination against older workers, though illegal, is often harder to prove in court.

"My boss has a dirty mind and enjoys saying things that are ambiguous," says one woman. From another, "Oh, the language he uses on the phone when someone crosses him!" And, "We all wish he'd keep the tales of his sex life out of business hours."

Though it's true that during the last decade some people have altered their standards of what constitutes appropriate language and subject matter in a business setting, not everyone has adopted the new ideas. A wise boss needs to keep that in mind.

Why do people stay on their jobs when their bosses have such a long and so serious a list of failings? Those who can leave often do so. "I'm quitting," many reported. Others, trapped by age, a slack job market in their skill or seniority rights they need to protect, sigh and hang on.

One other comment was laced regularly through the gripe mail. "Thanks for the chance to sound off. Knowing I'm not alone and that others have boss gripes makes me feel better already."

In the months ahead we'll discuss other aspects of boss gripes in our "Jobmanship" column, and we'll offer insights and ideas that may help ease the problems.

It's solid brass all the way through, heavily inlaid with thick slabs of exotic Pacca wood—the miracle wood that resists moisture, heat, grease and food acids. See the gleaming blade, honed to such razor sharpness that you can almost hear the hiss as it zips through meat, bones fish, dresses game, even cuts kindling and tent stakes. Forged of high-carbon molybdenum steel, the G-96 Titan blade has been specially processed metallurgically to hold a keen edge even after many years of hardest use.

A joy to carry, the G-96 Titan is only 4⅝" long when folded. Yet open it up and you've got an 8⅝"-long wonder that beats the best belt sheath hunting knife you could ever hope to own. (The opening mechanism is as smooth as silk and holds the long blade locked firmly into place until you press the safety release in the handle for closing.)

A triumph of the knifemaker's art, the G-96 Titan is rugged and reliable, a lifetime investment for every outdoor sportsman and genuine collector's item. You'd expect to pay $19.95 and even more for a knife of such uncompromising quality. Yet thanks to a very special purchase we can offer it now for the amazingly low price of $14.95. (You'll never need to buy another.)

But remember, not every outdoorsman can own the G-96 Titan. Each one is individually hand-crafted and can never be in unlimited supply at this special low price. Avoid disappointment. Mail the coupon today. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back.

GIANT SHADE TREE SALE!

America's Most Popular "Fast Growing" Shade Trees

Orange Leaves

SUGAR MAPLE
(Acer Saccharum)

This tree is the largest of all the maples, and is known as a hard maple. Its wood is the source of excellent hard lumber. Its outstandingly beautiful array of yellow and orange hues in the fall make it a sight to remember due to the foliage thickness of the tree. Due to the fact it is long-lived and very hardy, it is a welcome addition to any home. Grows to 60 feet (shipped at 5 to 7 feet).

Red Leaves

RED MAPLE
(Acer Rubrum)

This is one of the most beautiful of all shade trees. Besides having brilliant scarlet red leaves in the fall of the year, it has another excellent trait — it is an extremely fast grower. It is very easily transplanted and many experts agree it will grow practically anywhere in the U.S.A. Grows to 60 feet (shipped at 5 to 7 feet).

Yellow Leaves

TULIP TREE
(Lirodendron tulipifera)

This handsome, highly symmetrical tree is a very large growing tree reaching heights of eighty feet or more. Its yellow-green leaves turn bright yellow in the fall and in the late spring it has vivid orange and yellow tulip shaped flowers. Very fast growing and is related to the magnolia. Its physical appearance is very similar, and like the magnolia, is easily transplanted. It is also a hardy tree. Grows to 80 feet (shipped at 5 to 7 feet).

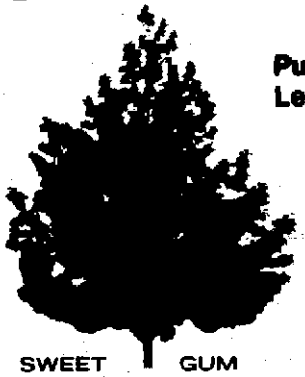
Green Leaves

THORNLESS HONEY LOCUST
(Gleditsia Triacanthos Inermis)

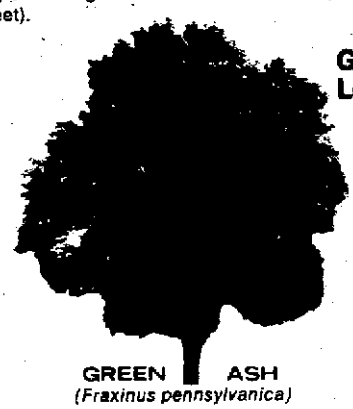
This shade tree is widely planted as a substitute for the American Elm: this thornless variety has the same form as a graceful wine glass. It is a very desirable lawn tree with lacy fern-like foliage. It is sometimes referred to as the "fastest growing shade tree in America," and has been the subject of many articles on street planting by city governments. It thrives in practically all areas. Grows to 50 feet (shipped at 5 to 7 feet).



Purple Leaves

SWEET GUM
(Liquidambar Styraciflua)

The Sweet Gum with its regular pyramid outline and bold, star-shaped foliage is one of the best trees for autumn color, turning rich shades of crimson to purple in the fall. It is native to a wide range of the eastern third of the U.S., from New Jersey and central Illinois, south to Florida and Texas. Its symmetrical beauty is an asset to anybody's home grounds. Reaches 50 feet (shipped at 5 to 7 feet).



Green Leaves

GREEN ASH
(Fraxinus pennsylvanica)

The Green Ash has no equal when it comes to its ability to survive cold and hot temperatures. It has thick, glossy foliage, is a rapid grower and matures into a fine oval-headed tree. Its beautiful green leaves are dense and compact. A real buy for people with difficult climates. Grows to 50 feet (shipped at 5 to 7 feet).

3 YEAR GUARANTEE

We are so sure that these are the most incredible shade trees you've ever seen, here is our ironclad 3 year guarantee: If by mere chance any of your trees ever fail to survive, all you have to do is return them to us and we will replace them absolutely free of charge for a three-year period.

A Celebrity Cooks

Mike Connors:
I Don't Know About Joe Mannix, But Here's What I Like!

I'm a homebody. I enjoy just being with my wife and children. I do my thing cooking outdoors over the barbecue. Steaks and shish kebabs are my two mainstays. I'm a lamb lover and always get a lot of compliments on my shish kebabs. For best results, I use young lamb, cut from the leg. Just throw the cubes of lamb into a good marinade and marinate a few hours; then skewer the lamb and throw it on the grill.

I have to diet constantly, but I still hanker for the Armenian food my mother fixed when I was a child: kofta (meatballs made with herbs and rice), stuffed grape leaves, cheese berag (cheese and parsley baked in layers) and pilaf.

My wife Mary is a great cook. She specializes in make-ahead dishes that we live on when we're at our retreat on Lake Arrowhead. Our son Gunnar is a big salad fiend. He chops up everything he can find. Dana, our daughter, is the best pizza baker around.

But I guess our two biggest family favorites are stroganoff and carmel flan. My wife claims she gets many of her best recipes from her sister, Jean Phillips. Like most good cooks, Mary and Jean improvise recipes, changing or adding whatever it takes to make their food come out tasting great!

By Mike Connors.
In conversation with Helen Dorsey

CARAMEL FLAN

3 egg whites
8 egg yolks
2 cans (13-oz. size) evaporated milk
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
6 tablespoons brandy or rum, optional

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Pour 1 cup sugar in greased flan or baking pan. Place in oven until sugar melts and turns golden. Tip pan to coat sides. Let cool.

2. Meanwhile, make custard by beating together egg whites and egg yolks. Add milk, remaining sugar and vanilla. Beat until sugar is dissolved.

3. Pour custard into flan pan. Place pan in larger pan containing 1 inch hot water. Bake for 1 hour, or until firm. Chill well before serving. If desired, heat brandy, pour over flan, ignite.

Makes 8-10 servings

BEEF STROGANOFF

2 lbs. lean boneless beef sirloin or top round, cut into very thin strips
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
1 tablespoon arrowroot or 2 tablespoons flour
4 tablespoons butter
1 small onion, peeled and finely minced
1 can (14 ozs.) chicken broth
¼ cup dry white wine
¼ teaspoon spice Parisian, optional
1 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons sherry
Hot cooked rice

1. Place meat on sheet of aluminum foil. Combine salt, pepper, garlic powder and arrowroot. Dredge meat in mixture.

2. Melt butter in large skillet; brown meat quickly. Add onion.

4. Add spice Parisian. Cover; simmer slowly about 1 hour, or until meat is tender. Stir occasionally.

5. Just before serving, stir in sour cream and sherry. Heat through but do not boil or sauce will curdle. Serve at once over hot cooked rice. Makes 5-6 servings

I Don't Know About Joe Mannix, But Here's What I Like!

I'm a homebody. I enjoy just being with my wife and children. I do my thing cooking outdoors over the barbecue. Steaks and shish kebabs are my two mainstays. I'm a lamb lover and always get a lot of compliments on my shish kebabs. For best results, I use young lamb, cut from the leg. Just throw the cubes of lamb into a good marinade and marinate a few hours; then skewer the lamb and throw it on the grill.

I have to diet constantly, but I still hanker for the Armenian food my mother fixed when I was a child: kofta (meatballs made with herbs and rice), stuffed grape leaves, cheese berag (cheese and parsley baked in layers) and pilaf.

My wife Mary is a great cook. She specializes in make-ahead dishes that we live on when we're at our retreat on Lake Arrowhead. Our son Gunnar is a big salad fiend. He chops up everything he can find. Dana, our daughter, is the best pizza baker around.

But I guess our two biggest family favorites are stroganoff and carmel flan. My wife claims she gets many of her best recipes from her sister, Jean Phillips. Like most good cooks, Mary and Jean improvise recipes, changing or adding whatever it takes to make their food come out tasting great!

CARAMEL FLAN

1¾ cups sugar
3 egg whites
8 egg yolks
2 cans (13-oz. size) evaporated milk
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
6 tablespoons brandy or rum, optional

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Pour 1 cup sugar in greased flan or baking pan. Place in oven until sugar melts and turns golden. Tip pan to coat sides. Let cool.
2. Meanwhile, make custard by beating together egg whites and egg yolks. Add milk, remaining sugar and vanilla. Beat until sugar is dissolved.
3. Pour custard into flan pan. Place pan in larger pan containing 1 inch hot water. Bake for 1 hour, or until firm. Chill well before serving. If desired, heat brandy, pour over flan, ignite.

Makes 8-10 servings

BEEF STROGANOFF

2 lbs. lean boneless beef sirloin or top round, cut into very thin strips
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
1 tablespoon arrowroot or 2 tablespoons flour
4 tablespoons butter
1 small onion, peeled and finely minced
1 can (14 ozs.) chicken broth
¼ cup dry white wine
¼ teaspoon spice Parisian, optional
1 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons sherry
Hot cooked rice

1. Place meat on sheet of aluminum foil. Combine salt, pepper, garlic powder and arrowroot. Dredge meat in mixture.
2. Melt butter in large skillet; brown meat quickly. Add onion.
3. Pour in chicken broth and white wine; cook, stirring, until sauce thickens.
4. Add spice Parisian. Cover; simmer slowly about 1 hour, or until meat is tender. Stir occasionally.
5. Just before serving, stir in sour cream and sherry. Heat through but do not boil or sauce will curdle. Serve at once over hot cooked rice. Makes 5-6 servings

My husband called my thighs 'saddle bags' before I lost 47 pounds.

By Mary Young —
as told to Ruth L. McCarthy

AT 157 pounds, with five children to raise and a farm garden to tend, I had plenty of exercise. But it didn't reduce the size of my thighs or backside. But then, I'm only five feet tall and a few extra pounds on me always looked like a lot more. Not only that, when I wore a girdle under my slacks, it pushed all the flab into my upper legs and made Monte, my husband, call them "saddle bags."

It's not that I didn't try repeatedly to lose weight. But one of my biggest hindrances was the scheduling of family meals in the course of a day. And it was always a long day. You see, Monte, who's a bricklayer, has to get up at 5:00 a.m. That's when my eating started. My time table actually went like this:

7:00 a.m. — Breakfast again with 2 younger children.
10:00 a.m. — Coffee plus with neighbor.
11:30 a.m. — Early lunch for two older kids (they're in afternoon session).
2:30 p.m. — After school snack for younger kids and me.
5:30 p.m. — Hungry Monte returns.
6:00 p.m. — Supper for everybody.
10:00 p.m. — Television snacking.

There was nothing but meals, meals, meals from morning to night.

I can't tell you how many times Monte begged me to lose weight. Once, he even tore up a pair of my good slacks and threw them in the garbage pail. "If you've got to be big," he said, "be big. But stop wearing the same thing day after day." Unfortunately, I had no choice, because nothing else would fit.

Right after that, I got a group of neighbor ladies together to talk about the problem of losing weight. We decided we'd meet once a week, weigh ourselves, and encourage one another in dieting. We also chose a Queen and a Pig, depending on who lost the most and who the least. One of the members even made a Pig bib. It had a decal of a pig eating all the wrong foods. On the other hand, whoever wound up Queen got a 20¢ gift from every other member. Once I was Queen. But more than once, I had to take home the Pig bib. Finally, I gave up going to the meetings, because "talking" about losing weight just didn't work for me.

If I'd taken off those dark glasses, maybe I'd have seen my bulging thighs more clearly and done something to reduce them before reaching 157 pounds.

Here I am at 110 pounds — trim enough now to have a smooth line in slacks. As my husband would say: I've finally unpacked my "saddle bags."

Still, I didn't believe in artificial ways of reducing—like drugs. In fact, I always believed in eating only wholesome, natural foods.

Well, I'd read about those reducing-plan candies called Ayds®, and when I saw they contained vitamins and minerals, but no drugs, I decided to give them a try. In fact, one of my neighbors had a box of the chocolate mint kind and they were so good, I bought some vanilla caramel Ayds and we shared them.

As for Monte's reaction to my taking Ayds, he'd seen me diet and fail so many times, he didn't have much hope. He just said: "If you're going to lose weight, you need willpower which has to come from you." He's right, but I needed help. And Ayds helped me strengthen my willpower like nothing ever did before.

I started on the Ayds plan by taking one or two of those candies before each meal and they really helped control my appetite. I ate, but I ate less. For instance, on the Ayds plan, I had only one breakfast. Half a grapefruit, egg, toast and coffee. Mid-morning, I'd have two Ayds and coffee. Then for lunch, Ayds and coffee again before a salad or cheese or tuna fish on toast. And at dinnertime, I'd have two more Ayds with tea, then meat, a vegetable or two, and fruit. And finally watching the late news on TV, I'd have my last Ayds for the day.

One great thing I found about Ayds was that I could carry them in my purse. When I went to socials, I'd have coffee and a 26-calorie Ayds, instead of loading up on a 300-calorie slice of pie or cake. I have to admit that it wasn't easy to turn down the beautiful desserts my friends made. Some even felt insulted. But when they understood why I was saying no, they stopped forcing me to eat and now are delighted for me and my new shape.

Why, this past summer I actually took my children swimming and for the first time in 14 years, I wore a bathing suit instead of cut-off jeans. Monte said he'd never seen me so tan. Fact is, I'd never shown so much skin before.

Another thing, Monte had never seen me on the scale. So when I got to 110 pounds on the Ayds plan, I let him look. He was so proud, he bought me a closet full of new clothes.

Before closing, there's one more thing I'd like to say, which comes from my own experience. Fat people think they really don't look as fat as they are. Maybe because so many of them don't have a full-length mirror. Besides which, they never see themselves from the rear.

But believe me, now that I've discovered the Ayds plan, I don't plan to fill my "saddle bags" ever again. It's so much easier to go places and do things without them.

RICK BARRY:
He's Finally Making His Critics Eat Their Words

Rick Barry, 6-7, the blond Adonis of basketball, has proved that he is a champion no matter what city, team or league he plays for. Barry's dazzling scoring record has transformed the Golden State Warriors from an also-ran to one of the outstanding teams in the NBA. Gone is or to the franchise that paid his freight. . . . His reputation as a greedy gypsy in short pants had its origin seven years ago when he left the Warriors after two brilliant seasons to become the first big-name basketball star to jump leagues. During ensuing seasons, he played in four different cities, and his legal battles as he switched clubs got him as much attention as his scoring feats. "That reputation is unfair and it really bothers me," he says. "I've never played one league against another and never broken a contract. I went over to the Oakland team in the ABA only because my father-in-law, who was my former coach, was the general manager of that team and wanted me there. I would never have gone otherwise. I had no intention of setting any precedent as a jumper." . . . Barry admits that one reason for his new success is that he no longer wastes his energy in emotional battles with referees. "I've changed mentally, as well as physically—grown up more, you might say." Also he and his wife Pam have resolved the problems that caused them to separate briefly in the past. "I'm enjoying my whole life, as well as basketball, these days," Rick tells you. The Barry clan includes four sons and an adopted daughter.—By Barry Abramson

The Doctor Lets You In

Can Vitamins Cure Schizophrenia?

Mega comes from the Greek word megas, which means large or huge. Mega vitamin means therapy with vitamins in huge doses. As developed by the famed Drs. Humphry Osmond and Abram Hoffer of Canada (Dr. Osmond is now in the U.S.), megavitamin therapy is being used in the treatment of schizophrenia. . . . Specifically, what these doctors did was to give large doses (about three to six grams daily) of niacin or niacinamide to mental patients suffering from this disease. The results, they claim, have been dramatic—an opinion shared by many families trying to cope with a schizophrenic. More recently, large doses of vitamin C have been added to the megavitamin therapy. . . . The treatment is strongly controversial. While proponents report brilliant results in enabling schizophrenic patients to return to the mainstream of life, there are many doctors who claim that they do not get such results. Where is the public left in all this? Perhaps it is wise to remember that the common enemy here is schizophrenia, not a group of researchers. Since the treatment is probably relatively safe, it should be given broader use to determine just how useful it really is. In the meantime, desperate sufferers and their families should keep two things in mind. One, the treatment should only be administered by a physician who has experience with it. And, two, be especially careful of charlatans and price gougers in this field who are more interested in your money than in your welfare.

CAN YOU QUIT SMOKING? READ THE EVIDENCE

Bantron No. 1 in Sales! In Clinical Tests it worked for 4 out of 5!

In the past twenty years thousands of people all over the world have stopped smoking with the aid of Bantron®. In actual clinical tests among smokers who wanted to quit, more than 4 out of 5 did so easily and pleasantly with its help. Meanwhile less effective smoking deterrents have disappeared from the drug store. If you have been disappointed by one of these, do not let this keep you from trying Bantron. Bantron's long record of success is your assurance that it can help you. Bantron is not habit forming and does not affect the taste in any way. It works by acting as a substitute for the nicotine in your system. Get it at any drug store without a prescription.

The Doctor Lets You In

Can Vitamins Cure Schizophrenia?

Mega comes from the Greek word megas, which means large or huge. Mega vitamin means therapy with vitamins in huge doses. As developed by the famed Drs. Humphry Osmond and Abram Hoffer of Canada (Dr. Osmond is now in the U.S.), megavitamin therapy is being used in the treatment of schizophrenia. . . . Specifically, what these doctors did was to give large doses (about three to six grams daily) of niacin or niacinamide to mental patients suffering from this disease. The results, they claim, have been dramatic—an opinion shared by many families trying to cope with a schizophrenic. More recently, large doses of vitamin C have been added to the megavitamin therapy. . . . The treatment is strongly controversial. While proponents report brilliant results in enabling schizophrenic patients to return to the mainstream of life, there are many doctors who claim that they do not get such results. Where is the public left in all this? Perhaps it is wise to remember that the common enemy here is schizophrenia, not a group of researchers. Since the treatment is probably relatively safe, it should be given broader use to determine just how useful it really is. In the meantime, desperate sufferers and their families should keep two things in mind. One, the treatment should only be administered by a physician who has experience with it. And, two, be especially careful of charlatans and price gougers in this field who are more interested in your money than in your welfare.

B.B. King: My Ten Favorite Records

Born on a Mississippi plantation, B. B. was a tenth-grade dropout. He sang in church choirs as a child, and started playing the guitar at nine. In 1949, his record hit "Three O'Clock Blues" launched his career. In 1968, while touring with the Rolling Stones, he was rediscovered by rock-oriented audiences. King lectures on the blues at colleges, including Yale, and has toured Europe and Africa as a music ambassador for the State Department.

BELLS, BELLS, BELLS

Our front door has a doorbell,
So also has our back,
And then there is our phone bell—
Of bells we have no lack.

That tinkle is the back door's
Or maybe it's the front's,
Or it's the phone that's ringing,
Or it's all three at once.

A ring? We're up and running.
Front door and back and phone.

HENRY KISSINGER
Word on his words

QUOTE: "There are few reputations for eloquence in Washington. Henry Kissinger has one, more or less deserved. His speech is organized, which is to say that it comes out in phrases, sentences and paragraphs, all apparently premeditated. The argument proceeds in an orderly and logical way. Occasionally he is even humorous. Such is the astonishment brought on by a man for whom there is a connection between thought and speech that the reaction is out of proportion. We are told that Henry Kissinger is 'majestic,' that he has offered 'an intellectual tour de force,' that he was 'at his magisterial best,' and so on. In fact—and this is not to belittle Kissinger, who, after all, is not responsible for others — in fact, Kissinger stands out because of a lack of competition, because the level of most of those around him is so low. It does not take much to be thought eloquent in Washington." From "Strictly Speaking," by Edwin Newman (Bobbs-Merrill, $7.95). UNQUOTE.

Solving the great used-car dilemma: A device is being developed that will help you separate the "lemons" from the "good deals." Vishay Intertechnology of Malvern, Pa., in conjunction with major automobile manufacturers, is working on a device that would "read" a car's actual mileage and overall wear and tear, regardless of what the odometer said, or how good the paint job looked. The key to this system is the "Fatigue Life Gauge" — a thin metal sticker bonded to various components of the car. These stickers stretch and change resistance as loads are applied —and the changes are read on a meter. The implications could be enormous—for instance, auto warranties could be lengthened and insurance rates could be reduced for careful drivers. The Fatigue Life Gauge is already being used by airlines and may be available for cars in the near future.
